COUNCIL ACTS TO GET REFUND FROM COUNTY

Seeks Poor Fund Reimbursement and Adjustment of Tax Settlement

FAIR BOARD PRESENTS IMPROVEMENT PLANS

C. & C. Secretary Compliments Council on Fine Street Decorations

The city council at its December session Tuesday evening instructed City Attorney Theodore Quale to proceed with efforts to secure from the Pennington county board payment of sums reported to be rightfully due the city; duly enacted the new ordinance regulating electricians after hearing the third reading; and heard a discussion of projected fair grounds improvements by O. C. Paulson and other members of the fair board.

Mr. Quale called the attention of the council to the fact that for the years 1936, 1937 and 1938 the county had failed to reimburse the city for a portion of its poor fund expenditures as required by state law. Following a discussion of the matter he was instructed to start suit if no other means of arriving at a settlement proved successful.

After being informed that county authorities had withheld the sum of $2,377.06 from the current tax settlement due the city on account of losses sustained in a closed bank in 1925, the council instructed Mr. Quale to take steps to secure reimbursement for the deduction on the ground that it had been illegally made.

Speaking for the fair board, Mr. Paulson outlined a program of proposed improvements which, if the necessary backing is secured, he said would be carried out as a WPA project, with a material cost estimated at $10,000 to $12,000. Outstanding feature of the plan would be the construction of a new concrete grandstand with a seating capacity of 4000 and with space underneath for exhibits. Success of the project, he added, is contingent on the cooperation of local organizations, together with the floating of a small bond issue and the sale of additional shares in the fair association. He asked no action by the council at this time, and none was taken.

The council approved the reelection of Fire Chief Leonard Hanson by the local fire department. Also approved were several building permits, the largest one being issued to Olaf Solheim, covering the remodeling of the former Rasmus Oen house on Main av. into a duplex. On recommendation of Street Commissioner John Jaranson it was voted to open bids January 9 on a V-type snowplow to supplement the present equipment.

Secretary L. W. Rulien of the Civic and Commerce association appeared at the meeting to thank the council in behalf of the association for its fine cooperation in decorating the downtown streets for the holiday season.

Knute Olson Passes Friday at Age of 82; Funeral Held Monday

Knute Olson passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Knute Haugen Friday at the age of 82 years. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Larson chapel, Rev. E. A. Cooke officiating, and interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Olson was born January 28, 1857, in Chatfield, Minn. He came to Polk county in the early days of settlement there, and lived on a homestead there for a number of years. Later he moved to Crookston and to Reiner township in 1912. Since 1929 he had made his home with his daughter and son-in-law.

He was married at Fountain in 1878 to Gunhild Knutson, who preceded him in death, together with three daughters, two brothers and two sisters.

Surviving relatives include two sons John and Carl Olson, both of Minneapolis, a daughter, Mrs. Knute Haugen of this city, and eleven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

SPORTS

Tid-Bits

By Huck Olson

Those five puff-chested young fellows who are walking around town, smiling and bowing to each other, are the members of the Mint's Pinsetters bowling team. They're Merle Carlson, Duane Noel, Bob Strunk, Marty Gausen, and Hemmy Sahl. And the reason that they are feeling their oats is because on Sunday they defeated the Redwood Inn team of St. Hilaire in a bowling match by 35 pins, 2336 to 2301; and it so happens that the Redwoods are the leaders of the City Bowling League. Now, according to the Pinsetters arithmetic and logic, they believe and imagine that they are the best team in the league, in other words, that they are city champions. So they are smiling and bowing to each other.

There won't be any hockey game Sunday so why not take in the basketball game in the Auditorium? It's at 3 p. m. You'll see the all-Chinese Hong Wah Kues play the J & B Independents; and with the J & B's will be the two all-state players, Roy Fujiyama Lee and Bones Nagasaki Stadum (both Japanese), and other Japanese with the Independents will be Clark Tokyo Mickelson, Mel Yokohama Haughom, Red Kobe Eide, and Clarence Hirohito Haug. It will be the Sino-Japanese war all over again.

Johnny Jaranson had an odd second game in the DuChamps vs. Mint's match last Sunday. He rolled a 142 score, and had five splits and seven strikes; but here is the oddity: every one of his splits came on no. 1 alley, and all seven of his strikes were struck on No. 2 alley. His score line read split and strike, split and strike, etc. And speaking of Johnny, he throws the most peculiar ball in town. It's a center-lane ball, with a spin, and a slide, and a churn-like motion, if you get what I mean. And on his hits and pins seem to splash all over the alley, like soft mush. Brother Abby Jaranson has become so disgusted at the sight of the thing coasting down the alley that he has dubbed it Johnny's Bonehead Ball.

During the entire week preceding the Prowler vs. Bemidji game, Huck Robbins of the Lumberjacks, knowing that he was to run up against a zone defense, had his two guards Thorbrugger and Hubbard shooting long shots. And in Friday night's game, during the first half, five of these long shots hit the basket, so Robbins received a ten point dividend on his tactics.

Don't forget to see the Prowlers in their first home game tomorrow night, in the Auditorium.

Church Has Dungeon

The Great Salkeld church in Cumberland, England, has a dungeon that was built to hold those captured in the Border wars, relates a writer in Collier's Weekly. The houses of parliament in London have pink ribbons hanging from the hooks in the coatrooms for the checking of swords; and many old houses on the island of Guernsey have seats built on the sides of their chimneys for weary witches.

A BIG PROJECT—NEAR AT HAND

When, a few years ago, the state of Minnesota came to the relief of several financially distressed northern counties, paying up ditch debts on large areas north of the Red Lakes and setting those areas aside as game refuges, it was our understanding that those areas were to be permitted to revert to their natural wild state. While we realized relief for the distressed counties was necessary, the idea of converting into a wilderness a large territory so close to home did not particularly appeal to us. Certainly the thought aroused no enthusiasm. Beaver and muskrat do not become paid up subscribers to the great family journal. Our need was for more settlers and less wilderness. So we reasoned.

Last week we had an opportunity to accompany an inspection party over what now are known as the Beltrami and Pine Island Projects. As a result we now have a different impression of what has been and is being done. We no longer fear the wilderness because it really isn't going to be a wilderness after all. If it is to be a wilderness then it will be a thoroughly civilized one. Instead of that large area reverting to its original state, it is being developed into one of the greatest conservation areas in the country, and, if present plans materialize, will eventually be a valuable asset not only to the territory adjoining it but to the entire state. Instead of being a liability it will become a self-supporting investment that will pay good dividends in various forms.

A large portion of the one and one-half million acres included in the two projects is timber land. With the exception of a few small tracts, little marketable timber has been left standing. What little the lumbermen left has been destroyed by fires. But there is another crop of young trees well under way. Little planting will have to be done to restore the valuable forests. The important need is fire prevention and good progress has already been made along this line.

Fire breaks are being provided. Roads into formerly inaccessible places are being constructed, making it possible for fire fighters to reach fires and localize them. Lookout stations that make it possible to maintain a constant watch over the entire area have been built and more than 100 miles of telephone lines provide the quick communication that is necessary for prompt action. Ample fire fighting equipment is stationed at convenient outposts and during seasons of the greatest hazard, generally a short season each year, men will be stationed at these outposts.

A forest grows slowly and it will take many years for the forests of this area to reach maturity. With the type of protection that is now being provided, however, they will reach maturity and will have great value. The supply of marketable timber will gradually increase and eventually, it is estimated, hundreds of men will be employed in the selective cutting and milling of timber within the area.

A by-product of the area will be the bird and animal life that will be developed and maintained. The deer population is now greater than it was before the territory was opened for settlement. Twenty-seven elk, "planted" several years ago, have increased to a herd of seventy. The moose population is increasing and special efforts are being made to revive the nearly extinct native caribou, once so plentiful, by adding Canadian stock to the dwindling herd. Eight of the Canadian caribou are being released in the bog north of Red Lake this week. Other small animals, native to the territory, will be protected. The control of them will bring revenue. The annual beaver crop alone should bring a thousand dollars we were told.

Facilities for visitors are being provided and as roads are improved tourists will visit the area. As a protected game region it will offer the tourist a greater variety of birds and animals than any limited area in this country. In this respect it has possibilities of developing into one of the great national parks.

At the present time the area is being developed through the co-operation of the state and federal governments under the direction of the soil conservation service of the federal department of Agriculture. Several hundred men are now employed in various phases of the work. Practically all of the area is already publicly owned and most of the few remaining privately owned tracts will revert to the state through tax delinquency in a few years.

Because they are so close to us, our community should take a greater interest in the development of these projects. By that development we lose nothing that we had not already lost, and there is much that we can gain.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 12, 1939: Cattle receipts decreased slightly according to the Federal State Market News Service, but demand remained narrow and slaughter steers along with she stock sold slowly in a week to somewhat lower market some spots being 25c down. Bulls kept about steady. Medium to good fed steers turned at $7.50-8.75, a few good to choice yearlings making [illegible]. Common to medium heifers made $5.50-7.50 with odd lots mostly good at $8.00-9.00. Good beef cows earned $6.00-6.50, most common and medium cows $4.75-5.75, canners and cutters $3.50-4.50. Sausage bulls topped at $6.00-6.75, a few good reaching $7.00. Vealers developed a touch of strength when the extreme top scored $10.00 although $9.50 was paid only sparingly and most good to choice vealers sold at $9.00 but. Stockers and feeders were slow and weak to 25c lower. Medium to good stockers sold at $6.75-8.25, common kinds at $5.00-6.00. Good to choice mixed stock calves made $8.00-9.50.

Liberal supplies continued to depress hog prices and by Tuesday the top had declined to $5.00, the lowest since August 11, 1934. Compared with the close of last week, barrows and gilts are unevenly 10-25c lower with the top showing a 30c decline. On Tuesday, packers paid $5.00 for good and choice 180-200 lb. weights, while shippers went as high as 220 lb for some choice offerings. Sows lost 15c for the two days, selling Tuesday at $4.00-4.35. Pigs declined 25-50c.

Slaughter lambs values are 25-35c lower for the week to date as light shipping outlet offset any price buoyancy that might be gained from the 30 percent decrease in local supplies. Other classes held steady. Tuesday's top on fat lambs of $8.65 was paid sparingly by shippers while other good to choice offerings went at $8.25-8.50. A few medium to good killer yearlings brought $6.00-7.50 and comparable grade ewes made $3.00-4.00.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times has received the following letter from Charles E. Walls of the Hazel community who is spending the winter months in West Monroe, Louisiana:

This is to let you know I am well and having a good time in the sunny south. I was five days on the road coming down here, 1540 miles. We are having ideal weather here, about 60 to 80 above every day. It is very dry and the fall grain is in need of moisture.

The leading industry here is the paper mill which employs about 1000 men. Bag factories are next, two of them employing 500, and the cottonseed industry is next. The population of this city is about 26,000, equally divided between black and white.

I hope to see you again about April 1.

You're Entitled to GOOD PERFORMANCE

That's what you paid for and that's what you should get. Anything else is unfair to you. And, that is why thousands of people re-order CAVALIER coal year after year. They know it will give good performance. The way it breaks up into fine ash of its own accord, without poking; the way it holds fire; the fact it needs so little attention, endears it to everyone. Excellent for use in stokers, also.

MARSHALL COUNTY COURT TERM ENDS LATE LAST FRIDAY

Numerous Civil Cases Listed for Trial Settled out of Court

Settlement of numerous civil actions listed for jury trial resulted in a quick closing of the petit jury sessions of 14th Judicial Court for Marshall county late Friday at Warren when the jury was dismissed by Judge M. A. Brattland, says the Warren Sheaf.

In the case of Dan Bergeron vs. Clifford and Emil Anderson, the court directed a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $375.00.

The jury awarded a verdict of $50 to the appellant, Mrs. Louise Pihlstrom in her suit against Marshall county arising out of condemning certain land for road construction purposes. The appellant sought $1,000 in the suit.

A directed verdict in the sum of $[illegible] was awarded the plaintiff, International Harvester Co. in their suit against Mrs. T. M. Denson arising out of a farm implement sale, while in the second suit, the Harvester company was awarded possession of a tractor with defendant to pay costs of action.

The criminal action against Max Landowski, Grand Forks, who is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was continued over the term. Landowski is free under a $1,000 bond.

Alex Campbell Receives First Shipment of 1940 Motor Vehicle Plates

Another reminder that a new year looms ahead arrived in the city this week in the form of 6650 sets of 1940 motor vehicle plates, consigned to Alex Campbell, deputy registrar in Thief River Falls. They will go on sale January 2. The new pleasure car plates have white numerals on a black background, and are two and one-half inches shorter than this year, partly as a result of the omission of the letter B preceding the numerals. During the year now drawing to a close Mr. Campbell's office handled almost 7000 registrations, the highest number for any year to date, and in addition conducted nearly [illegible] chauffeurs' examinations.

Large Butterfly Found in City December 9th

Another manifestation of the extremely mild weather prevailing in this locality recently appeared Saturday when Clifford Amundson, seven-year-old son of Adolph Amundson, living on Horace av. N., brought into the Times office a large dark mottled butterfly which he had captured on the Northrop school grounds.

LINCOLN QUINTET SPLITS EVEN ON WEEK-END GAMES

Locals Lose to Bemidji 35 to 30, but Win from Cass Lake 44 to 33

The Prowlers divided their week end basketball double-header, losing to the Bemidji Lumberjacks at Bemidji, 35 to 30, Friday night; and then moving over to Cass Lake where they won a high-scoring game Saturday night by a 44 to 33 score.

At Bemidji the Prowlers tangled with the rangy and all-veteran team that has been installed as the regional favorites, and while the Lumberjacks won, it was only by a scant five points; and actually the Prowlers, with slight defensive adjustments and omission of traveling penalties, could have won the game, for they played as fine, if not better, basketball than Bemidji.

The game was won and lost in the first half, when Bemidji's two guards, George Thorbrugger and Winton Hubbard pumped long shots over the Prowler's zone defense, with Tony Hubbard being the particular hot-shot, and hitting the basket for enough points to give Bemidji a 23 to 14 lead at half-time. Switching to a man to man defense in the second half, the Prowlers smothered the Bemidji offense, holding them to 12 points while gathering in 16 points for themselves. Bob Kielty, with five field goals and a free throw, led the Prowlers in scoring; while Hubbard, with fourteen points, was the high man for Bemidji.

Saturday night at Cass Lake was apparently Ed Flasch night, for the nimble-footed little forward was so hot with his one-handed pivot shot that he dumped in 17 points, to lead the locals in a 44 to 33 win over the Redmen. Feeling the effects of their bruising game with Bemidji the night before, the Prowlers were sluggish, and Cass Lake had a four point lead at the half, 16 to 12; but coming back in the next two periods, and with Eddie Flasch and Bob Kielty driving for basket after basket, the Prowlers scored twenty points in the third period and twelve points in the fourth period, to run up a 44 point total.

Coach John Lindenmeyer expressed himself as being satisfied with the mechanical performance of the boys, their passing and defensive work; but he said that their morale could be much improved, that they could have more spirit and drive and aggressiveness.

TRAFFIC DEATHS IN NOVEMBER BRING 11 MO. TOLL TO 493

Year's Total, However, Is Lowest on Record with One Month to Go

Sixty traffic deaths during November, seven more than during the same month of 1938, brought to 493 the number of men, women and children who have been killed on Minnesota streets and highways during 11 months of 1939, W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the state highway department, disclosed today.

Of the 60 killed in November, pedestrians outnumbered both motor vehicle drivers and motor vehicle passengers. Twenty three pedestrian fatalities were recorded as against 15 drivers and 22 passengers.

Travel this November was five per cent heavier this year than during the same month last year, according to the volume of gasoline consumed—43,752,000 gallons as compared to 41,649,596 gallons during November of 1938.

Although seven more traffic fatalities were recorded in November and five more in October than occurred during those same months of the previous year, Minnesota's 1939 state-wide traffic safety campaign has succeeded in holding the 11-month toll to 52 fewer fatalities than occurred during the same 11 months of 1938. The fatality reduction for the year is chiefly due to the exceptional accident-prevention record made during the months of the normally heavy traffic season—when both traffic volume and traffic safety activities were at their height.

Despite the unanticipated number of fatalities during the past two months, Minnesota's traffic death rate for the 11 months is still the lowest recorded since the establishment of the motor vehicle accident-recording bureau of the State Highway department at the beginning of 1934. Traffic fatalities for the corresponding 11 months of past years have been 606 in 1934, 541 in 1935, 603 in 1936, 568 in 1937 and 493 in the present year.

184,000 Obtain New Drivers Licenses to Be Within State Law

More than 184,000 Minnesota motorists have obtained new drivers licenses since May 1 in order to comply with the law requiring every driver to obtain a new license whenever a change is made in name or place of permanent residence, M. J. Hoffman, state commissioner of highways, announced today. The law, as amended by the 1939 legislature, now requires not only that every Minnesota resident must obtain and keep in his or her possession a state driver's license before being eligible to drive any motor vehicle, but also that any holder of a driver's license who changes his residence or for any cause changes his or her name must obtain a substitute license within 15 days after the change.

Petersen and Buckler to Talk at F. L. Rally at Mahnomen Sunday

Speeches by Congressman R. T. Buckler, Dewey W. Johnson, former U. S. representative from Minneapolis; and Hjalmar Petersen, ex-governor and members of the state railroad and warehouse commission, will feature a ninth district rally and conference of Farmer-Laborites at Mahnomen Sunday afternoon December 17th, according to an announcement sent out by Harold C. Hagen of Crookston, district Farmer-Labor Association secretary, and secretary to representative Buckler. Two of the speakers Johnson and Petersen are considered as possible candidates for the Farmer-Labor nomination for governorship next year with Petersen already having indicated his intention to seek the nomination and make the fight to defeat Gov. Harold Stassen next year. Paul A. Rasmussen, another avowed candidate for governor was invited but replied that he had a previous engagement and could not attend.

Reporter Finds Weather is Big Topic of Conversation

By Tom Sartell

Wherever you go these days the weather is even more a topic of conversation than it usually is. In fact no conversation would or could be complete without some reference to the long-lasting mild temperatures of the past five weeks. Most people expect winter or some hint of real cold before this time and are so happy about the prolonged Autumn that they have found talking about it not so boring as it is usually considered to be.

Warm weather for this time of year is a novelty and a welcome one, too, but is not as unusual as most people think. Though it has been a long time since a northern Minnesota winter has had a long stretch of mild weather, many of the farmers I spoke with out near Highlanding and Erie last week recalled that about 15 years ago there were periods during the winter that resembled our present mild spell very much.

Winter of 1923-24 Mild

These slack periods in winter weather were recalled when Oscar Halvorson thought back over the years he has spent on his farm out on route 1, Goodridge. He told me that the winter of 1923-24 was open like this but that the mild weather didn't last as long. He, as well as others, like this winter so far. And they have all had plenty of time to get their fall work done.

Farmers having sheep, I found, are especially grateful because their flocks have had a much better chance to find food than if there was snow on the ground.

Agreeing with the comments that such weather is unusual was the statement of Oscar Thoreson that there has never to his knowledge been a winter like this. There have been short let-ups in the cold weather, he said, but for the most part they haven't lasted long. And Mr. Thoreson should know because he came to Pennington county in 1903 from Polk county and homesteaded the farm on which he lives today. Like nearly everyone else he hopes cold weather stays away for some time yet even though he is well prepared for winter as the huge pile of sawed wood near his back door would indicate.

Every Winter Different

But such weather isn't quite so novel to Anton Horachek of route 1, Goodridge, as it is to most persons. His comments were philosophical as well as of gratefulness. He agreed with others I had talked to that there has never been winter quite like this one.

"But," he reasoned "every winter is different from every other one. Certain temperatures and depths of snowfall do not come on schedule year after year nor even month after month during the winter. What is so unusual about the temperature of the past five weeks is that there has been so little variation."

Einar Jensen, also on route 1, Goodridge, recalled when I stopped in to see him that there were several winters back in the middle twenties which had long stretches of mild weather. And in addition to that he told me that one of his neighbors plowed on December 5, 1918, during a mild spell.

I couldn't help noticing on the Jensen place how neat everything was and how Mr. Jensen took pride in his farm. Probably the outstanding thing about it is that it is completely wired for electricity. The Jensens have their own light plant and wires leading from the house go to the barn, hog house and hen house. There are also floodlights for the barnyard and Mr. Jensen said he never realized until he had installed his plant and wiring just how useful electricity is. Now that he has it he feels that he could never get along without it again.

Predicts Less Grasshoppers

I always like to talk with someone about the problems farmers run up against during the growing season and when I stopped in at the farm of Ole Dahl I found that I had come to the right person. Mr. Dahle has a special interest in grasshoppers. He has been fighting them for years and they have at times caused severe damage to his crops. Mr. Dahle's observations of this fall are significant there will be less damage from grasshoppers next year than formerly.

During the recent mild weather he came across small grasshoppers which he thinks had been hatched from eggs intended to supply next year's 'hopper population. Too, he dug where he thought he would find 'hopper eggs and found that some of the eggs had hatched but that the young hoppers had not had a chance to develop before they were frozen to death.

Entomologists tell us that grasshoppers which hatch in the fall are probably not the ones that would do much harm to crops and that it is most likely that the really harmful ones cannot hatch until warm summer weather. They say that 'hoppers hatched during the fall, are probably of a variety which spend the winter as young insects and do not become real 'hoppers until the next summer. And this kind is unusually harmless anyway, they say.

But Mr. Dahle found young 'hoppers this fall and hopes with other farmers that they are the harmful ones because that would mean that there would be less chance of 'hopper damage next summer.

GRAND CHAMPION STEERS NETS $1647 AT CHICAGO SHOW

Was Shown at International Event by 4-H Youth from Texas

Lucky Boy, grand champion steer of the International Livestock exposition at Chicago Thursday sold at auction for $1.25 a pound.

The price for the Hereford steer, raised in Texas, was only a dime above the depression low of $1.25 paid in 1932. The steer weighed 1,320 pounds and was owned by Mayfield Kothmann, 18, a 4-H club boy from Texas.

It was purchased by Pfister Brothers, a commission firm at the Union Stockyards, Chicago, for "the good of the industry."

Lucky Boy already had brought his owner $775 in prize money and the sale price of $1,647 brought his total "take" to $2,422.

The reserve champion steer of the show, also a Texas Hereford, sold at 50 cents a pound. Last year's reserve champion sold for 75 cents a pound.

The grand champion carload of Aberdeen-Angus steers sold at 23 cents a pound, exactly the same price as last year.

DRILLER STRIKES GAS POCKET AT MOORHEAD

Moorhead. — Sand, stones and dirt flew 80 feet into the air on the Thomas Finey farm, as well-driller Anger Jacobson, who had drilled down 300 feet, struck a gas pocket. The brooder house and other buildings were covered with clay and sand to the depth of an inch. The eruption lasted about two minutes. Long after this occurred a gurgling sound could still be heard coming from the well.

School Notes

The local Sweet Clover chapter of the Future Farmers of America is sponsoring a banquet in honor of the members' fathers on Tuesday, Dec. 12. This banquet will be an example of a good-will get together between the fathers and their sons. The features of the program will be as follows: a short talk by Mr. Larvick; speeches by Mr. Berger, superintendent, and E. E. Hill, president of the Farm Bureau of Red Lake County; Gust Wickstrom will give the objectives of the F. F. A. organization and Lawrence Page will give a report on some of the F. F. A. activities. Clifford Thyren, president of the organization will preside as toastmaster. Clarence Hall will be the pianist for the group singing. Special guests of the evening will be Mr. Berger and Mr. Adrian who are honorary members of the F. F. A. The members of the school board are also invited.

On Wednesday, December 13 the pupils of the Plummer school will undergo a smallpox vaccination under the direction of the county advisory committee on health. This vaccination campaign is being sponsored by the Plummer P. T. A. for all of the schools located within the Plummer high school area.

A NYA project has been submitted and approved for the finishing of the floor in the school building during the Christmas vacation. Mr. Moldhem, the NYA advisor for this area has given assurance that a sufficiently large crew will be provided so that the work can be completed during the Christmas holidays.

Plummer Vs. Alvarado

In a basketball game that marked the resuming of hard court rivalry between Alvarado and Plummer, the visiting western team drubbed a smaller Plummer team by a score of 33-13. The Red and White boys just could not locate the seemingly elusive nets. They were given twenty free throws but counted only three goal ones. Thier inaccuracy at in-shots was also marked. Towering Larson of Alvarado bagged nine field goals for high point honors of the game. Runners-up honors went to Captain Maurice Page of Plummer and S. Johnson of the visitors with seven points respectively. Solberg and Stavig of Alvarado were ejected on personals late in the game. The score at the first quarter was 10-3. At the half 21-4. The lopsided score, however, does not represent the true picture of the game, inas much as many hard luck shots were experienced by the losers. Plummer takes on Red Lake Falls at Red Lake Falls Dec. 15.

In a preliminary game between Plummer squad members not participating in the regular game, the Bombers broke the Bronks by a score of 12-8. R. Thyren was high point man for the winners with six points and J. Norby with 4 points for the losing Bronks.

Use of Word 'Hop' for Dance

Hop as a nickname for a dance is not a Twentieth century word. As early as 1851 the word was used in Ohio. Speaking of the dances at a favorite rendezvous in Cincinnati in that year, the Cincinnati Gazette wrote: "The Burnett House hops are distinguished in these parts as the most select balls of the season."

REGULATIONS FOR FISHING IN WINTER TO BE ENFORCED

Certain Fish May be Speared Thru the Ice Until March 1

The state laws regulating winter fishing will be rigidly enforced by the game and fish division of the state department of conservation, it was announced by E. R. Starkweather, director of the Division, early this week.

In addition to angling, certain fish may be speared through the ice during the winter season—Dec. 1 to March 1. These include pickerel, carp, dogfish, buffalo-fish, whitefish not less than 16 inches long, tullibees, sheepshead, bullheads, catfish, eelpout, garfish, suckers and redhorse.

Fish which may not be speared at any time during the year include crappies, sunfish, rockbass, walleyed pike, trout and saugers or sand pike. The season on trout closed on Dec. 1, except on Lake Superior trout, which may be taken the year around.

Spearing, through the ice can be done under the regular fishing license except when done in a fish house, or shelter, when a fish house license costing $1 is required. The number of license must be prominently displayed on the fish house, and not more than one such license is allowed to any applicant. Any other person using the house is also required to take out one of these permits, and his number, too, must appear on the shelter. While fishing in such a house, the fisherman is required to have his fishing license on his person, the law says.

The open angling season on sunfish and rockbass closes on December 31, and on black and white crappies on Feb. 15. The daily limits on crappies are 15 taken and 25 in possession. The limits on sunfish and rockbass are 15 and 30, respectively, of either kind or in the aggregate.

The two months open season on whitefish and tullibees netting closes on Dec. 25. This, however, is limited, as a number of lakes where it is believed to be likely to cause any injury to the game fish supply have been excepted, under special orders by Conservation Commissioner Lewis H. Merrill.

NO JUSTICE—THIS BUTCHER WINS TURKEY

Preston.—If there was any man in the world who was not wondering where he would get his Thanksgiving turkey, that man was Don Collett whose daily work virtually keeps him surrounded by plump gobblers and turkey hens. Nevertheless, he had to go to a local cafe and win the gobbler that was being given away there. The townsmen are saying "There just ain't no justice."

SPECIALLY MELLOWED BUTTER-NUT COFFEE

THOUSANDS OF SAMPLES TASTED TO FIND EXCEPTIONAL FLAVOR FOR YOU

People are amazed at the care with which we buy coffee for Butter-Nut. Even among the choicest grades there are differences of flavor, so we have thousands of samples submitted to us. Each one is roasted, ground and TASTED. Only those of unusually superior quality are accepted. That is one very good reason why the Butter-Nut Coffee you buy tastes so much better. But that is only the beginning —

ARTFULLY BLENDED —THEN SPECIALLY MELLOWED—AGED IN THE BLEND

Next, Butter-Nut mixes three fine, green, unroasted coffees together to blend the flavors, so when roasted they will have one uniform quality. A 5-story Special Mellowing Building is devoted to this process. When roasted Butter-Nut has all the fine, rich, smooth flavor that our skill can give it. Finer flavor is news that spreads fast. Since using the Special Mellowing Process Butter-Nut sales have broken record after record. Women hear about it, try it, like it so well they become regular customers. After all, an ad like this can only invite you to try Butter-Nut. Then it is up to the excellence of its flavor to actually win you. Try a pound and see how well you like it.

ROASTER FRESH TO YOU IN VACUUM GLASS JARS AND TINS

When you order, you have your choice of vacuum glass jars or cans—Drip or Regular Grind. For coffee pot or percolator Regular Grind is best. But for drip coffee, by all means use Drip Grind. It is ground finer to yield full flavor as the water passes through the coffee. You use less and get better coffee.

Best Coffee Butter-Nut Ever Made—and That is Pretty Close to Perfect

Of all of the things you put on your table, the one that does the most to make every meal a success is good coffee. It has satisfying quality that makes all the other things taste so much better. And hardly a thing you serve costs less.

Your meals deserve the best, but to get it you must buy the coffee that has exceptionally good flavor to start with. That is why so many women have changed to Butter-Nut. It is rich, instead of strong; mellow, rather than tart. Lots of coffees cost as much, but for flavor—well, you just try Butter-Nut and see!

GRYGLA

Queer?

Christmas decorations are up. So far it doesn't seem right somehow. The large tree at the corner covered with colored lights and topped with a huge silver star forms the center of the Christmas attractions here. Streamers of lights across the streets at other points and do look nice at night but, where's our snow? While there are days left, there is hope. We may have a white Christmas, even yet.

Ladies Aid

Mrs. Gust Austad who was elected vice-president of the Grygla Ladies Aid has not been elected President to take the place of Mrs. Hans Rud who has moved away. Mrs. Clarence Peterson was elected to serve as the new vice-president.

Tweeten and Mrs. Melvin Sorenson were to see to new shades, they are up. The stove committee reported and that matter will be dropped for this year.

Due to other entertainments the Amateur program was not as well attended as expected. However the contestants that entered did well and Miss Jean Bucholz was given first place. She sang, "South of The Border", and was accompanied by her sister Lorraine Bucholz on the piano. She was not awarded all the prize money because that would bar her from competing in future amateur programs. Congratulations, Jean.

NO JUSTICE—THIS BUTCHER WINS TURKEY

Preston.—If there was any man in the world who was not wondering where he would get his Thanksgiving turkey, that man was Ron Collett whose daily work virtually keeps him surrounded by plump gobblers and turkey hens. Nevertheless, he had to go to a local cafe and win the gobbler that was being given away there. The townsmen are saying "There just ain't no justice."

Men who don't pay as they go have a hard time coming back.

For the Most Important Man in the World
THOUSANDS OF SAMPLES TASTED TO FIND EXCEPTIONAL FLAVOR FOR YOU
People are amazed at the care with which we buy coffee for Butter-Nut. Even among the choicest grades there are differences of flavor, so we have thousands of samples submitted to us. Each one is roasted, ground and TASTED. Only those of unusually superior quality are accepted. That is one very good reason why the Butter-Nut Coffee you buy tastes so much better. But that is only the beginning—
ARTFULLY BLENDED—THEN SPECIALLY MELLOWED—AGED IN THE BLEND
Next, Butter-Nut mixes these fine, green, unroasted coffees together to blend the flavors, so when roasted they will have one uniform quality. A 5-story Special Mellowing Building is devoted to this process. When roasted Butter-Nut has all the fine, rich, smooth flavor that our skill can give it. Finer flavor is news that spreads fast. Since using the Special Mellowing Process Butter-Nut sales have broken record after record. Women hear about it, try it, like it so well they become regular customers. After all, an ad like this can only invite you to try Butter-Nut. Then it is up to the excellence of its flavor to actually win you. Try a pound and see how well you like it.
ROASTER FRESH TO YOU IN VACUUM GLASS JARS AND TINS
When you order, you have your choice of vacuum glass jars or cans—Drip or Regular Grind. For coffee pot or percolator Regular Grind is best. But for drip coffee, by all means use Drip Grind. It is ground finer to yield full flavor as the water passes through the coffee. You use less and get better coffee.
Best Coffee Butter-Nut Ever Made—and That is Pretty Close to Perfect
Of all of the things you put on your table, the one that does the most to make every meal a success is good coffee. It has satisfying quality that makes all the other things taste so much better. And hardly a thing you serve costs less.
Your meals deserve the best, but to get it you must buy the coffee that has exceptionally good flavor to start with. That is why so many women have changed to Butter-Nut. It is rich, instead of strong; mellow, rather than tart. Lots of coffees cost as much, but for flavor—well, you just try Butter-Nut and see!

SMILEY

Helperettes Club

Needlework on a beautiful quilt was the employment given as a pastime to the members of the Helperettes Club at their regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. John Burtness at her home. The top of the quilt was made in the log cabin pattern from many vari-colored pieces and was lined with two blankets and sateen material. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Burtness who also topped the feast with ice cream and a birthday cake since the day was also her birthday. Three new members joined for next year's activities. They are Mrs. Herman Rude, Mrs. Carl Lindholm, and Mrs. Arnold Korupp. The next meeting will be at the Freeman Allen home Wednesday January 10. Mrs. Allen will have the women sew rag strips together with which she will make a rug. It was decided to have a gala Christmas party on the evening of Dec. 27, at the Gust Hallberg home for members and their families only. Each member and her husband is to bring a fifteen cent gift for exchangeing at the party. Mrs. Hallberg, Mrs. Ted Markus, and Clara Olson were named on the committee to purchase and arrange the bags of candy and nuts for the children.

Thanksgiving Day guests at the Ted Markus home were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Aakre and daughter Eleanor Ann of Duluth, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Aakre, and Mr. and Mrs. Tim Bjella and family all of Bemidji.

Charles Olson who has recently been employed at the Krist Larson home left Tuesday for International Falls to remain indefinitely.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Hallberg made an enjoyable pleasure trip from Wednesday to Sunday evening of last week. They made their first stop at Atwater, where they visited Mr. Hallberg's sister, Mrs. Archie Oslund and her family. From there they motored to Clarissa to visit friends, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baker before returning home.

The numerous friends of Mrs. Arnold Korupp (Geneva Allen) will be very happy to learn that she is able to walk again without having to use crutches. She was badly injured with a dislocated hip in a car accident in which she and Clara Carlson were riding in Thief River Falls over a month ago. She had been in the hospital in town for a short while and has since then been confined to bed at her home. Miss Violet Sefchow of St. Cloud has been employed at the Korupp home for several weeks. Miss Sefchow is Mrs. Marion Cater's sister. Mrs. Cater lives in this community.

The Angell Twins A-trekking

Word has recently been received by their parents, Mr. and Mrs Elias Angell from Ruth and Ruby Angell, better known as the "Gals in Gingham". The girls have certainly made tracks since the community last heard of them. For several months they were in Chicago with their sister, Miss Singe before leaving for California where they now are. They stated that their exciting trip across the county started with a whirling snow storm in Wisconsin. Along the route, they didn't miss much what with watching cowboys rounding up herds of cattle for fall shipments, Indians selling their wares. Sightseeing at Boulder Dam and the Grand Canyon provided endless thrills to the girls as well as the first glimpse of those wonderful mountains and that mighty ocean, the Pacific. They are now in Pasadena where the roses are just coming into bloom with other kinds of beauteous flowers. The girls wish to extend, through this column, the Merriest Christmas to everybody back home.

Miss Elvira Wallin left for her home in Minneapolis Sunday evening. Miss Waller had spent the past two weeks visiting her sisters, Mrs. Mark Olson and Miss Florence Waller as well as an aunt, Mrs. Carl Johnson in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Markus were guests at the bridal shower on Mr. and Mrs. Orville Gillespie at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sorter in Holt. Mrs. Gillespie and Mrs. Markus are cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lendobeja accompanied by Mrs. Lendobeja's brother, Charles Svenagaard of Mavie motored to San Haven, N. Dak., early Monday morning where they visited their sister Mrs. H. E. Burrell (Olga Svensgaard) They returned to their homes the same evening.

Sunday visitors at the Oscar Anderson home were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gilbertson of Silverton Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Johnson of North and Francis Sagen of Churches Ferry, N. D.

John Ranum and son Ray assisted by Mr. Ranum's nephew, Stanley Ranum of Rosewood are building a new barn and house for Louis Stokke on his farm near Viking. The three Ranum's are living in Herman Rude's trailer house right on the Stokke farmyard. The weather has been very favorable for them in their building and they expect to finish long before the intended time.

Little Lowell Thomas Peterson, son to the Richard Petersons (Alta Weckwerth) was baptized Sunday evening at the Elmer Erickson home. Rev. Herman Larson conducted the baptism of the child in the Swedish Lutheran faith. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weckwerth of Thief River Falls and Anna Peterson of Middle River.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lappegaard and children of Thief River Falls were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Lappegaard's sister, Mrs. Herman Rude and her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Brevik, Mr. and Mrs. George Ingebrightson all from Karlstad motored down to spend Sunday with their old friends and neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Elias Angell.

The J. Mortenson family of Thief River Falls have moved on to the C. M. Hoverstad farm formerly occupied by the Charles Hayes family.

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Olson and daughter Clara, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Markus and Mr. and Mrs. Gust Hallberg and Mr. and Mrs. John Ranum were among the throng that attended the bridal reception on Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Keuhn, (Ruth Myhrer) Sunday at the home of the brides parents, the John Myhrers. Mrs. Thorvald Myhrer and Mrs. A. Kjos were hostesses.

The H. Carlson's were Thanksgiving Day guests at the home of Mrs. Carlson's brother, Merle Moore and his family near Goodridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Allen enjoyed their Thanksgiving turkey with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Korupp and family at the Korupp home in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilfred Sannes were dinner guests Thanksgiving day at the parental home of Mrs. Sannes' the John Ranum's.

Mrs. Ted Markus attended the Home Management Christmas party at the V. C. Nuper home Tuesday. The members exchanged gifts and Christmas ideas before a lovely lunch was served.

Word has been received that Miss Signe Angell who is employed in Chicago spent last week end in Detroit, Mich., with relatives of the Elias Angell family who are Mr. and Mrs. A. Kohlen, Mr. and Mrs. John Borgen and the Hans Angells. Most of these folks are well known around here, having resided in Thief River Falls some years ago.

Don't forget to cancel all engagements you may have for Friday evening, Dec. 29, in order that you may together with your families, attend the big Christmas doings at the Smiley hall.

RURAL LINES TO OBTAIN POWER FROM G. FORKS

Decision to Erect New Plant Is Reached at Meeting Last Monday

WASHINGTON OFFICIAL PRESENT AT SESSION

Will Serve Red Lake Lines and 660 Miles in North Dakota Area

Rural electric lines proposed to be built in Pennington and Red Lake counties by the Red Lake Cooperative Electric association will receive power from an electric plant to built in Grand Forks in 1940 to serve 1000 miles of rural lines in the northern Red River Valley, it was announced in Grand Forks Monday by George J. Long of the department of engineering of the Rural Electrification administration in Washington, D. C.

Besides serving the local lines, the new plant will provide current for 660 miles of lines of the Nodak Cooperative in Grand Forks and adjoining counties. The decision to build the plant was reached at a meeting Monday of representatives of the two cooperatives.

Plans will be drawn immediately and the contract likely will be let early next spring, with service to farm consumers available by late summer, Long said. He said funds for construction are available as required.

Engineering work for the plant will be done by Ellerbe and Co. of St. Paul, whose representative G. B. Moore, attended the meeting. Others include A. L. Freeman of Grand Forks, plant superintendent and directors and officers of the Nodak and Red Lake setups.

Freeman said a comprehensive plan for service to farmers in a large part of the Red river valley has been drawn. Decision to build the electric plant came, he said, only after failure to negotiate with existing utilities firms a contract acceptable to the rural electric administration at Washington. He said negotiations were started early last spring.

Besides the Nodak and Red Lake lines, tentative plans were announced to serve the Becker County Electric Co-operative, with 300 miles of electric lines in Mahnomen, Clay and Norman counties, in Minnesota.

Also tentative were plans to service the Red River Valley Electric Co-operative in the vicinity of Halstad, Minn., if the facilities at Halstad become inadequate because of growth of the project.

Those attending the meeting from the Red Lake Electric Co-operative association were Carl Swanson, vice president; Stephen Singer, secretary; C. W. Beyer Joseph Ste. Marie, Mons Engelstad, John Newland, directors; John Dysart, Red Lake county agricultural agent; and Ralph H. Lee attorney for the project.

Holiday Spirit Rises With Christmas Near

Altho the entire absence of snow and cold weather to date has made it difficult to realize that the festive Christmas season is at hand residents of the Thief River Falls community, in common with others thruout the nation, this week turned their attention to final preparations for the coming holidays opening with Christmas Eve next Sunday and continuing thru New Years Day.

While preparing to meet their own requirements, local citizens are taking steps to see that those less fortunate are not overlooked on Christmas day. Various organizations have procured thru a central committee the names of needy families, and will present them with well filled baskets of food, toys and other items over the coming week-end.

Sharing in this work are a number of local agencies headed by the Salvation Army and including also the Legion post and auxiliary, Elks lodge, United Commercial Travelers, Job's Daughters and a number of churches of the community.

A special Christmas show for children at the Avalon theatre last Saturday morning, sponsored by the Lions club with the cooperation of Ray Eiden, manager of the Baehr-Operated Theatres here, served to swell the Christmas basket collection to the extent of 278 donations of either home-canned or commercial food items. All were turned over to the Salvation Army to divide with other groups distributing baskets.

In addition to festival services on Christmas Day, full details of which are given elsewhere in this issue of the Times, virtually all churches of the community have arranged Christmas programs of songs and recitations for Sunday school children.

Among the children's programs are those at Trinity Lutheran church for the primary department Friday evening at 7 o'clock and for the intermediate department Tuesday evening at 7:30; Zion Lutheran church Tuesday evening at 7:30; Community church Sunday morning at 9:30; First Baptist church Monday evening at 8 o'clock; St. Johns Lutheran church Sunday evening at 7:30; Scandinavian Evangelical Free church Monday evening at 7:30; and Augustana Lutheran church on Tuesday evening at 7:30.

LIGHT BILLINGS IN 3 MONTHS RISE IN SPITE OF RATE CUT

Gross Sales of Current Rise $500 Above Last Year, Says Pederson

Despite the substantial reduction in light rates that went into effect September 1, billings of the light department, due to increased volume, showed an increase for the months of September, October and November over the same period in 1938, City Clerk P. G. Pederson stated today. Total billings for the three months period this year were $35,155.82, compared to $34,601.[illegible] for the like period last year.

With production of current now at its peak, Supt. Ole Legvold reported that the municipal plant the past few days has been producing current at a rate in excess of 15,000 kilowatts a day, a new high mark.

He added that both large Diesel units and one water turbine are required to carry the peak load, and the output of the water turbines this year promises to exceed the 1939 total by a substantial margin.

Total of 148 Building Permits Were Approved in Past Year

PUBLIC BUILDINGS BIG PART OF TOTAL

Includes New High School, Sanatorium Addition and Sewage Plant

With the issuance during the year now drawing to a close of 148 building permits for private construction with a stated value of $180,000, and with public buildings completed during 1939 representing an expenditure of approximately $520,000, an actual investment of more than three-quarters of a million dollars was made in new structures and in remodeling this year, setting a new high record for Thief River Falls.

Evidence of the substantial character of this investment is found in the announcement that in Minneapolis this year, in a city nearly 100 times as large as Thief River Falls, building permits aggregated less than $12,000,000, and this is the biggest total for the city in the past eight years.

Projects contributing to swell the local figures includes the new Lincoln junior-senior high school building costing $340,000; the municipal sewage disposal plant involving the expenditure of approximately $130,000; and the Oakland Park sanatorium addition adjoining the city, costing nearly $50,000 with equipment.

Construction or remodeling of residences was the chief feature of private construction in the city this year, more than 90 permits being issued with a total stated value of $140,000, the new dwellings ranging in cost from a few hundred dollars to in excess of $6,000. Also constructed were twenty garages at the cost of more than $4,000.

Biggest business improvement completed during the year was the large block erected by Charles Lieberman on LaBree av., other improvements being made by Garfield Benson on Main av., the Thief River Falls Seed House, Northern Woodwork company, Otis Wold, Home Lumber company, E. A. Torgerson and remodeling by L. H. Larson of the new home of the Ilex cafe. Business projects represented a total investment of more than $35,000.

Among those to whom permits were granted this year for the construction of new residences costing $2,000 or more were the Central Lumber company (three), Andrew Nordby (two), Albert Anderson, H. W. Kinghorn, Harold J. Larson, John G. Johnson, Otto Stenberg, Henry Ristau, Nels G. Olson, G. M. Johnson, A. O. Stokke, A. B. Bergeson, George Rockstad, A. C. Purdy, Mrs. A. Lein, Signe Berve, L. L. Hall, W. G. Claffy, Arthur Wilson, E. B. Benson, A. R. Johnsrud, J. R. Dempster, K. E. Lindbergh, William Sandeen (two), A. L. Williamson, Lloyd J. Nereson, Luther Haugen and H. J. Lund.

In addition to projects within this city, local lumber dealers report that during the year a large number of houses, barns and other structures have been erected in the rural community surrounding Thief River Falls, representing a substantial additional investment.

Douville Gives up Mayoralty Contest

Following a conference with his attorney, Rasmus Haga, at Warren last Thursday afternoon, William J. Douville, loser in the mayoralty election November 7 to W. W. Prichard by a margin of eight votes, announced his decision to abandon the contest.

Mr. Douville expressed his opinion that not enough of the 45 ballots disputed in the recount early last week would be decided in his favor at the hearing scheduled for last Tuesday to give him the victory, and said he was unwilling to go to further expense in the matter.

Accordingly Mayor Prichard will commence serving his sixth elective term with the opening of the new year.

DEC. 31 DEADLINE FOR WHEAT LOANS, CHAIRMAN STATES

Advises Farmers Applications Must be in by End of Year

Wheat growers who wish to apply for a loan or from 60 cents to 74 cents per bushel have only until December 31, to complete their applications with the Pennington county AAA committee, announces Carl R. Anderson committee chairman.

Government loans on wheat mature April 30, 1940, bear an interest rate of 3%, and may be taken out by any grower who has planted within the wheat acreage allotment of the 1939 agricultural conservation program, says Anderson. The exact amount that will be loaned per bushel depends upon the grade and protein content of the wheat, as well as the freight rate to the terminal market.

He also announced that a sign-up campaign for 1940 spring wheat insurance is now being started. The final date for acceptance of "all risk" crop insurance applications on spring wheat is February 29, 1940.

Community committeemen are now working in most of the townships. The committeemen are contacting any farmer in the townships that has a wheat allotment of five acres or more. Any farmer who has an allotment of less than five acres may secure insurance on his wheat by contacting the county committee.

Growers can insure their 1940 spring wheat crop for either 50 or 75 per cent of their average yield as determined for the base period 1926-38, says Anderson.

Christmas Comes ButOnce a Year— Almost Any Time!

Merry Christmas is whatever you make it, whenever you make it. From December 5, when Saint Nicholas arrives for Dutch children, to the Aleutian islanders' Christmas on January 7, someone is celebrating this festive day most of the time.

SHETLAND ISLANDS
IRELAND
GREAT BRITAIN

Holland chooses December 5 as the eve of the festival day which the church has set aside in Saint Nicholas' honor. In Hungary Santa Claus pays his first visit several weeks ahead of the Yuletide, leaving boxes of candy in preparation for his second visit.

Most of the unusual celebrations, however, come after December 25—and—fall after New Year's day. Remote Shetland islanders north of Scotland celebrate January 5, still clinging to the old Julian calendar and refusing to accept that of Pope Gregory which most of the world has used for two centuries.

January 5 is also Christmas day in at least one part of the United States [illegible] and wind swept Roanoke island off North Carolina. [illegible] a holdover from "Old Christmas" — the Twelfth [illegible], or Epiphany — the occasion finds all [illegible] residents hanging their stockings and awaiting Santa Claus.

In Alaska, where [illegible] every Christmas [illegible] them [illegible] for last Christmas or the coming one, part of the residents celebrate on December 25 and the rest January 7. The later date is observed chiefly by Aleutian islanders, which is populated by natives who were converted with Russians hundreds of years ago. They use the Russian calendar, which has not been changed to conform with that used by the rest of the world. By this calendar, New Year's is celebrated January 14.

Mediterranean History

The Mediterranean is the only one sea that has been contemporary with all history. The Pacific and the Atlantic have been known to travelers for less than a thousand years, but the Mediterranean has been the great sea from the unremembered past. The ancient nations that ruled the waves—Phoenicians, Carthaginians, Greeks, Romans, Venetians—were all Mediterranean peoples. About its harbors have lived the masters of living whom we still honor, the heroes of the Bible, the teachers of Greece, the mighty of Rome and the lights of medieval ages, Petrarch, Dante and St. Francis.

Auxiliary Notes

Every woman is well aware, I know, of the urgent need for united efforts by men and women who are devoted to American ideals and principles. World conditions and conditions within our own country demand that all of us give our strength and influence to the support of the ideals and institutions of our country. As individuals we can do little, but, united in the American Legion Auxiliary, we can be a powerful force for security, prosperity and peace for the United States.

The American Legion and its Auxiliary stand before the public as powerful guardians of American peace. In the Auxiliary women of families of Service men can serve most effectively to protect America from war and from loss of individual liberty. As never before in the history of the American Legion has so much appreciation been shown by the public to these men who so every thought is for the good of "Community, State and Nation" and who will be most powerful force in America for maintaining peace.

As State President of the American Legion Auxiliary I urge every member who has not yet renewed her membership to add her strength to the 18,000 women who have already paid their 1940 dues and to all who are eligible to membership I say "Come with us in a peace time program of service of God and Country".

Mrs. M. R. Leverson is president of the Unit in your Community and I ask you to contact her at once.

J & B QUINT WILL MEET GALLOPING GOPHERS DEC. 27

Noted Football and Basketball Stars Coming to Auditorium

The J & B Independents will renew their campaign on the basketball court again next week when they tackle the Galloping Gophers, a team made up of University of Minnesota football and basketball stars of the past year or two. They will play in the city auditorium on Wednesday evening, December 27, at 8:30.

The visiting team is composed of Capt. Win Pederson of the Minnesota football team, and other stars such as Marty Christiansen, the crushing fullback; Earl Ohlgren, regular end and co-captain-elect for 1940. It will also include John Kundla who was third in the Big Ten scoring records for last year, and is considered by coaches to be one of the best forwards that they have seen in years; also Gordie Spear, Paul Maki and Guy DeLambert, regular players on the Minnesota basketball squad of last year.

The Independents are out to repeat the victory parade over the Gallopers who they defeated last year in a close, well fought battle.

Last year the Red Cross helped 41,000 enlisted men or their families through its workers stationed at Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard Stations and through Red Cross chapters from coast to coast. Recent Congressional action to increase the United States armed forces has necessitated expansion of this vital service to enlisted men by the Red Cross.

FOSSTON DOCTOR IS NEW PRESIDENT OF VALLEY GROUP

Red River Valley Medical Society Meets Thursday in Crookston

Dr. Abraham Shedlov of Fosston was elected president of the Red River Valley Medical society when the annual meeting was held last Thursday night at the Hotel Crookston, with an attendance of more than 60 physicians and their wives.

The meeting was a dinner session, followed by separate programs for the medical society and the auxiliary, the medical society's session including the election of officers. Other officers named are Dr. W. G. Paradis, of Crookston, vice president; Dr. C. L. Oppegaard of Crookston, secretary-treasurer; Dr. J. F. Norman, Crookston and Dr. H. M. Blegen of Warren delegates to the convention of the Minnesota Medical association.

For the dinner program the principal speaker was Dr. W. L. Burnap of Fergus Falls, who talked on "The Wagner Bill." Greetings from the state medical auxiliary were brought by Mrs. A. C. Baker of Fergus Falls, president of the auxiliary to the Minnesota Medical association.

Following the general program, members of the auxiliary adjourned to the home of Mrs. W. G. Paradis, while physicians continued their session with a clinical program. They heard addresses by Dr. Gordon B. Kamman, of St. Paul, on "The Management of Head Injuries," and Dr. Wallace P. Ritchie of St. Paul on "The Surgical Treatment of Head Injuries," and also saw films covering depressed fractures of the skull and cerebellar tumors.

Mrs. Baker and Dr. and Mrs. Burnap were guests for the auxiliary meeting, and at this session Dr. Burnap continued his discussion of the Wagner bill. Mrs. C. L. Oppegaard reported on the Christmas seal essay contest.

Next Year's Yule Cards Already Being Designed

The artists who draw them have already produced their designs for the 1940-41 season, and as soon as the holidays are over the printer will begin work on these cards. One big firm in England has 500 men and women employed in the production of these cards, sometimes with calendars added.

'Protein' From Greek Word

The word "protein," the food which builds and repairs tissues, comes from a Greek word, meaning "of the first importance."

LIFE—THE GREATEST GIFT OF ALL!

A Holiday Appeal From Governor Harold E. Stassen

Every Minnesota community once more is radiant with the colorful expressions of the Christmas season's traditions. Shopping throngs enliven our thoroughfares. Gift-laden windows attract the attention of children and adults alike. The spirit of the season is one of gayety and anticipation of the enjoyment that comes through giving to others.

However, this season of pre-holiday preparation is a season of traffic congestion. The thoughts of motorist and pedestrian alike are by enjoyment distracted from such mundane thoughts as slippery streets and rumbling traffic. In hurrying crowds, caution is likely to be sacrificed to speed, and eagerness takes its toll at the expense of courtesy.

I ask you to pause for a moment in the midst of enjoyment to give thought to the pathos and tragedy that this season of the year brings annually to thousands of homes through traffic mishaps on streets and highways.

We view with abhorrence and a sense of dismay the death and devastation being wrought among many peoples of the world by the unleashed forces of hatred. Is there not, then, a grim irony in the fact that here, in a nation which seeks to re-proclaim Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men, we should needlessly sacrifice in peaceful pursuits, without hatred, a host of human lives comparable to those destroyed on the battle-fields of warring nations?

I urge you to recall the tragedy of a Christmas one year ago which claimed the lives of more than 3,000 Americans in traffic mishaps alone; then as you take your place in the teeming human caravan, be careful of the lives and future welfare of the children playing on our streets, of the tired parents hastening homeward from their daily toil, of the gift-laden shopping crowds hurrying from curb to curb and store to store.

From the two and a half million people of Minnesota I ask this simple favor—that each one do his part to keep the happiness of his home, his street and his neighbor unmarred by tragedy or remorse.

MILTON NESSE IS 1940 CAPTAIN OF ST. OLAF ELEVEN

Local Young Man Wins High Rating as Quarterback on College Team

Milton Nesse, junior from Thief River Falls, will direct field play for the 1940 St. Olaf footballers. The popular quarterback was elected captain of the gridders at the annual football banquet held Wednesday evening, December 13, in the St. Olaf Cafeteria.

"Milt," who has been playing varsity football since a freshman, is a two-letter winner in football. Playing the quarterback position for the past two years he gained the reputation of being one of the best blocking backs in the conference and was a standout on defense. This fall he made several all-conference teams and was rated honorable mention on the Coaches All-Star Team. Always a team man, he was the driving power behind the scoring plays and turned in a smart job of signal-calling for the Oles this year.

Nesse is also co-captain and student coach of the St. Olaf hockey team, winning his letter in that sport last year as goalie. This year he is planning to defend the hockey crown the Oles hold jointly with Macalester. In the spring, he turns to track, specializing in the broad jump.

BASKETBALL PLAYER FORGETS HIS PANTS

Ortonville.—There is an Ortonville student who is doing a good deal of blushing these days. He is Joe Leighton, youthful basketball player. Joe was dressing after a game recently and started walking out of the door. "Hey, Joe, you aren't going out that way, are you?" someone yelled. "Omigosh, thanks a lot!" exclaimed Joe. He had forgotten to put on his pants.

The life preserver came from the SS Yorkshire, and is spotted with blood. The compass came from one of the Yorkshire's boats, and the helmet from a drowned British soldier.

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE OPENED IN BEMIDJI DEC. 20

To Handle Claims for Benefit Payments Under Federal Law

The opening of a field office of the social security Board in Bemidji, on December 20, was announced today by Frank H. Daly, manager of the office, which is located in the Albert Smart building second floor, at 210 Beltrami Ave. Approximately 22,500 persons living in Beltrami, Lake of the Woods, Koochiching, Hubbard, Cass, Crow Wing, Clearwater, Wadena, Kittson, Marshall, Roseau, and Pennington counties, and who are included in the federal old-age and survivors insurance system, will be served by the new office.

In common with all field offices of the social security board, Mr. Daly stated that the Bemidji office will have three main functions: 1. To assist claimants and to provide forms for the filing of claims for monthly benefit payments to those entitled under the old-age and survivors insurance system. 2. To issue social security account numbers. 3. To answer inquiries relative to old-age and survivors insurance and general provisions of the social security act.

The board office in Bemidji will have no jurisdiction over social security taxes, Mr. Daly said. Persons wanting information or blanks for the payment of taxes should communicate with the Collector of Internal Revenue, St. Paul.

Improvements Completed at Mill City Soo Station

An air conditioned railroad station, whose waiting rooms are bright with World Fair lighting effects, and equipped with arm chairs upholstered in colored mohair in place of the conventional wooden benches, with writing desks and other innovations for the comfort and convenience of travelers, was officially put into service in Minneapolis last week when rail officials from Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago, held a "housewarming" in the Milwaukee Road passenger station, at Third avenue South and Washington avenue, where a $60,000 improvement program has just been completed. Minneapolis representatives of the lines using the station, served as a reception committee, under the direction of H. M. Larson, general agent of the Milwaukee Road; J. H. Clarkson, general agent of the Rock Island Lines; and H. M. Lewis, general passenger agent of the Soo Line.

VENISON FOR CHRISTMAS BACK IN THE 1860's

Livestock men of the Sixties had to compete with wild game hunters in supplying the Christmas market, according to material found by members of the Minnesota Writers' Project, Work Projects Administration. The St. Paul Daily Press reported: "Minneapolis, Dec. 24th, 1868. One hundred deer, dressed for market, passed through here, from Forest City, this morning on three wagons."

Looking Backward

1929—TEN YEARS AGO

Eighty carloads of turkeys were shipped out of Thief River Falls this year.—Harry L. Fowler, deputy auditor since July, was appointed county auditor to succeed T. P. Anderson, resigned.—Mrs. T. Reep was elected president of the Knox Parent-Teachers Association. Mrs. J. S. Steen left to visit at Minneapolis and Faribault.—Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Bernard left for the state of Mississippi to spend the holidays at the former's parental home. The mercury plummeted to 34 degrees below zero December 15.

1919—TWENTY YEARS AGO

John L. Holscher, switchman, was killed when the car on which he was riding was pushed off the end of the coal chute trestle in the Soo yards.—The Elks lodge will initiate a class of 25 candidates Friday evening, the third large class of the year. Alfred Bredeson and O. J. Sorstad took over the M. N. Benson grocery business.—Mrs. M. McCann and son Mike left to spend the remainder of the winter in Lethbridge, Canada.—The V. C. Noper family left to spend the holidays with relatives at Goodhope, Illinois.

1909—THIRTY YEARS AGO

It was reported that the local branch of the Finch-Winslow Cattle company would be reorganized on an independent basis the first of the year with J. H. McKinney as manager.—W. A. Kratka, pioneer local resident, arrived from California for a visit here.—Andrew Trovaton and family left for Stoughton, Wisconsin, to spend the winter. A boy was born to Rev. and Mrs. Henry Pope of Rocksbury.

1899—FORTY YEARS AGO

Bart Young started a stage line to the agency, traveling on the river ice.—Joe DuChamp took a contract to haul 60,000 pounds of beef to the lumber woods for Mr. Patterson.—Frank Zavoral was appointed school director in the Knox district to succeed Joseph Jerome, who is spending the winter at a lumber camp.

Conservation Projects of State Get Publicity

Minnesota's conservation activities are attracting much attention outside the state, as is evidenced by the many inquiries being received from publicists and other interested in the movement, heads of the various divisions report.

A large amount of publicity is also being given the state in this connection in leading dailies and other publications in other states. The announcement by Victor A. Johnston, director of the state tourist bureau, of Minnesotas' plans for winter sports play was given liberal space in several outside dailies, which was followed by more requests for additional information from various sources.

Requests for summer vacation information continue to come to the tourist bureau almost daily showing that increasing numbers of tourists have their mind set on Minnesota for the coming season, Mr. Johnston said.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

We wish you, one and all, a happy Christmas. That "one and all" includes practically everybody and when you get "everybody" together you have a large group. In that group are many whose prospects for a happy Christmas are not so good. It unfortunately is true that many have little cause for happiness. But all people who live as people certainly have it within their power to add to the happiness of others. There are worthwhile gifts that fall within the means of the most wretched. Those who give happiness to others will find a measure of happiness for themselves. And so, sincerely believing that all could be happy, we wish you, one and all, a happy Christmas.

Now that the ice on the river has finally reached a thickness of at least an inch we are glad to admit that another of our pet worries has been in vain. During the past few weeks we have expected every day to hear of some youngster drowning. It has been a long time since that has happened hereabouts. Nothing but extreme good fortune kept it from happening this fall.

It is encouraging to know, in this season of "peace on earth," that Japan is not at war with China, Russia is just trying to do well by the neighboring Finns and Germany is on friendly terms with France. The only war on record is being waged by Great Britain and France. These old fashioned countries spoiled the picture of universal peace by issuing formal declarations of war. They should be ashamed.

There has been little complaint about the time limit on parking and police say they have received many favorable comments on the new arrangement. The advantage of limiting parking time was apparent Saturday when traffic was heavy. Non-residents, coming to town on business, were able to find parking space in the business section. Enforcement of the ordinance probably has caused some inconvenience to residents of the city but, after all, we who live here should be willing to make some sacrifice for the convenience of those who come here to do business with us. The fact that enforcement of the new ordinance has caused little resentment is due largely to the good judgement the police have used in enforcing it.

A responsible local agency should be organized through which contributions could be made for the relief of the Finns. We know there are many people in this community who wish to contribute to this worthy cause. Several have asked us to forward their donations to the proper national agency and because there seems to be need for such a service the Times will be glad to act as a local agent temporarily.

ANY HOUSEWIFE CAN TELL HIM HOW

If President Roosevelt really wishes to know how to balance the budget we suggest that he interview the head of any well managed family, business or farm. There are many housewives in this community who could tell him, from actual experience the fundamentals of making both ends meet. The reason he seems to be entirely at sea on the question probably is due to the fact that he himself has never had to cut the corners very closely to balance his own personal budget.

The President apparently is one of the few people in the country who does not know there are only two ways to balance any budget. One way is to increase the income. The other way is to reduce expenses. Or is it because either of these methods would be unpopular that the President refuses to recognize them?

The government can increase its income by additional taxation. Greatly increased taxation will be necessary eventually. When we are no longer able to borrow, necessity will force us to pay as we go. In addition to the taxes we will have to pay to meet current costs, we will have to pay taxes to retire debts. The prospect is not bright but if it is impossible to reduce expenses then it would indeed be wise to add the additional taxes at once that will be necessary to pay as we go. It might not be smart politics but it would be wise and honest politics.

We are of those who believe expenses can be reduced. Our county, for instance, could get along if necessary without assistance from the state and federal government. And if we could do it then certainly the rich counties of southern Minnesota could do it. It would mean that we would have to get along without some of the things that we now think are indispensable. We managed somehow to get along without many of them before. And whether we like it or not, necessity probably will force us to get along without them again. To yield to reason before we are driven by necessity might not be smart politics. But it would be wise and honest politics.

We are quite sure that if the President is more concerned about the welfare of the country than he is about the fortune of a political group he will have little difficulty in finding the ways and the means to accomplish what he himself admits is of vital importance.

Snow covered cars here and there along the street Tuesday indicated that if we do not have a white Christmas here this year we are not going to be very far from it. The snow missed us by just a few miles.

"REVEREND" IS A NOUN

(Lud Hoe in Montevideo News)

In the scholarly community of Northfield a learned reader corrects the erudite editor of the Northfield News for using the word "Reverend" all by itself in front of the name of a clergyman.

"Reverend" is an adjective and should not be plunked into public print without an escort. It just isn't done in correct circles.

It should be "The Rev. Mr. Carl Weicht", for instance. Reverend is not a noun like doctor or editor or bootlegger.

According to the old rule book the professor is right. But the rules have been changed by the supreme court of common usage. And that is a powerful body. Public opinion has decided it takes too much time to say, and read, "The Reverend Mister." It has made a noun out of the adjective. Copy writers for papers are coming to the same conclusion.

We used to try to enforce the rule that names of all clergymen, whenever and wherever they appeared in the paper, should have the proper pitch, and the right follow-up for a caboose before the name appeared but we gave it up. In our dictionary "Reverend" is a noun because it has been so voted by the people who make this changing language.

THE ENEMY WITHIN

(The New York Times)

Despite the curtain drawn around the "protectorate," patriotic demonstrations in Bohemia-Moravia break into the news with significantly increasing frequency. The student riots this week are the sequel of the suppressed celebration of the Czech Independence Day on Oct. 28. They were inspired by the death of one of the students arrested on that occasion, and were so well organized that a group of demonstrators in one part of town was no sooner dispersed than another group sprang to life somewhere else. For the first time the Elite Guard was called out to charge the crowd.

The persistence of these demonstrations, underlined by the necessity of employing greater force each time to quell them, signifies more than the growing restiveness of the Czechs under the rule of their conquerors. This is to be expected. Moscow tells at the "obstinacy" of the Finns in clinging to their independence, and no one who knows the Czechs can doubt that their national spirit has the same stubborn and granite quality. Their subjugation has naturally intensified this spirit, but the multiplying evidences of open defiance mean either that Czech rebellion is strengthening and hardening or that German authority is weakening.

This is one effect of the war that cannot be overlooked by those who believe that the Great Reich has incorporated within itself the seeds of destruction. The only forces that can surely destroy Hitlerism are internal forces, and one sign after another indicates that the inner frontiers in Germany are as hard to patrol and defend as the West Wall and the North Sea. In the end it may prove that Austria, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia constitute that "second front" which Hitler made his great sacrifice to Moscow to avoid. In the end there may be inscribed over his victories the profound epigram written of Napoleon by one of his generals: "When all had succeeded, all was lost."

SELECT THE GOOD

(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

A fellow was talking about people the other day.

He did not like this man. He hated another. There was something wrong with still another.

That man was unhappy because he was letting people he disliked make him unhappy.

There are many disagreeable people in the world. There are cranks, such who are inconsiderate and impolite. There are snobs [illegible]

While there are many who may not be liked there are many, many more who are pleasant, happy, agreeable and unselfish. These are the kind of people that should be selected as friends and associates.

There are so many wonderfully fine people that it is not necessary to spend much time with those who make for unhappiness.

What is going on in America reflects what is happening to the rest of the world. Powerful nations are attacking weaker nations and justifying their conduct by claims of racial superiority. The "right" of people of one race to dominate peoples of other races is used as an excuse to seize their territory by force, or to oppress or murder those of the "inferior" race.—Madison Independent Press.

The Lord Chief Justice of England recently said that the greater part of his judicial time was spent investigating collisions between propelled vehicles, each on its own side of the road, each sounding its horn and each stationary.—Philip Guedalla.

A lad what was his greatest thrill in life, one would ordinarily suppose that the great Babe Ruth would answer that it was the time during a world series when after pointing to a far corner in the field he drove a game-winning home run far over the bleachers in Wrigley field while the boos of the many thousands of spectators turned to cheers. But the Babe himself [illegible]—New Prague Times.

In everything worth having, even in every pleasure, there is a point of pain or tedium that must be survived, so that the pleasure may revive and endure. The joy of battle comes after the first chill of fear; the joy of reading Virgil comes after the bore of learning him; the glow of the sea bath, after the icy shock of the sea bath; and the success of the marriage comes after the failure of the honeymoon. All human vows, laws and contracts are so many ways of surviving with success this breaking point, this instant of potential surrender.—G. K. Chesterton, "What's Wrong with the World."

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agriculture Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 19, 1939: Slaughter steers and heifers gained about 25c early this week, according to the Federal-State Market News Service. Cows ruled strong to 25c higher, with thin cows showing the gain. Bulls were mostly steady. Stocker and feeder trade was reasonably dull and narrow. Medium and good slaughter steers sold mainly at $7.75-9.00, with a few good yearlings upward to $9.50. Common steers ranged down to $6.50. Most medium and good heifers made $7.25-8.75, common kinds $5.75-7.00. Beef cows bulked at $5.00-5.75, good cows up to $6.50 in extremes. Canners and cutters brought $3.75-5.00. Sausage bulls cashed largely at $6.00-6.50, good bulls up to $7.00 sparingly. Medium to good stock steers carried $6.50-7.00, common steers down to $5.50. Vealers were mostly steady, higher, with good and choice going at $8.50-10.00, extreme up to $10.50.

There was a sharp rise in hog prices on Tuesday, and the 10-25c upturn couple with Monday's stronger trend, placed current values 10-25c above the close of last week. Sows advanced 10 to 15c. Strictly good and choice light hogs sold at $5.50 to all interests on Tuesday, with bulk 160-240 lbs. at $5.20-5.40, 230-250 lbs. $4.90-5.20, and 270 and lbs. $4.50-4.90. Sows brought $4.20-4.40. CHINESE QUINTET WINS FROM J & B TEAM ON SUNDAY

Visitors Register 37 to 35 Victory Over T. R. F. Independents

In an interesting game played on the Auditorium floor Sunday afternoon, the local J & B Independents were edged out by the All-Chinese Hong Wah Kues, 37 to 35.

Although their team, the J. & B. were beaten, Roy Lee and Bones Stadum proved to the small crowd that they are still capable of playing all-state basketball. Roy, who played a fine floor game, collected five field goals and two free throws to be high point man for the J & B's, while Bones dropped in three baskets for six points.

Both teams were playing under handicaps. Due to lack of team practice and physical condition, the J & B offense were jerky, and only in spurts would the team play up to its ability. And the Hong Wah Kues found the slippery surface of the floor a hazard to their fast break and stop-and-go game.

Former Local Swimmers Reunited at Gustavus

With the arrival of the winter sports program at Gustavus Adolphus, has come the reunion of tutor and pupils; the pedagogue is H. W. Gabrielson and his students are Louis Benson, junior left and Bob Hanson.

When "Gabe" was coach from 1931 to 1936 at Wheaton high school one of his star pupils in two sports, baseball and gym, was Benson. Now at Gustavus Louie is half of the Gustie's strong diving duo and a better than average gymnast. In the spring he will take up relief mound duties when Coach Gabrielson directs the destinies of the baseball team.

In 1936, Gabrielson moved over to Thief River Falls high school and there Hansen was a star pupil in two sports, namely football and gym. Bob has just completed a very successful season as center on the grid squad despite his 155 pounds and now is the Gustie's mainstay over the 220 yard distance and is an accomplished gymnast, along with Benson under Gabrielson.

Two summers ago Gabrielson was director at a Thief River Falls swimming course and his two life guards were Benson and Hansen. It was here that Benson learned his diving and Hansen became the strong swimmer he is today.

Rifle Club Wins and Loses Postal Matches

During the past week the Thief River Rifle Club fired a postal match with the Ladysmith Rifle Club of Ladysmith, Wisconsin and with the Virginia Rifle Club of Virginia. The local team defeated the Ladysmith club 1844-1832 and lost to the Virginians 1892-1832. The members of the local club who made the team were John Lind, 287; Leonard Hanson, 373, Carl Hovie, 365; Walter Gibson, 362, O. M. Bishop, 361; and W. G. Mayes 361. Another postal match is scheduled for Thursday evening Dec. 21st with the Woodstock Club. Shooters are requested to turn out for the match.

GRAND FORKS BOWS TO PROWLER QUINT 28 TO 25 FRIDAY

Kielty and Flasch Leading Point-Getters for Local Team

Coach Glenn Hubbard brought his ten long-legged, broad-shouldered, and heavy-weight Grand Forks Central high school basketball players over here last Friday for a game with the Prowlers; and later that night he took these ten players back home, and dragging with them the short end of a 28 to 25 score. A last quarter rally, in which the Prowlers held Central to a meager two points while scoring ten, gave the locals the well-deserved victory over the highly-touted North Dakotans.

Len Furuseth and Bill Claffy sent the Prowlers into a four point lead in the first minute of play, when they connected with field goals, and the Prowlers held this lead to the quarter, which ended 9 to 5. Grand Forks sent a new team into the game for the second period, and this team, led by the burly Doug Lanore, clicked, for they scored seven points while allowing the Prowlers only three, and brought Grand Forks a slim 13 to 12 lead at the half.

Continuing their strong play, and making use of their height and weight advantage, the Grand Forks Centrals built up their lead to five points at the end of the third quarter, 23 to 18. But here, in the fourth quarter, the Prowlers took over the program, with Bob Kielty and Ed Flasch in the starring roles. All the Prowlers played smartly in this quarter; but it was Bob, who directed the ball and set up the plays, and Ed, with his quick darting break for the basket and his one-handed up shot, who were the sparkers for the rally.

Four times in this period Flasch dunked the ball into the net for field goals, and with Kielty's side shot, accounted for the ten points that the Prowlers collected in this period. Meanwhile the Prowler man-to-man defense was hamstringing the Grand Forks offense, holding the discouraged and outfought Central to two points.

In a preliminary game the Prowler reserves, led by Don Berg and Jimmy Connor, defeated a team of F. F. A's, 24 to 19.

The Prowlers will close their pre-Christmas schedule with a game at Detroit Lakes next Friday night, tomorrow night.

Farmer-Labor Leaders Criticize Gallagher's Proposal of Dem Merger

Dissent was the general tenor Monday to the plan of Thomas Gallagher for a fusion of Democratic and Farmer-Labor parties in Minnesota after a meeting which drew 200 members of both parties from all parts of the state Saturday.

Henry C. Teigan, former Farmer-Labor third district congressman, termed the proposal "impossible". Mrs. Selma Seestrom, secretary of the Hennepin County Farmer-Labor association, said "there can be no fusion with the situation as it is now". She added that some plan might be "worked out later".

Hjalmar Petersen, former governor, declared that the Farmer-Labor party has 400,000 votes, and the Democrats 100,000 or so, and said that "if any amalgamation is in order, it would be for the Farmer-Laborites to take in the Democrats rather than the reverse."

Meanwhile, Gallagher, stuck to his declaration that "this is a movement the leaders can't stop."

Joseph Wolf, former Democratic national committeeman, declared he did not see how the Gallagher plan would work out in actual practice.

Since the new restricted parking regulations went into effect last week in the downtown district, a total of 25 persons have paid fines of $1 each for parking their cars for longer periods than the two hours permitted, Police Chief A. B. Stenberg stated today.

Lindenmeyer Is Star in Grand Forks Cage Game

John Lindenmeyer, Lincoln high school coach playing Saturday night in Grand Forks on a coaches-officials team against the Hong Wah Kues, Chinese team from San Francisco, turned in a stellar performance, accounting for five field goals and a free throw while playing in the center position. The Chinese team, however, won the contest by a score of 41 to 34.

Funeral services were conducted from the Winfred St. Evangelical church at 2 P. M. last Thursday afternoon. Interment was in Riverview cemetery, St. Paul.

SPORTS Tid-Bits

By Huck Olson

In Ohio State's 64 to 35 win over Wooster last Saturday night, Gib Mickelson, of the basketball-playing Mickelsons, scored 15 points. He was alterman last year, his soph year, when Ohio State won the Big Ten championship, and this year Gib is virtually certain of being a regular.

Bob Kielty hasn't been running very well in practice this week. The reason? He went horse-back riding last Sunday. Cowboy Kielty the Rider of the Sun-burnt Sage, they're calling him.

John Snort Langseth had 9 strikes and 3 spares in that 247 game that he rolled last week. John is able to bowl a couple of games with a certain ball, his favorite, but then his thumb becomes swollen and he has to change to a ball with a larger thumb bore. The 247 game was rolled just as the thumb began to swell. I have an idea, though, that Snort could roll a high score even if he had to bowl a pumpkin.

The Prowlers are up against pretty tough stuff when they meet Detroit Lakes there tomorrow night. Last Saturday night the Lakers defeated South high of Minneapolis, 27 to 25 at Detroit Lakes.

Lloyd Bennes still can't realize that the Prowlers hung a defeat on Grand Forks Central. According to Beany's reckonings they shouldn't have done it.

A loose interpretation of the term Hong Wah Kues, the name of the Chinese team that played here last Sunday, would be "Happy Warriors" or "Hopeful Heroes", or something in that tenor. Five of those six Chinese were college boys, with one being a registered pharmacist, and another a licensed airplane pilot.

Merry Christmas, everyone.

FARMER TRAPS A FREAK MOLE

Aitkin.—Wm. Cassady of the Cedar Lake Community thought it was just another mole that was devastating his strawberry patch this fall. But when he caught the animal he found a surprise in store for him. The creature's nose, instead of being round on the end, was flat, and carried a fringe of "feelers" extending in each direction. Mr. Cassady would like to know just what particular brand of mole he has discovered.

LARGE GATHERING AT DISTRICT F-L MEETING SUNDAY

Legislative Acts are Condemned at Session in Mahnomen

Resolutions condemning much of the legislation adopted at the last session of the state legislature were adopted at a ninth district Farmer-Labor convention at Mahnomen Sunday.

The resolutions condemned the old age pension lien act and advocated a more liberal treatment of the aged; condemned the "loan shark rate of interest of 36 per cent per year," the policy of the Stassen administration which "has forced the removal of thousands of faithful state employes for political purposes so as to enable Governor Stassen to build a personal political machine" and condemned the reduction of state taxes and assessments on the iron ore industry in view of the increased tonnage.

Another resolution commended Congressman R. T. Buckler, and another urged that the F-L constitution be amended to prohibit endorsement of a candidate prior to the primary election.

The meeting was attended by approximately 500 persons. Congressman Buckler gave the opening address, explaining his stand on the recent neutrality legislation. Hjalmer Peterson delivered the principal address of the afternoon renewing charges against the Stassen administration. There were delegates from 13 of the 15 counties.

Flax, Malting Barley Improvement School Is Set for City Feb. 23d

As a part of its program to improve farm income, the Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service will again conduct a series of flax and malting barley improvement schools over the state this winter, announces Director P. E. Miller, University Farm, St. Paul. The schedule includes a session in Thief River Falls February 23.

The barley schools were first offered four years ago to answer requests received from growers who saw the higher prices being paid for barley of superior malting qualities, says Miller. The Extension Service, including county agents and specialists at University Farm, stepped in to supply badly needed information about varieties and growing and harvesting practices that would increase yield and quality.

In counties where barley schools have been held three years, a survey shows that from 60 to 96 per cent of the farmers are now using satisfactory seed, while 79 to 92 per cent of growers in counties that have held two schools use good seed and from 36 to 75 per cent use seed satisfactory for malting purposes in counties that have had one school. The survey also treatment and improved harvesting and threshing practices have returned good dividends, the extension director states.

New Warning Lights on State Snow Plows to Aid in Preventing Crashes

Striving to reduce the number of serious traffic accidents resulting from motor vehicles colliding with snow plows in blinding or drifting snow, while those plows are fighting to keep the highways open, the state highway department has equipped its several hundred plowing units with a distinctive set of lights for this winter's work.

It is often necessary that state plows work day and night, even through severe storms, unless complete lack of visibility forces them to suspend operations. Snow plowing therefore is as hazardous as it is essential, especially at night when a heavy fall of snow or drifting winds reduce driving visibility to a minimum.

As a measure to safeguard alike both those motorists who may find it necessary to travel under storm conditions, and the department's own employes and equipment, large blue lamps were installed some time ago, above the cabs of plowing units, one shining forward and its twin shining to the rear. This year, so that markings may be even more readily distinguished, all units of the snow fighting fleet are marked with a combination of lights which any motorist may instantly recognize, and by which he should be forewarned.

If the plow is approaching head-on, the motorist will see: two truck headlights (which may be obscured by snow), one large blue light high in the center above the headlights, a white flood-light shining down from the cab top onto the left side of the road, and an amber flood-light shining down to the right.

If the motorist is approaching the rear of a snow plow, he will see: the rear blue light, high above the roadway; the amber light's rays on the roadway to the left, and the white light's rays on the roadside to the right. If he is travelling too fast, or approaching too close, he will see flashed in front of him a large, red "STOP" light, just below and to the left of the blue light.

Hard Work Brings Success, Holt Farmers Tell Reporter

By Tom Sartell

Not as long as I can remember, nor as long as anyone to whom I have spoken about it can recall, has there ever been a rainbow in Minnesota in the middle of December. It's not so odd that it should rain on December 15, as it did last Friday, but to have what many believe to be a prediction of fair weather ahead seems odd indeed after five weeks of surprisingly mild temperatures.

But rainbow or no rainbow, there is little doubt but that we will soon see some real winter. We are ready for that, however, and few farmers are not fully prepared. Huge piles of firewood are found these days near the kitchen door in most farmyards and there are also stacks of hay and feed near the barns.

Homesteaded 44 Years Ago

Speaking of piles of wood, when I drove into a farmyard north of Holt last Friday and stopped beside a heap of firewood which was sawed and split ready for use I noticed that it was being piled in a circle and soon found out who was doing the work. Inside the circular pile was Martinus Halvorson, owner of the farm. Mr. Halvorson homesteaded the farm, having come to that community in 1896. Both he and his wife are now over 80. And because he has given up most of the work usually found on farms, Mr. Halvorson is glad to have such tasks as building neat piles of wood to keep him busy.

Start of Successful Farm

And while I am on the subject of keeping busy I might mention that I think the Ruby Christensons northeast of Holt, have undertaken quite a task. They are a couple of young farmers, having been married only three years, but already have their place stocked better than many who have been at it 20 or more. That, in addition to farming 365 acres should keep them from having many idle moments.

At Christenson's I saw 25 of the healthiest turkeys I have ever come across. They have saved from a larger flock to start a large flock next year. Besides turkeys Christensons have 165 chickens for laying and about 60 roosters and capons which are being fattened for market. In addition to caring for their poultry the Christensons have 150 sheep and 22 head of cattle to look after. They have a big job but are optimistic and not afraid of hard work, so with luck on their side they should have little trouble in being successful farmers.

Horlens Have Rebuilt Farm

There are others, too, who believe in hard work as one of the biggest factors in successful farming and among them should be counted Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Horlen of the Holt area. They moved onto their present place three years ago and have since built a new home and remodeled and greatly enlarged their barn. When they took over the place most of it was brush covered but Mr. Horlen has since cleared most of it. Though he has only 80 acres he feels that it is plenty for him to take care of because he drives a school bus when he isn't doing work around his farm.

Neat Lawn, Buildings, Home

Most farms are so situated that all available room in the farmyard has to be used for farm buildings and storage space but occasionally I come across a place where the buildings are arranged so as to leave space for a lawn and flower beds around the house. Such a place is that of O. H. Nohre, north of Holt. A level, well-kept lawn around the Nohre home is fenced off from the rest of the farmyard and small evergreens have been planted along the edge of the fence.

Besides the yard the Nohre's well-kept and painted buildings help to make their place an attractive one, and they haven't stopped there, either, as the inside of their home proved.

Thatcher Still Rated as Best Wheat Variety, "U" Farm Man Reports

That agricultural research is helping to eliminate some of the hazards and uncertainties of farming is well illustrated by the now widely known Thatcher wheat developed at the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station a few years ago, says Dr. H. K. Hayes, chief of the division of agronomy, University Farm.

Superior in yielding, milling, and rust resisting ability, Thatcher has taken the lead as a spring wheat variety all over North America, Hayes says. Dr. J. B. Harrington, who received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Minnesota, College of Agriculture, in 1924, and who is now professor of agronomy at the University of Saskatchewan, credits the Minnesota variety with saving no less than 18 million dollars for western Canada farmers in 1938, when rust hit their crops.

Word Pecten Defined

The word pecten is Latin for comb, and is used in zoology for a number of comblike organs of different structure. One of these is the comb on the underside of the claw of the middle toe of herons, whippoorwills, night hawks and barn owls. It is used in cleaning and dressing the plumage, and is probably of assistance in removing bird lice.

Sees Further Gain in Flax Acreage in 1940

Scanning the 1940 outlook for flax producers of Minnesota, Farm management Specialist S. B. Cleland, University Farm, St. Paul, finds that a further expansion in acreage is likely for the United States. The price outlook is not unfavorable for U. S. producers, however, for several indicators point to continued good domestic consumption of linseed oil.

Average yields per acre in both 1938 and 1939 were higher than for several preceding years, and this fact, together with continued encouragement for flax production under the 1940 AAA program will probably boost the 1940 U. S. acreage even higher than the two million acres harvested this year, says Cleland. Production in excess of domestic consumption is not expected, however, and imports will still be needed. Minnesota flax growers this past year raised an estimated one million acres, or approximately half of the entire nation's flax crop.

NORWEGIAN CHRISTMAS COOKIES

A WAY up in Norway where the pale winter sun begins to set almost as soon as it has risen—midwinter would be a dreary time were it not for the gaiety of the Christmas season. So it's no wonder that this season is prolonged for two or three weeks. For amid the glow of yule fires and Christmas lights—the cold and darkness are almost forgotten. Can't you see the women and girls for weeks beforehand busy cooking and baking the holiday foods that will be enjoyed during this season of light and gaiety?

Like other European countries, Norway has its own distinctive little cakes—or cookies—as we call them. They are rich and delicious—and can be just as much enjoyed in some of the cooky boxes we in America are planning for our friends and relatives. So here are the recipes for three of these Norwegian holiday cookies:

Berliner Kranse

- 1½ cups shortening (half butter for flavor)
- 1 cup sugar
- Grated rind of one orange
- 2 eggs
- 4 cups all-purpose flour

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually with the grated orange rind, and cream well. Beat eggs until light and blend into the creamed mixture. Sift flour once before measuring. Stir in flour, mixing just enough to blend well. Chill dough for an hour. Break off small pieces and form into long rolls the length and size of pencils. Form a circle with each piece, bring ends through in a single knot. Leave ½-inch end on each side. Place on ungreased cooky sheet. Brush tops with meringue made by beating 1 egg white until stiff, adding 2 tbsp. sugar gradually, and beating until mixture is stiff and glossy. Bake 10 to 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven, 400° F. Note: These little wreaths may be trimmed just before placing in the oven, by sprinkling red and green candies, sugar, or bits of candied cherries and angelica on the center of the knot to look like a Christmas flower. This recipe makes 6 dozen cookies.

Norwegian Butter Cookies

- ⅔ cup butter
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- ⅓ cup cornstarch
- 1 tsp. baking powder

Melt butter over low heat (being careful not to brown it). Add the sugar gradually, beating it in thoroughly with a spoon. Add the well-beaten egg, and continue beating with a spoon until mixture is smooth, creamy and somewhat thick. Blend in vanilla. Sift flour, once before measuring. Sift flour, cornstarch and baking powder together, and add all at once to first mixture. Stir until well blended. Drop by teaspoonfuls (or force through cooky press in desired shapes) about 1½ inches apart onto lightly greased heavy baking sheet or pan. Bake 16 to 18 minutes—until a very delicate brown, in a moderate oven, 350° F. (Watch cookies carefully after they have been in the oven for a little while, as they brown all of a sudden!) Amount: About 4½ dozen cookies (2 inches in diameter). Note: The dough may be chilled, if desired, and then rolled into balls about 1 inch in diameter.

These cookies should be crisp. Store them in a can with a loose cover.

Sprit Cookies (Sprits)

Cream 1 cup butter, add ⅔ cup sugar gradually, and cream thoroughly. Blend in 3 unbeaten egg yolks one at a time and beat well. Add 4 tbsp. grated almonds, if desired. Sift flour once before measuring. Add 2½ cups all-purpose flour to mixture, mix well and set aside to chill several hours. Force through cooky press in desired shapes on ungreased cooky sheet or pan. Bake 7 to 9 minutes in a moderately hot oven, 400° F. Amount: 3 to 5 dozen cookies, depending on size and shape.

Blaze in Fergus Falls Causes $60,000 Damage

Damage was estimated at between $60,000 and $70,000 as a result of fire Saturday that destroyed the stock of the Gamble auto supply and hardware store in Fergus Falls, wrecked the building and damaged adjoining structures. The cause of the blaze was not determined. Loss to the Gamble store was estimated at $25,000 to $30,000 and to the building, owned by Murray Hunt, about $25,000. The Red Owl store and the Elks home also suffered damage from water and smoke.

Use for Beeswax

Beeswax is used extensively in candlemaking and in the manufacture of cosmetics.

Salvation Lassies Retain Yule Spirit Of Founder Booth

Christmas will be happier for thousands of homeless people this year because Catherine and William Booth carried the torch of evangelism from their New Connexion church in England in 1861 and started the Salvation Army. Today that torch is being carried by the second Booth to succeed the founder, Gen. Evangeline Booth, who in turn succeeded Bramwell Booth in 1934.

Evangeline Booth

So familiar at Christmas time, the Salvation Army's group singing on street corners and "boiling kettles" for which contributions are solicited, had their beginning in the youthful reformer of 19 who was almost stoned to death preaching in slums and denouncing "rum." Penniless and with four children, the Booths worked tirelessly in London amid taunts of critics, yet old General Booth lived to banter with jovial King Edward.

He also lived to see the Salvation Army become better established in the United States than in England, to see it acquire banks, insurance companies, factories, public houses, farms, hospitals and cadet schools, all the outgrowth of the "expeditionary" force of seven lassies sent here in 1880 under George Scott Railton.

How to Test Silk

To test a piece of silk to see if it is weighted, burn a small sample; if it is heavily weighted, the material will blacken and char, but will not blaze, and the edge will be flat and smooth, with none of the small balls characteristic of unweighted silk.

HOLIDAY HINTS for HOUSEWIVES

HOLIDAY cookies and cakes in which honey is used need about two weeks for ripening. They improve with age [illegible] stored in covered jars in a cool place.

Apples stuffed with mincemeat and baked make a fine winter dessert. Wash, peel and core the apples and stuff them an inch from the top. Bake as usual. Lemon sauce goes well with this combination.

To make your holiday popovers really pop over, be sure to have the baking pans well greased and very hot. The pans should "sizzle" when you quickly touch them with fingers dipped in cold water.

3344 Correspondence Students at State U

With no college cheers, student politics or campus activities, a small army of persons are enrolled in the University of Minnesota of whom little is ever heard. These are the students who are taking university work by correspondence, and at present they number 3344 men and women, who are taking 3968 courses. Most of them are in Minnesota, although there is a scattering that extends throughout the nation and even to such far away points as our Island possessions.

According to a recent compilation by Algernon H. Speer, head of the Correspondence Study Department in the General Extension Division, this army of students by correspondence is growing steadily and is an important factor in extending the services of the University of Minnesota throughout the state.

'39 SHIPMENTS OF IRON ORE DOUBLE LAST YEAR TOTAL

More Than Ten Million Tons Shipped from State During Year

Several of the state owned mines in Minnesota shipped more than three times as much iron ore this season as they did last, according to the final season's checkup of the records in the office of Ray D. Nolan, director of the division of lands and minerals of the state department of conservation. The comparative figures of each of the 12 mines for this year and last follow:

Grant, Buhl, 601,118 tons this year to 176,166 last; Hill Annex, Calumet, 2,690,481 to 735,215; Kevin, Cooley, 209,953 to 441,717; Leonidas, Eveleth, 546,825 to 540,403; Mesabi Chief, Keewatin, 1,156,877 to 760,541; Missabe Mt., Virginia, 2,739,250 to 898,118; Minnewas, Virginia, 1,393,280 at 996,389; Pool, Hibbing, 313,057 to 49,874; Scranton, Hibbing, 382,031 to 219,817; Smith, Hibbing, 6,961 to 6,911; Wacootah, Mt. Iron, 317,978 to 121,912; Wearne, Crosby, 159,971 to 89,367.

The total shipments from these mines amounted to 10,166,783 tons this year and 5,005,624 last. This is an aggregate increase of slightly more than 100 per cent. The total shipped in 1937, Minnesota's banner ore production season, was 12,669,360 tons.

Shipments from all Minnesota mines this year totaled 32,669,692 tons, compared to 14,815,911 tons last year, as reported by the Lake Superior Iron Ore Association. This is an increase of a fraction more than 120 per cent.

Season's shipments from the entire Lake Superior district this year amounted to 45,066,175 tons. The 1938 amount was 19,263,011 tons, Mr. Nolan reported.

The first ore from a state-owned mine was shipped in 1897, and since then 165,750,000 tons of crude ore has been shipped from state mineral leases.

Crude ore was concentrated by washing or sintering at the four state-owned mines this year—Hill Annex at Calumet, Kevin at Cooley, Messabi Chief at Keewatin and the Wearne at Crosby. With the exception of the Leonidas underground mine at Eveleth, all state-owned mines are open-pit.

344 Motorists Suffer Drivers License Loss in Month of November

Two hundred and twenty-eight motorists, the largest number in any month since the first driver's license law became effective in March, 1934, suffered outright revocation during November of their rights to drive a motor vehicle. The driver's licenses of an additional 116 motorists were suspended for various periods of time, bringing to 344 the number of drivers who, because of violations of traffic laws, forfeited the right to use of the highways.

Of the record number of driver's revocations in November, 216 were for driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. This brings to a total of 1,319 the number of motorists who, since the first of last January, have lost their driver's licenses in paying the penalty for driving while drunk.

A surprising factor of the November driver's license report, made this week to M. J. Hoffmann, state commissioner of highways, is the fact that 50 of the 116 motorists whose licenses were suspended during the month were youths between 15 and 20 years of age.

Of the driver's license suspensions, 37 were for reckless driving and 32 for speeding. During the 11 months of 1939, the license division's summary of revocations and suspensions shows that 1,389 driver's licenses have been revoked outright and 1,267 have been suspended.

SPORTSMAN CATCHES BIG PIKE IN DECEMBER

Foley,—What is believed to be a record Pike catch for this state in the month of December was made by Chet Braine, well known local sportsman. Chet was fishing at the dam at Sartell recently when he got the strike. After proceeding to bring the fish ashore Chet had in his possession a pike weighing 10 pounds, 2 ounces, and was 29 inches long. A pike of this size is seldom caught even in the summer.

STATE EMPLOYE HOUR CUT TERMED AS UNWARRANTED

State Taxpayers Association Objects to Proposed 30 Hour Week

Opposition to a proposal that would reduce work hours of state employees to 30 hours a week was voiced by speakers for the Minnesota Taxpayers association at a hearing Wednesday before the state civil service board held in the house chamber of the state capitol.

A statement issued by the association's president, James P. McDonnell was read at the hearing, in which it was pointed out that proposed shortening of the work-week to 30 hours would not be in the public interest, and conceivably would result in increased payroll costs of upward of two million dollars a year.

Joseph J. Stumvell of Becker and H. C. Fleg of Raymond, tax association members, pointed out that present state schedules are not unreasonable when compared to the working hours of skilled labor employed in industry, on farms, in business and the professions throughout Minnesota, and that a drastic reduction of hours for state work is unwarranted at this time.

The state taxpayers association points out that "with approximately 9,800 now employed by the state, the reduction of hours to 30 a week would bring a work-hour loss to the state in excess of three and a half million hours annually. This hour loss to the state would easily reach $2,000,000 a year, even if new employees were not hired to replace the labor loss.

Should the state be forced to increase its personnel to make up such time lost, this would add hundreds of thousands of dollars more to the annual payroll expense. Another proposal for 37½ hours was regarded favorably, however.

The request for less than this was regarded untimely since it comes at a period when the state is trying to balance its budget, when the legislature has authorized borrowing power to meet deficits, and when the state is obliged to give relief and welfare to hundreds of thousands of its distressed citizens who do not have jobs. It was pointed out that at present state employees have a security of tenure, good working conditions, and a wage and hour schedule that compares favorably with such work in nearby states. For instance, Indiana state employees work 44 hours a week; Wisconsin, 38½ hours; Iowa, 44 hours; North Dakota, 39 hours; New Jersey, 36 hours; Illinois, 44 hours, according to the testimony of Minnesota Taxpayers representatives.

State Safety Council Completes Plans for Home Safety Campaign

Representatives of 23 organizations interested in home accident prevention met last week in St. Paul and laid plans for coordinating their activities. The meeting was called by A. V. Rohweder, president of the Minnesota Safety Council.

In opening the conference, Mr. Rohweder said, "During the first nine months of this year 513 persons were killed in home accidents in Minnesota. This is 14% more than were killed in traffic accidents in the state in the same period."

"Various organizations have been trying to do something about the home accident problem, and some very worthwhile activities have been developed, but no comprehensive program has been developed."

"To effect real reduction in the number of injuries incurred in Minnesota homes a balanced program must be instigated that will include accident investigation, the engineering for safety of houses and home furnishings, study in home management techniques conducive to safety, and scientific public education. No one agency is equipped to handle the whole job. It is evident that some means has to be devised to bring all the interested groups together for efficient cooperation. The Minnesota Safety Council will be glad to sponsor this group as a committee to direct home safety efforts in Minnesota".

Good PERFORMANCE ALWAYS PLEASES

When you buy coal you want it to give you lots of heat when you need it; it must burn slowly on milder days; it should require very little attention and be low in cost for the season's heating. That is good coal performance and that is what you'll get if you ask for CAVALIER coal. Have you a stoker? CAVALIER is an excellent stoker coal, too.

School News Items

Practically all the children in Smiley are wearing expressions these days as if they were "Angels with dirty faces" the reason naturally would be that Christmas is here.

The school children have diligently been practicing for the programs to be presented Friday afternoon and evening, Dec. 22. In the Hummer school Dist. 31 there was a ninety seven per cent perfect attendance for the second six weeks period. Helen Hardisty, Maurice Stenseth, Lloyd Brekke, and Robert Haynes have records of honor awards. The pupils have topped the five dollar mark in the Christmas seal campaign. Their reward will be in getting paper towels for the school. The Christmas program will be in the evening of Dec. 22.

School Notes

On Thursday night the Junior-Senior school party will be held. The party is in charge of the juniors who were the losers in the carnival queen contest. The entertainment will be directed by Miss Etchart, advisor of the Senior Class and Mr. Lobas, advisor of the Junior class. The two classes have drawn names so that Christmas gifts will be exchanged.

The seventh and eighth grades activity club completed their wood projects last week. They displayed them in their room for a few days and prizes were given for the best in each group. Thrine Haga received the prize for first place in the group for little shelves, Louella Gerardy was awarded first prize in the group for large shelves and Bernice Mahla placed first in the miscellaneous group. Mr. Adrian judged the selection.

Norby of Plummer was high point man of the game with 11 points, Helm of Red Lake Falls runner-up with 9 points.

The score by periods with the victor's count first: 9-8, 14-13, and 19-19.

Red Lake Falls Vs. Plummer

In one of the fastest games played on the Red Lake Falls floor in recent years, the Plummer team dropped a hotly contested basketball game by a 24-22 score. The Plummer team maintained a 3 point lead for the greatest part of the fourth quarter after a third period score of 19-19. The Red Lake Falls team, however, had that finishing drive and surged to a last minute victory by intercepting a Plummer pass and netting the needed margin.

Forty fouls were called by the two officials. So fast and furious were the officials' whistlings that Plummer was without the services of Captain M. Page after approximately seven minutes of aggregated play. The losers again couldn't see the hoop in free throw attempts and dismally counted six out of twenty-four gift shots. All in all, six men were ejected from the game on personals: Page and Norby of Plummer and Guerin, Olson, Prenevost and Richards of Red Lake Falls.

The next Plummer game shall be with Oklee at Plummer on January 16. The local F. F. A. team shall take on the Thief River Falls chapter at Thief River Falls the week following Christmas vacation. The Plummer F. F. A. team is comprised of several high school team members.

AUDITOR CITES STATUS OF TAX DISTRIBUTION

Explains Why Closed Bank Losses Are Charged Back to Subdivisions

PUBLIC EXAMINER GAVE INSTRUCTIONS

Total of $14,282 Was Lost in Three Banks Closed in 1925-1926

County Auditor A. M. Senstad this week released a statement in explanation of the recent action of his office, acting on instructions from the county board, in deducting remaining losses sustained in closed banks in 1925 and 1926 from the tax settlement recently distributed to Pennington county governmental subdivisions.

Stating that in the intervening years the county has included in its cash assets a total of $14,282.93 representing balances due from three closed banks in the county that have been completely liquidated, Mr. Senstad points out that in charging the total amount back to the county and its subdivisions, he is only carrying out instructions received from the office of the state public examiner, who has recommended such action each year since 1933.

Mr. Senstad quotes from the 1937 report of the public examiner as follows: "Final liquidation of these banks has been completed, and no further dividends can be expected. The loss due should be charged back to all funds with the exception of state funds, in proportion that balances at the date of closing bear to total balances. After this has been done the records will reflect the actual financial condition of each fund".

Losses in the various banks are listed as follows: Farmers & Merchants State bank of Thief River Falls, $9,623.51; Goodridge State bank, $2,387.56; and Farmers State bank of Mavie, $2,271.86. Of the total loss, Mr. Senstad stated, $6,047.27 has been charged to Pennington county; $5,620.57 to townships, villages and the city of Thief River Falls; and $2,615.09 to school districts.

Both the Thief River Falls city council and the board of education of School District 18 recently protested the deduction made for this purpose from the last tax settlement.

Christmas Hymns Ring From Depths Of Michigan Mine

ISHPEMING, MICH. — "Silent Night, Holy Night" drifts mysteriously up the pitch-black Morris mine shafts here. Down below, 1,500 feet underground, 200 grimy-faced workmen pause for the world's most unique Christmas party, an annual event held at the Inland Steel company's iron mine here.

Finn and Austrian, Swede and Englishman, Italian and Irishman, these helmeted giants of the earth join lustily in Christmas hymns as elevators carry them to the 1,500-foot level where their party is held.

"Genial Jim" Fowler, 225-pound timber boss, strides forth in a Santa Claus costume and takes his place at the brightly lighted tree. Like children around a tree at home, the miners stand eager and expectant.

Gifts are rib-tickling reminders of errors during the year. Last year, for example, the mine carpenter was given a rule—snapped by a six-inch error made a few months earlier.

Genial Jim Fowler, garbed as Santa Claus, gives Elmer W'aara, one of the miners, a folding rule as remembrance of a six-inch error.

In 49 Years Our Store Will Be 100 Years Young

The business established by Rasmus Oen in 1889 observed its fiftieth anniversary this year. 1940 will bring the fifty-first birthday. In 49 years the store will be 100 years old.

Is that looking ahead too far? Perhaps. It is our hope, however, that the store will live that long. We are operating it with that in mind. We are determined that we will provide a service that will make Oen's a necessary part of the Thief River Falls community for many years to come.

The steady growth of the store during the half century that has passed was due largely to the leadership of one man, Rasmus Oen. Whether the institution he established will succeed or fail in the future is our responsibility. We are going to do what we can to make it succeed. That is why we are looking to the future rather than to the past.

For the fine support we have received during the past year we express our heartfelt appreciation. The substantial increase in the volume of our business in recent months is very encouraging. We will try to deserve continued support in the years to come, making Oen's a growing organization and an important part of a growing community.

To all our friends and customers we extend the greetings of the season, wishing for all of you health, happiness and prosperity in the years to come.

Our Store Will Be

100 Years Young

The business established by Rasmus Oen in 1889 observed its fiftieth anniversary this year. 1940 will bring the fifty-first birthday. In 49 years the store will be 100 years old.

Is that looking ahead too far? Perhaps. It is our hope, however, that the store will live that long. We are operating it with that in mind. We are determined that we will provide a service that will make Oen's a necessary part of the Thief River Falls community for many years to come.

The steady growth of the store during the half century that has passed was due largely to the leadership of one man, Rasmus Oen. Whether the institution he established will succeed or fail in the future is our responsibility. We are going to do what we can to make it succeed. That is why we are looking to the future rather than to the past.

For the fine support we have received during the past year we express our heartfelt appreciation. The substantial increase in the volume of our business in recent months is very encouraging. We will try to deserve continued support in the years to come, making Oen's a growing organization and an important part of a growing community.

To all our friends and customers we extend the greetings of the season, wishing for all of you health, happiness and prosperity in the years to come.

No Complaints On the Christmas Weather This Year

Both skaters and golfers were satisfied with the Christmas weather in Thief River Falls this year. Miles of clear river ice provided unusual opportunities for skaters. The top picture shows a few of them on the ice below the new bridge. Mild weather and no snow appealed to those who take their golf both hot and cold. At the left, below, H. O. Chommie is chuckling because Kern Olson missed a putt on the ninth green. Chommie, in fine fettle, muttered some remark about never having weather like this when the Republicans were in power. At the right (California papers please copy) a distinguished group of local citizens in shirt sleeves and straw hats cooperated nicely with the camera man in providing a Christmas day street scene in the village. Left to right are A. M. Holte, L. W. Rullen, Wm. Sheedy, R. A. Reich, M. G. Peterson and C. W. Mattson.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

WRITING OFF AN OLD LOSS

Pennington County came through the era of bank failures with a net loss of some over $14,000. The loss has never been written off. In the financial statements it has been treated as cash in banks.

Each year since 1933 the state public examiners have recommended that the loss be written off and charged proportionately to the funds that had a balance at the time of the loss. County auditor Senstad has now done that. The result is that local units of government having a balance to their credit in the county records at the time of the loss are having their proportionate shares deducted from this year's settlements. They are getting a smaller return than was anticipated and this fact is causing some dissatisfaction.

There is some feeling that the entire loss should be shouldered by the county government and there is some merit in that idea. Such an arrangement no doubt would mean a more equitable distribution of the loss than by prorating it according to cash balances. This can be done, according to Mr. Senstad, by creating a bank loss fund and spreading a general levy to balance the account. In the final analysis the tax payer will have to foot the bill regardless of how it is handled.

The instructions from the state officials are specific however. Mr. Senstad has followed these instructions. He is doing now what should have been done several years ago and possibly there can be no deviation from these instructions. Because there are several of the smaller units of government that are particularly hard hit by this arrangement, however, perhaps it would be well for county officials to call a meeting of city, village, school and township officials and try to work out a solution that will be satisfactory to all concerned.

Finally, at long last, the Arena opens for skating today and on Sunday we will have an opportunity to see a hockey game again—providing the weather permits. With hockey and basketball to look forward to, the next couple of months are going to be pleasant regardless of what the weather may be.

More than three quarters of a million dollars in new construction this year puts 1939 out in front as a banner building year for Thief River Falls. In dollar volume public improvements accounted for most of the total but of the 118 building permits issued 90 were for construction or remodeling of homes. By new construction, dwellings were provided for approximately 70 families. It has been a good building year for Thief River Falls.

In Great Britain the blackout, a means of defense against air raids, has coincided with an increase of more than 100 per cent in traffic fatalities. At the same time no British civilian has been killed by air raids, the menace against which the blackout was devised.—New York Sun.

In spite of substantially lower rates, light department earnings for September, October and November show a slight gain over last year. With the demand for power showing a big increase, the need for additional equipment is becoming greater. The purchase of another engine probably will be necessary in the near future. We are extremely fortunate now in having water power to help carry the load.

With this issue, another volume of the Times will be completed and next week we will start on number thirty. The 1939 volume is a big book. It contains fifty-two issues that average fifteen pages each or a total of 780 pages. Your cost, dear reader, for this 780 page book, delivered weekly in 15 page installments, was $1.50. That is a little high of course but we'll try to build you a bigger and better book in 1940.

Hats off and a round of cheers to Carl Christofferson who retires from public office this week with twelve years of service to the city to his credit. As alderman, Mr. Christofferson has devoted a great deal of time to the business of the city. He has been a faithful watchdog of the city treasury and has saved many dollars for the taxpayers. He has been a valuable public servant. So hats off and a round of cheers to good citizen Carl Christofferson.

Business volume throut the country is approaching the levels of the late twenties but unemployment and relief are still major problems. At that time government debts were being reduced. Now the government cannot operate without borrowing and the national debt is approaching the statutory limit of forty-five billion dollars. Apparently nothing but national bankruptcy will bring us back to straight thinking.

We hope to make the Times a better paper in 1940 than it has been in 1939. We think 1939 showed some improvements over previous years. In several respects we are doing a better job now than we did a year ago. But there still is room for improvement. When we get to that stage where we feel we have achieved perfection we will step out of the picture and make room for someone smart enough to know that perfection is an ideal that only can be approached.

The Russian high command has quit issuing statements about its neighborly intentions in Finland. To start with they were merely going to lend assistance to the oppressed masses. Stalin must realize by now that the Finns prefer to handle their own affairs in their own way. Such resistance as the Finns are offering to the friendly advances of the Soviets should convince one and all that they want no help from Russia and have no respect for the Russian government some of our people look upon as ideal.

The Golden Age of Pension fever is upon us, and probably always will be until some state tries it and goes hopelessly broke and bankrupt and mired down. Perhaps, then, we will come to see that such schemes will not work. Until such proof has come, there are thousands of old people who will never be convinced.—Madison Western Guard.

21 YEAR-OLD BOSSY GOES TO MARKET

Bronson.—Andrew Skaal had an experience last week which not many cattle raisers have. He sold to Fotrell and Bloomquist a 21-year old cow which they in turn took to the South St. Paul market. The cow considering her age, was in good flesh and milking good up to the day she was brought in.

Herman—Two wardens while working at Ashby were informed that a big deer was standing near the road by Pelican Lake, east of Ashby. The two men immediately went to the place and found the deer still in the same position. It had evidently been struck by a car, as it was injured and fell over from its weakened condition. The wardens shot the deer, and its meat will be for sale at a local meat market.

BREAKS RIBS FIGHTING HITLER

Red Wing.—An 86-year-old Cannon Falls attorney engaged in a fight with Adolph Hitler sometime ago and—believe it or not—suffered two broken ribs as a result of the encounter. P. S. Aslakson, dean of the Goodhue county bar, active physically and mentally alert despite his years related his experience with Hitler the other day. He had been keeping a close interest in European war development through the newspapers and said he went to bed the other night and dreamed of the horrors of war. During the dream, he met up with the German dictator and a hand-to-hand encounter ensued. The battle raged hot and fast. Suddenly the attorney received a hard blow on the head and felt a sharp pain in his side. He awoke to find himself on the floor. He had rolled out of bed, fallen on his head, and cracked two ribs as a result of the dream fight with Hitler.

Merchants Advised as to Cashing Old-Age Checks

Local merchants were advised today by John X. Lynskey, executive secretary of the Pennington county welfare board, not to cash old-age assistance checks for recipients unless they bear two endorsements. In addition to the regular endorsement, the recipient is required under a new regulation to sign an acknowledgement of notice of the lien law. Checks will not be honored unless properly endorsed, Mr. Lynskey pointed out.

AIN'T NATURE GRAND!

Mahnomen.—You wouldn't believe it, but here are some oddities reported as a result of this year's unusual northern Minnesota December. Mrs. Leo Ahles of Waubun saw a snake; Elmer Pelter of Crookston found two newly hatched grasshoppers in a meadow; Lavonne La Duke, south of Lengby, was mothering three wolly caterpillars. Many reported that lilac bushes were budding and that pussy willows were in full bloom.

Artificial Game Bird Feeding Held Not to be Worthwhile Practice

Artificial feeding of game birds as a general practice, is frowned on by the Minnesota department of conservation and from now on will not be resorted to except in cases of emergency, according to officials of the division of game and fish.

In this connection, the term, "artificial feeding," implies in particular the practice, by persons unduly apprehensive about the birds' capacity for taking care of themselves, of putting out feed in hoppers, trough and various other ways in bulk, enabling them to gorge themselves with a minimum of exertion, instead of having to scurry around for their feed as nature intended they should.

To guard against possible shortages of natural feed resulting from unusual heavy snows, or in other ways, the division has brought about the planting this year of 3,404 acres of black amber cane, and 2,638 acres of millet, in plots of from one-half to two acres, scattered throughout the state.

State Collects Twenty Million Gas Tax in '39

An all-time record high of $20,107,000 will be paid to the state in gasoline taxes by Minnesota motorists in 1939, Joseph R. Schroeder, Secretary of the Minnesota Petroleum Industries Committee estimated today. Gasoline tax receipts this year have been running 5.3 per cent ahead of 1938 and on that basis, he said, the estimated total of $20,107,000 in gasoline taxes will be collected by the state by the end of the year.

TWO ROBINS MAKE EARLY DEBUT

Fertile. Two robins, evidently wanting to join in the spirit of a topsy-turvy season, got their directions mixed and arrived in Westside the other days. Perhaps the birds had heard of the goings-on in this section and decided to come up and see for themselves just how things were in their summer home. But whatever the reason, the robbins made the first page of the local paper. And what Robbin in Minnesota this time of the year wouldn't?

LOCAL QUINT WINS HARD FOUGHT TILT AT DETROIT LAKES

Prowlers Meet George Lee's Eveleth Team in New Gym January 5

Playing at Detroit Lakes last Friday night, the Prowlers, with another of their fourth-period rallies, defeated a well-drilled and stubborn Detroit Lakes quint, 24 to 22.

Trailing by a point or two throughout the first three periods of the nip and tuck game, the blue and gold clad Prowlers, on a free throw by Wayne Bredeson and field goals by Ed Flasch and Bob Kielty, spurted into a four-point lead in the fourth quarter, and they held this lead until just before the game's end, when the Laker's Rutledge dropped in a field goal to narrow the margin to two points.

While the game's score would indicate a close contest, the facts are that the Prowlers played the better basketball, with the faster breaks and sharper passing, and it was only because they dubbed several set-up shots that the outcome of the game was not decided until the fourth period.

Jim Larson with four field goals, all scored in the first half, and Marvel Delke, with two field goals and four free throws, were the high scorers for Detroit Lakes and the game, with eight points apiece. The Prowler scoring was more evenly distributed, with seven players entering the scoring column. The one-handed dunk shot expert, Ed. Flasch, and the cowboy, Bob Kielty, were the Prowlers' high scorers, with six points each.

The next game on the schedule will be played January 5, when George Lee's Eveleth team will be here to help the Prowlers dedicate their new high school gymnasium.

The Galloping Gophers basketball team composed of former University of Minnesota stars suffered its first defeat of the season in the Auditorium Wednesday evening at the hands of the J & B Independents, the final score being 38 to 35. T. P. Anderson Suffers Broken Hip Last Week

T. P. Anderson, former Pennington county auditor and postmaster here, had the misfortune to fall and break a hip bone while working in the yard at his home early last week. The fracture was set by his physician, and he is now confined to his home.

Hunters Warned Again to Comply with Hunting Regulations at Once

Minnesota hunters were again warned early this week by E. R. Starkweather, deputy director of the division of game and fish in the state department of conservation, not to neglect making out their season's hunting report, and that game to be kept more than five days after the close of the season must be tagged according to law.

Failure to report will bar the hunter from renewing his, or her, license, next season under the law. Keeping untagged game is a violation of state law and makes the guilty one liable to a fine or jail term.

Chances of escaping the penalties of the law are far from bright these days as a result of the vigilance of the game and fish division in prosecuting the violators. This is evidenced by the reports daily coming into the office of Mr. Starkweather, in charge of enforcement of arrests and convictions in all parts of the state.

Tid-Bits

By Huck Olson

This year's Prowlers haven't formally elected a basketball captain, so Coach Lindenmeyer appoints a game captain before each contest. Last Friday night's captain was Len Furuseth, and "Oats" reacted to the responsibility by playing the best basketball that he has shown all year. Len's only fault is that he's apt to become jittery, and this year he's gotten rid of a lot of that.

It is estimated that it would cost about $12,000.00 to install ice-freezing equipment in the Arena. That's a lot of money, but if a project could be made out of it and a WPA allotment provided for some of the dough, the city could perhaps pay out on such an installation.

The finest "form" bowler in the City League is perhaps the southpaw roller of the Jung's Bakery, Orvis Olen. All left-handed bowlers have fine deliveries, and usually a sweeping curve, but Orvis seems to have more "picture" than the others. Even when he isn't getting the pins he looks like a bowler—except when he slides over the foul line. And speaking of form, Pinkie O'Brien's form is nice, too.

Have you seen Wally DuChamp's baseball act? He's got everything, the kick of the left leg, the flick of the right wrist, the follow through, and all. The act is so touching that if he had the accompaniment of soft music he would be sure to make you weep.

The Prowlers begin practice in the new gym next Monday, or Tuesday.

Don Lorentson, who's been playing at forward on the St. Olaf college basketball team, leaves for school right after New Years, as the Ole varsity resumes practice then.

You could create a fine bowler by taking equal parts of Shorty Johnson of the Grain Belts and Red Bergland of the Creamery. Shorty has been throwing a straight curve, and Red rolls a curved straight ball. Take the two, shake them well, and you would have a bowler with a curved curve and a straight straight, and that's all a bowler needs.

And as Chuck Dostal would say I wish you all a Godt Nyt Aar.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN VALLEY LIVESTOCK SHOW

Annual Event at Crookston Slated for February 5th to 9th

Livestock, crop and poultry exhibitors in the Red River Valley are showing great interest in the forthcoming Winter Shows which will be held at Crookston, February 5-9. T. M. McCall, president of the board of managers of the winter shows, states "The reports from superintendents of the show indicate that a new record of entries will be established in all departments. Livestock breeders report a heavy demand for purebred sires in cattle, sheep, and swine. Many breeders have been unable to cope with the demand for purebred animals."

A feature of the shows this year, according to President McCall, will be the celebration of the 30th anniversary of the crops shows. The special crops anniversary program will be held on Wednesday, February 7, beginning with the banquet of the Red River Valley Development Association and concluding with a pageant of progress at the general evening meeting with Governor Harold E. Stassen as speaker.

A special feature of interest to crops growers will be the plant disease exhibit of diseases of cereals and potatoes. The disease exhibit is being prepared under the direction of Dr. E. C. Stakman, Chief of the division of plant pathology, University Farm, St. Paul. All of the common troublesome diseases of the major crops will be on display with identification charts and control recommendations.

Twelve counties supported the Red River Valley Development Association last year in the crops promotional feature of the winter shows, a larger number of cooperating counties is expected this year.

NEW METHOD MAY EXPAND STATE PULP INDUSTRY

Possibility of transforming Minnesota's annual $22,500,000 pulp and paper industry into a business which may dwarf that figure, was recently disclosed. Dr. Henry Schmitz (left) and Dr. Ross Gertner (right) are shown at work on the problem of what to do with lignin, a "waste" composing almost 50 per cent of the matter which remains after wood is converted to pulp.

20,000 ROAD LAW VIOLATORS WERE CONVICTED IN '39

One-tenth of Drivers Endanger Other Nine Tenths, Says Safety Chief

Twenty thousand motor vehicle drivers were arrested and convicted in Minnesota during 1939 for violating the traffic laws in practices which endangered the lives of themselves and others, W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the state highway department, disclosed today in an appeal to motorists to make safer driving one of their most serious New Year's resolutions.

The figures, compiled from certificates of conviction received from the various courts by the highway department, mean that one out of every 60 of Minnesota's estimated total of 1,200,000 active, licensed drivers paid the penalty in court for what are known as "moving" violations of traffic laws. Moving violations do not include such additional offenses as parking violations, or improper registration.

Nor, do the 20,000 convictions include more than 50,000 motorists given written warnings by state highway patrolmen for bad driving practices not sufficiently serious to warrant arrests; nor more than 45,000 drivers given "must repair" tags by state Highway patrolmen for improper and illegal equipment.

"When December reports are completed, the 1939 combined total of traffic law violators who have been convicted in the courts or warned by state Highway patrolmen will exceed 120,000, or 10% of the state's 1,200,000 active drivers," said Mr. Rosenwald, director of the department's safety division.

"These startling figures show that nine out of 10 drivers are probably safe drivers, but these safe drivers are constantly subject to the hazards created by the one dangerous driver. This does not necessarily mean that the one driver out of every 10 is a criminal, but it does mean that he engages in bad driving practices which endanger the life and limb of the 9 safe drivers.

"Several factors contribute to classifying a driver in this dangerous 10%. Among them are drinking, speeding, center-line riding, passing in 'no passing' zones, faulty lights and brakes, improper turns and signals, parking on roadsides, and above all, general inattention, thoughtlessness and discourtesy.

"These 'dangerous 10 percenters', according to our best present estimates, will have caused 8,120 motor vehicle accidents in Minnesota which resulted in personal injury or death during the 12 months of 1939.

"These same uncompleted statistics also indicate that more than 14,000 of the 120,000 'ten percenters' will have been involved in a serious motor vehicle accident during the course of the year. In other words, 10 out of every 100 drivers are dangerous drivers; one out of every 8 of these dangerous drivers crashed, and one out of every 6 paid the penalty in court."

HIGHWAY DEPT. ENDS YEAR WITH ALL BILLS PAID

After a year beset by many financial difficulties, the Minnesota department of highways has overcome the "shock" of transition to the advance cash encumbrance system and for the first time in its history will enter the new year with all of its bills paid or cash set up to pay them.

Preliminary and approximate figures available as the year draws to a close indicate a sharp contrast between the internal financial condition under which the department entered the year 1939, and that with which it will begin the year 1940.

At the close of 1938 the highway department had a net deficit of $1,623,000 in unpaid bills. It also had under carried-over contracts $3,678,000 worth of state and federal aid construction work, of which the state's share remained to be paid. In all, the department faced obligations of $3,171,000, to be met out of 1939 revenues.

In sharp contrast, the department will conclude the first year of Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann's administration with:

All its bills paid or money set up to pay them.

Approximately $3,000,000 of 1939 revenues in the state treasury encumbered to meet existing contracts and agreements which remain to be completed in 1940, and

A cash balance of possibly $500,000, and assuredly sufficient to meet encumbrance requirements and permit the immediate award of contracts on the 15 new construction projects for which bids were received December 15.

Whereas at the outset of 1939, the department was under a ban by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which deterred it from letting any further federal aid construction contracts until the state's financial situation straightened out, the present year's cash balance assures the department of being able to enter upon its 1940 program at the earliest possible time that weather conditions may permit.

Furthermore, these figures do not include December gas tax and motor vehicle revenues which will not be credited to the Highway department until early in January. These additional revenues will permit the department to proceed with bids and award contracts for more 1940 construction as soon as plans and specifications can be completed and right-of-way obtained.

Under the old method of trunk highway financing, obligations were incurred and contracts let on a basis of anticipated revenues. Uncompleted contracts, as well as unpaid bills, remained at the close of each year as a heavy drag against the next year's highway income. After the predicament in which the department found itself last January, the Legislature enacted the new law establishing the cash encumbrance system. This system requires that funds be available before any contract or agreement can be entered into by the department, and that sufficient of these funds to pay the bill when due be set up in the state treasury, earmarked for that purpose.

The transition to the encumbrance system has severly restricted many operations of the Highway department during the past year. In order to make possible an adequate maintenance program and carry on essential construction, the department has been forced to defer all expenditures which temporarily could be withheld, such as purchases of new equipment and right-of-way, in addition to enforcing the most rigid economies in every division.

The change-over in financial methods has required, in terms of 1939 money, the $1,623,000 needed to pay up the deficit, plus the approximately $3,500,000 now set up and encumbered, or available for immediate encumbrance, on next year's program, or a total in round numbers of more than $5,000,000.

Despite this $5,000,000 drag on trunk highway operations for the current calendar year, the Highway department on November 30 had paid out $6,167,652 in cash for trunk highway construction as compared to $5,399,011 expended during the same 11 months of 1938, or an increase of $768,641.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Greetings

WE, the employees of the Oen Mercantile Company take this means of expressing our appreciation to the friends and customers of the store for their loyal support.

For us the past year has been both a happy and a sad one. We were happy with Mr. Oen in the celebration of his fiftieth year in business. This happiness ended abruptly with his death.

No employer was ever more considerate of his employees than Mr. Oen. When his store was destroyed by fire his decision to continue the business and build a new store was prompted by a sense of obligation to the community and to those of us who otherwise would have been out of employment. We worked with him, rather than for him, and he worked with us.

Naturally we are interested in the future of the organization of which we are a part. It is to our interest that it continue to make progress. We believe, too, that it is also in the best interests of the community that this store continue to go forward.

As 1939 draws to a close and we start a new year, we resolve to increase our efforts to provide a dependable merchandising service. We know that the principles of fair dealing which guided Rasmus Oen in all transactions, are now being followed by his son, Roy Oen, upon whose shoulders the responsibility of management has been placed. Certainly the finest tribute we can pay to the memory of Rasmus Oen is to serve faithfully the organization he established.

In the spirit of the season we thank you sincerely for past favors and extend to all of you our best wishes for many years of happiness and prosperity.

WINTER TERM AT N. W. SCHOOL WILL OPEN JANUARY 9

Increased Enrollment Is in Prospect at Crookston Institution

The winter term at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston opens with registration on January 8, and classes starting on the morning of January 9.

Registrar J. W. Hilnar states that an increase in attendance of three to five percent is expected. Advance information from prospective students indicates that the majority of new students will enter as freshmen, with many former students and transfer students returning to complete courses for graduation or academic credit. The courses in tractors, farm shop, and field machinery are the most popular electives inquired about by prospective students.

Housing facilities in the dormitories together with a house on the campus, available during the winter term, will, according to Superintendent T. M. McCall, be adequate to take care of the new students this year.

In addition to the school activities, a full program of extra-curricular activities are planned for the winter term. The athletic program of subcollegiate competition includes the following sports: basketball, swimming, wrestling, and hockey, with the subcollegiate swimming and wrestling tournament scheduled at the Northwest School for the first week in March. Debating teams will meet high school and Schools of Agriculture teams during the term. Crops and livestock judging teams will compete with other Schools of Agriculture in the judging contest at the Winter Shows.

Tuition aid will be available for farm boys and girls in Minnesota.

Two governors, each of whom has been mentioned as a presidential possibility in years ahead, will speak at the annual convention of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, to be held in St. Paul, Jan. 15-17. They are Minnesota's Republican governor, Harold E. Stassen, and Indiana's M. Clifford Townsend, a Democrat. Gov. Stassen will speak at the general session at University Farm on the afternoon of Jan. 16, which has been designated as Farm Bureau day of Farm and Home week. Gov. Townsend will speak at the Farm Bureau banquet in the Lowry hotel, St. Paul, on the evening of Jan. 17. The Minnesota Farm Bureau will have a larger paid-up membership for 1940 at the opening of the year than the entire year's enrollment of five years ago, Farm Bureau officers announce.

"U" Students Hurry Home for Christmas Holidays

More than 15,000 University of Minnesota students scattered to their homes for Christmas vacation last Friday, approximately half of that number who are from outside the general area of the twin cities adding heavily to rail, bus and motor travel. On the other hand scores of students from elsewhere in the state remained temporarily in Minneapolis or St. Paul because they had found Christmas rush employment in stores, delivery service, the United States postoffice, or elsewhere. Between 275 and 300 students were graduated at the close of the fall quarter, and on December 21 attended commencement exercises in Northrop Memorial Auditorium, where they heard President Eugene Allen Gilmore of the University of Iowa tell them what responsibilities lie on the shoulders of college graduates.

Certified seed potatoes grown last summer in northern Minnesota are producing a new spud crop this winter in South America. Part of a big seed shipment to Buenos Aires was grown by Joe Charon of Bemidji, Minn., whose youngsters (above) have found that faraway place on the face of the world.

Spuds for Sunny Southland

This is a story of spuds that go south for the winter.

Not so many years ago, potatoes grown in northern Minnesota and North Dakota didn't travel very far. Some got as far south as Chicago, only to end their careers in pots and frying pans. Others went to potato planters in nearby states, because they were found to be exceptionally good for seed.

But these limited and highly competitive markets made for thin profits to the growers. The prospects for potato growing on a large scale were not very bright.

About this time, a few progressive southern planters became interested in the potatoes grown in northern Minnesota and North Dakota. Test plantings demonstrated that these northern potatoes, planted in the sunny south, produced a fine early potato for table use in the spring and early summer.

The Agricultural Development Agents of the Great Northern Railway were among the first to recognize the possibilities of producing seed potatoes for southern planters.

They found several growers who were willing to make a specialty of the production of seed potatoes, and as their seed crops matured, the Great Northern's agents toured Alabama, Louisiana, Texas and Florida, finding markets for them.

The next step in the development of this new market was to protect the newly gained reputation for the northern seed potatoes. Certification of quality by responsible state authorities was seen to be necessary in order to protect both the northern grower and the southern planter. In advancing this program, the railway's representatives worked closely with the state agricultural departments and colleges.

Similar possibilities for the production of seed potatoes were uncovered in Montana and the Pacific Northwest.

The Great Northern Railway always has recognized that the problem of finding and maintaining profitable markets for Northwest producers was a matter of mutual concern. It tries, to the fullest extent that it is able—to the fullest extent its resources permit—to protect and advance the interests of the man on the land.

Season's Greetings

RING in the New Year, ring out the old — but before we ring the old year out we, the business and professional people of Thief River Falls, wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends and neigbors of this community for the many favors that have been extended to us during 1939.

In a small community such as this there is a personal relationship in nearly every business transaction. Friendship is an important factor. Friendship in business, as well as in our personal lives, makes life sweeter, more wholesome, more thoroughly enjoyable.

Primitive people lived self-sufficient lives. They supplied their own simple wants as best they could. In our present complex civilization we live by an exchange of services. We are dependent upon each other. We still have our individual responsibilities. But we also have social responsibilities.

And at this season of the year, with its appropriate greetings and good wishes, we resolve to put forth our best efforts to make Thief River Falls not only a good place to buy and sell commodities and services, but particularly to make it a good place to live in or near.

IN THE SPIRIT OF THE SEASON WE EXTEND TO YOU ONE AND ALL, OUR SINCERE WISHES FOR

Happiness, Health and Prosperity in the New Year

FDR ASKS FOR COOPERATION OF CONGRESS

President Addresses Newly Convened Session on Wednesday

ASKS NEW TAXES TO FINANCE DEFENSE

Reiterates Determination to Keep America out of European War

A stronger national defense financed by new taxes, a continuation of New Deal policies, and a national unity reinforced by "Calmness, tolerance and co-operative wisdom", were urged upon congress Wednesday by President Roosevelt, in a message personally delivered to the newly convened session.

These things, backed by an extension of the administration's authority to reduce tariffs by agreement with other countries, should be sufficient, he said, to protect the nation against any tendency toward dictatorship at home and "world-wide forces of disintegration" as well.

For the rest, Mr. Roosevelt pledged anew his determination to keep the United States out of the war abroad, and let it be known, to the ironical cheers of the Republican membership, that the budget to be submitted Thursday would include a reduction in all important items except that of national defense.

House and senate and crowded galleries heard the president's earnestly delivered message with evident interest and intentness.

It was an audience sensitive to the slightest political implications which the speech might contain, such as a passage in which the president defended the New Deal program against charges of "defeatism"—charges which had been uttered for one by Thomas E. Dewey, prominent candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

But the thing for which the audience listened most eagerly, some indication of the president's third term plans, was not there. Political observers could find nothing which would throw any light on America's foremost riddle.

The address itself was generally considered a personal application on the part of the president of his own plea for national unity. By comparison with his previous annual messages to congress, it was mild. It sounded no battle-calls against his foes in either the Democratic or Republican parties.

Weighed in shortly after his arrival, he tipped the scale at 7 pounds and 3 ounces and apparently was in excellent spirits when the Times camera man found him talking things over with his mother who also was doing nicely thank you. For a time the doctors predicted a close race for first baby honors but the nearest competitor, a girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Helgeneset of this city did not arrive until 9:00 o'clock Tuesday morning, January 2. Gifts offered the first arrival by Thief River Falls merchants will be presented to David in a few days at his home.

Dedicatory Game in Lincoln Gym Friday

What gives promise of being the basketball classic of the year in this community will be the dedicatory contest in the new Lincoln high school gymnasium Friday evening, when the Prowler quint will compete with the strong Eveleth quint, this being the first time the two cities have met in competition.

Lending special interest to the encounter is the fact that the Eveleth team is coached by George E. Lee, who formerly served in Thief River Falls as coach of the state champion Prowler quint of 1938. Under these circumstances, both teams can be depended on to turn in their top performances.

The main contest, which will get under way at 8:15, will be preceded by a preliminary event at 7 o'clock between the Prowler reserves and Newfolden. It is safe to predict that the new gym, with seating facilities for approximately 1,700 spectators, will be filled to capacity Friday evening.

HOW FAR WILL WE GO?

Finland's success in resisting the Russian invasion is surprising. It does not detract from the credit due the Finns to attribute Russia's failure either to the blunders of an inefficient army or to the difficulties of an arctic campaign. The significant thing is that the Finns dared to defend themselves against what they must have realized were hopeless odds. The courage they have demonstrated in the face of almost certain ultimate defeat has earned them the respect and admiration of all impartial observers.

In the early engagements of the war it was evident the Finns were defending themselves in desperation. It seems now, however, that despair has been replaced by hope. There is justification for the changed attitude. Victories have increased their confidence. And they have been encouraged to believe they would receive assistance from other countries, ours among them.

But in spite of the favorable turn of events during the past weeks, it does not seem possible that Finland can hold out indefinitely against the constant pressure of the Russians. Numerically, Russia is too great. Sooner or later the question of Finland's survival will have to be decided by the friendly nations that now are extending aid in a small way. It will become a question of abandoning the Finns to their fate or giving them the substantial help without which they cannot hope to survive.

It would not be humane to delay answering that question until the last minute. Nations friendly to Finland should decide now how far they will go in lending assistance. If they will not go the limit then the Finns should be so informed and encouraged to yield before the entire country is laid waste. If they agree to go the limit then notice should be served on the Russians that unless they withdraw their armies at once and agree to submit their differences with Finland to arbitration they will have to fight it out with the united democracies of the world. To cheer the Finns on to certain annihilation without turning a hand to help them is brutal. Let's quit cheering or lend them a hand.

There are two reasons why basketball fans will not be found at home tomorrow evening. One of the reasons is that the Prowlers are going to play George Lee's Eveleth team. The other reason is that the game is going to be played in the new gym—the grand opening game. We don't know how the game will be but we are quite sure the gym will get a satisfactory rating from the customers. And it's going to be kind of nice to say "hya George" again.

Plan to plant a row of good trees this year. The grandchildren will appreciate your thoughtfulness.

Wouldn't 1940 be a good year for the city to do something about its rat hatchery south of town?

There are only eight counties in the state of Minnesota that have a higher percentage of debt in relation to valuation than Pennington. Our county owes more than 16% of the total valuation of all the property in the county. The state average for counties is less than 3%. In per capita debt our county is in fifth place—from the bottom. There are only four counties in the entire state that are worse off than ours. This is according to the figures published in the 1939 Minnesota Yearbook. We are glad to pass the information along to the public in order that the members of the county board may receive some support in their efforts to curtail expenditures and reduce debts.

SAFER IN WAR ZONE

(Sioux City Journal)

Headlines tell newspaper readers that it was safer in the war zone on the western front in Europe over the week-end than it was on America's streets and highways. It is an apt comparison. Here, as this is written, the violent death list is put at 503, and it no doubt will go beyond 600 when all reports are in.

The traffic death toll so far is 397. That is expected to go above 400 when the complete list is compiled. In Illinois, which led the other states by the number killed, 40 persons died violently, 29 of them in traffic accidents. In Chicago more than 1,400 traffic accidents occurred. One state, Delaware, had a clean slate, with no violent deaths.

The total for Christmas, 1938, was 508 violent deaths over a similar week-end. This year, it is said, there are 1,000,000 more automobile registrations, which explains the increase in part. Of course when more cars and trucks are operated and more drivers are behind steering wheels, it means more accidents, and more accidents could be expected to kill more human beings. The great American juggernaut rolls on, becoming deadlier year by year almost without exception.

Since this was what most persons call "a green Christmas," with little snow and ice on streets and highways, most of the traffic accidents must have resulted from other causes than weather conditions. With pavements bare, driving would have been safer—if the human element had been dependable. But, as the psychologists might suggest, absence of snow and ice may have increased the hazards through making higher speed possible. Ideal conditions for driving frequently encourage speed and more speed, and that frequently is the greatest danger to traffic. Beyond a doubt, many died over the week-end because too many highways were open to swift traffic.

Nineteen thirty-nine has been a year of heavy toll on human life on our streets and highways. The suggestion that motorists resolve to be more careful in 1940 is offered, without any real hope that such resolutions if made will be kept by vast numbers of drivers. It is easy to forget one's duty to oneself and to others when behind the wheel of a powerful motor car. Possibly, manufacturers have erred in building cars with so much power and speed. Legislators in the various states finally may be convinced that they must do something about it. Mandatory limitation of the motor car's speed may be enacted into law as the only means to reduce the ghastly toll on our streets and highways.

ODDITIES IN THE AMERICAN SCENE

(Dr. V. O. Watts, in Northfield News).

Fritz Kuhn, leader of the American pro-Nazi Bund, has been jailed for "misappropriating" funds. Evidence was presented to show that he spent them for a lady's moving expenses instead of for propaganda to undermine our form of government.

This reminds us that Al Capone went to prison, not for bootlegging or racketeering, but for failing to split the take with Uncle Sam.

* * * *

A Federal court in Philadelphia has decided that a labor union does not restrain commerce when its members seize a factory, destroy machinery, and illegally drive away would-be workers. Yet an employer is guilty of restraining commerce if he gives his workers 48 hours of employment per week instead of 42.

* * * *

In the name of collective bargaining certain employes of Mr. Chrysler persuaded their fellows to slow down and to botch their work. But if Mr. Chrysler had discharged these trouble-makers he could have been compelled to reinstate them with full pay for the time they were unemployed.

A labor organizer may tell workers they are over-worked and underpaid. He may make impossible promises as to what the union can do for them. But if the employer, in the presence of an employe, denounces such tactics and those responsible for them, or if he belittles the promises of such organizers he becomes liable to fines and imprisonment for unfair labor practices. Unfair to whom?

* * * *

A certain Mr. Willis Allen was fined for misrepresentation in selling a hair-restorer called "Grey Gone." Then he switched to selling a political gold-brick called "$30-every-Thursday."

This political scheme, advertised as a business-restorer, is vastly more dangerous and harmful than any hair tonic could be. Its promoters' selling tactics, if used to sell hair tonic, would put them behind bars in short order. But when used to win votes and political contributions these same tactics are safe and profitable.

Are not standards of honesty and good sense as much needed in political propaganda as in business advertising?

TIME FOR CONCERN

(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

In 1932, the worst year of the depression, there were 31,426 people on direct relief in the city of Minneapolis.

In 1939, with better general conditions, there were 44,500 on the relief rolls.

In 1932 the total cost of relief was $2,317,000 or $73.80 a person.

In 1939 the total cost of relief will be $6,794,000 or $152.78 a person.

These facts show how relief and relief costs increase when given a chance. The same thing always happens in government and taxation.

Costs of management of relief have also increased, entirely out of proportion to the expenditures for relief. There is where the politicians have gotten in some of their dirty work.

The cost of administering relief for each thousand persons was $2,533.00 in 1932 in Minneapolis. In 1939 it will be $17,378.00.

That is an increase of about 600 per cent.

Of course, we shall say that this is for Minneapolis. The truth is that about the same tendency exists in every city in the land and in every county and community in Minnesota.

It is time for people to become concerned.

PERSUADING PEOPLE TO TALK

(Montevideo News)

A series of citizens forums is being conducted in the state, the financial boost for the organizing of such groups coming from the United States department of education. The idea is to bring about "an interchange of ideas and information"; this may be another phrase for discussion or argument. The move is hailed as a good thing, and is so accepted.

To some it may cause wonder that it is now considered necessary or advisable to send a man out from Washington to persuade American citizens to meet together for the purpose of swapping ideas and information. As far as our observation runs they are still expressing themselves on a variety of subjects. Perhaps the exchange runs more heavily to ideas than it does to information but it is an every-day exchange and spontaneous.

The forums already operating are informal many of them being over the coffee cups at ten in the morning and three in the afternoon in scores of restaurants. Because informal and free they influence the growth of that mysterious power called public opinion.

FINNISH GUNS DON'T MISS

(Chicago News)

Finland seems really to have something in the artillery formula devised by Lieut.-Gen. V. P. Nenonen.

Anyone who has ever watched an artillery battery trying to find a range by the "short and over" method has probably wondered why it wouldn't be a good idea to point the gun at the target instead of first shooting front of it and then beyond it. The reason is that there is too much human fallibility involved in gun calculations. Apparently, General Nenonen has found some mathematical method of hitting not merely the square in which costal waters are divided in coast defense work, but the target within that square. It was a third shot that sent the Russian battle cruiser Kiroff limping into an Estonian port. Meanwhile a destroyer had been sunk and another seriously damaged.

Soviet spies (actual, not fictional) are said to have been seeking the Nenonen formula for the [illegible] years. We are not sure what they could do with it if they had it. Secret formulae also are not usually as simple as they appear in the radio serials. And even in this presumably more enlightened country, intelligent artillerymen are none too plentiful. It takes more than a firing manual to make a sharpshooter.

UNPOPULAR ACTION

(Fairmont Sentinel)

The action of the state employees' union in deciding to fight the state's order that they work 37½ hours per week, will be decidedly unpopular with most of us.

Under the benevolent Benson regime, the state employees worked 32½ hours, and now the state civil service board proposes that the state employees put in more of a week of work. The union says that they want a flat 30-hour week at the same rate of pay per week.

To us, out here, far away from the gilded marble palace, a 37½-hour work week is a pretty light one. Off hand, we do not believe that we could name a single person who works as little as 37½ hours per week. Most of us put in at least 50 hours per week, and feel pretty happy about it, thankful that we have a job.

There is absolutely no reason why state employees cannot do an honest week's work for their salary. We, who have to pay the taxes for their salaries, have to work for our living and we should demand that the state's employees put in some time for their money.

George Beverly of course is still "Bev" and "the best man on the ice" to most of the customers. And at the right, Stanley Eubank has already established himself as being plenty good.

18 SUFFER DEATH IN MINNEAPOLIS FIRE WEDNESDAY

18 Other Persons Unaccounted for in Disastrous Apartment Fire

A cigarette tossed down a garbage chute was blamed Wednesday for fire that claimed at least 18 lives at the Marlborough apartment hotel in the worst disaster in the history of Minneapolis.

Only 12 victims had been identified as firemen prodded about in the wreckage of the three-story, 45-year old building, seeking the bodies of possible additional victims.

A late check of the Red Cross placed the number of persons in the building at 113. Of these 18 were known dead, 24 registered at hospitals, 53 accounted for as either uninjured or only slightly hurt, and 18 unaccounted for.

Officials expressed the belief that the 18 unaccounted for escaped from the building and possibly went to the homes of neighbors or friends.

Playing 'Possum'

The possum feigns not sleep but death to foil its enemies. The animal's habits in general, in hunting and feeding, are sly, and when caught or struck a blow, it falls at once into an appearance of death—even to the extent of protruding tongue and film-covered eyes. It is said that the animal may be severely hurt without causing it to abandon the pose, even to the extent of moving an eyelid. The moment opportunity for escape appears it regains its feet and flees. The aim of the pretense is to deceive the enemy into relaxing its watchfulness.

The Ontonagon Boulder

The Ontonagon boulder is on display in the Smithsonian museum at Washington, D. C. It is pure copper and weighs three tons. Found on the Ontonagon river in Michigan, it was known to the Indians and early explorers. It was brought to Washington D. C., in 1843 by Julius Eldred and congress voted him $5,664.98 for his trouble in bringing it to the city. The boulder was deposited by glaciers which passed over the old copper mines of Michigan.

Pinks and Carnations

Pinks, the near relative of carnations, are not called pinks because of their color. The name came from the verb to "pink"—meaning to prick, and was given to these flowers because of the jagged edge of their petals.

MARSHALL BOARD CONDUCTS ANNUAL BUSINESS SESSION

Official Papers Selected at Organization Meeting in Warren

J. J. Pagnac, veteran commissioner from the Third district, was elected chairman of the Marshall county board of commissioners at the annual sessions which commenced in Warren Tuesday. A. W. Sommers, first district commissioner, was elected vice-chairman.

Routine matters took up the time of the board at its opening session when Chairman Pagnac announced committee selections and the board selected jury lists for the spring term of district court.

Wednesday morning the board opened bids for the official publications, designating the Marshall County Banner published at Argyle, as the official newspaper of the county wherein the delinquent tax list, financial statement proceedings of the board and official notices will be published.

The Warren Sheaf was designated as the second publication wherein the financial statement will be published. Through a cooperative arrangement, the major publications will also be circulated in all legal newspapers of the county as has been the practice in past years. The bids, in most instances, were somewhat less than the legal rates specified by law.

Local Sextet Splits First Two Contests

With stocky, blond Paul Kornek playing a bang-up game, scoring 3 goals and assisting in another, the Thieves divided the two games played here this week, losing a high scoring game to the Crookston Pirates on Sunday, 5 to 4; but then coming back to defeat the fast-skating Emerson, Manitoba, team last Tuesday night, 3 to 2.

The Thieves, on Sunday, while losing to the Pirates, showed a surprisingly fine brand of hockey, considering the fact that they had not been able to have any team play practice before the game, the players having arrived in town on Saturday, while the Crookstons had played two games, and had been in practice for several weeks.

The Pirate's 'second' line opened the scoring in Sunday's game, when in the first period, Palkovich took a pass from Bob Allen, and went in on Bronson and sent his shot into the net.

Crookston nursed this one goal lead until four minutes into the second period, when Chet LeDoux, their center-ice man, who played his usual fine game, broke thru the Thieves defense to score an unassisted goal, and increase the Pirate lead. But here the local attack began to click, with the line of Popiel, Kornek, and Novak and aided by the rushes of Beverley, it was only the nimbleness of the Crookston goalie, Robson, in kicking out the puck, that held the Thieves scoreless until ten minutes of the period had passed. Then it was that Beverley, on a rush, carried the puck to the goal mouth, slid a pass to Joe Popiel, and Joe slapped the puck past Robson for the first marker. Barely a minute later Popiel rushed the puck down the ice, pulled the Pirate defense out of position, and flipped a pass out to Kornek on the right wing, and Paul evened up the game by whipping a high shot past the goalie.

The third period was two minutes old, when Paul Kornek broke down the sidelines, went over the Pirate blue-line, and sent a flat pass to Novak, and Joe bounced the rubber into the net to send the Thieves into a lead. But not for long, for Chet LeDoux, on a solo rush, scored an unassisted goal, and the game was again knotted, at 3 goals. And on goals by Palkovich, aided by Gasperlin, and Kornek assisted by Beverley, the game was brought up to a 4-all tie. Ray Gasperlin won the game for the Pirates, when he was given a pass by LeDoux, and had an open shot on the net that Jim Bronson did not have a chance to make a save.

Paul Kornek and George Beverley played splendid offensive games for the Thieves, while husky Stan Eubank was handing out crunching body-checks on defense. Jim Bronson in the net for the locals, had 33 stops, while Wish Robson the Pirate goalie had 26 stops.

Tuesday night the Thieves presented better organization, and more polished teamplay, to beat the Emerson club, 3 to 2; and while the Thieves did not seem to be as effective in their scoring plays as they were against the Pirates on Sunday, the fact that they were up against a faster-skating outfit may have had something to do with it.

The game began as if it were to be an Emerson rout, for only 22 seconds of the game had elapsed when Bill Couton broke thru the defense, passed to Lesperance on the left wing, and he bore down on Mitchell, and lifted the puck into the net for the first Emerson marker; and 7 minutes later Couton, taking a pass from Como, on the blue-line, out-skated the defense, and beat Mitchell to send the Canadians into a two goal lead. It was in this period that Ken Manahan, the local defense man, on a rush, was injured, when the handle-end of a hockey stick was rammed into his mouth, breaking out three teeth and lacerating the gums, and forcing him from the game.

The second period saw the Thieves mark up their first goal, when Joe Popiel, on a mix-up in front of the Emerson goal, shoved the puck into the net. And Jim Russell brought the game up to a tie when he took Taylor's pass, and whipped an angle shot past Huxley.

The two teams had several opportunities to ram home shots in the first minutes of the third period, having had the goalies beaten and out of position, but the shots went wide, or the plays dubbed; and it was not until the 10:20 mark that Paul Kornek, on a face-off near the Emerson net, flipped the puck past the surprised Huxley, to give the Thieves their first win.

Paul Kornek, Alex Tickle, Joe Popiel, and George Beverly played fine games for the locals; while Bill Couton and Bob McNeice, who had three penalties during the game, were the most effective for Emerson. The local goalie, Jim Mitchell, had 19 stops to his credit, and Frank Huxley in the net for Emerson, had 24 stops.

Tonight the Thieves journey to Grafton for a game with the Millionaires, and on Sunday the locals move over to Crookston for a game with the Pirates. The next home game will be the Hockey Booster Button game with Roseau next Wednesday evening, January 10, at which time a record crowd is anticipated.

AAA COMMITTEE PLANS MEETINGS IN COUNTY SOON

Hans Solberg, Patrick Culkins and Howard Grow Appointed

In order that farm owners and operators of Pennington county may have more prompt and complete information about the 1940 farm program, Hans Solberg of Goodridge, Patrick Culkins of Hazel and County Agent Howard E. Grow have been elected to serve as a county educational committee for the coming year, says Carl R. Anderson chairman of the County Agricultural Conservation Association.

"The new committee will hold information meetings to acquaint farmers with new features of the program the same as has been done here in previous years," said Anderson, "but we feel there is also an added obligation to show village people and all consumers how the agricultural program protect them against violent fluctuations in food prices."

New features of the program for 1940 include an allowance of $30 for every farm to be earned by tree-planting, and some changes in the size of payments for soil-building practices, such as new seedings, says Anderson. The grouping or classification of crops into depleting and non-depleting types remains about the same as last year, Anderson said.

Educational meetings will be held as follows: Monday, January 8, Civic and Commerce Room, Thief River Falls; Tuesday, January 9, Jackson's Hall, St. Hilaire; Wednesday, January 10, Smiley Hall; Friday, January 12, River Valley; Saturday, January 13, Goodridge Gym, Goodridge. The meetings will all start at 1:30 P. M.

Tid-Bits

Maybe I'm wrong, but I think that the Prowlers are small, physically, when compared with some of the high school teams that are circulating around here. But here are the figures, judge for yourself: Len Furuseth, 5'9½", 147 lbs.; Bob Kielty, 5'10", 162 lbs.; Ed Flasch, 5'6", 136 lbs.; Loren Jung, 5'10¼", 172 lbs.; Wayne Bredeson, 5'10½", 142 lbs.; LaRue Anderson, 5'9½", 167 lbs.; Si Kompelien, 5'10", 147 lbs.; Tommy Carlisle, 5'7½", 142 lbs.; Babe Peterson, 5'6½", 136 lbs.; Bill Claffy, 5'8", 143 lbs.; and Don Berg, 5'8", 135 lbs.

Don't forget the game tomorrow night, in the new high school gymnasium, when the Prowlers will dedicate their new gym, by beating George Lee's Eveleth team by about 10 points. And there is a new electric score-board and clock, so it will be easy for George to see how badly his team is being beaten.

You get a vivid idea of what modern warfare is like when you see Paul Kornek, No. 66, on a rush. He's like a blond bombshell.

Johnny Kundla and Gordie Spear, former Minnesota stars, who were here last week with the Galloping Gopher basketball team were of the opinion that Roy Lee, our all-state guard, was too small for Big Ten basketball at guard; but that he would have a chance at forward, and they advised Roy, and asked him if he had played forward, to shift to a forward position. The ideal arrangement would be to have Roy play offensive guard, because he is a fine play-maker, and play forward on defense.

The Lombard hockey club, the team that is representing Winnipeg in the States-Dominion League, are making no secret of the fact that they are out to win the championship. And being a Winnipeg club they are in an excellent position to build a team of championship caliber.

Stan Eubank, playing at defense for the Thieves, has all the actions of Walt DePaul, former local player who is now at Hallock. Walt likes to crack 'em on defense, and so does Stan. He's No. 77, and if you saw the two games this week you saw that number dealing out body checks.

173 DAMS PUT IN BELTRAMI ISLAND AREA, SAYS FIERO

Manager of Project Reports on Progress of Work in Region

With 173 water-impounding dams already completed, and 30 more to be completed before June 30, the soil conservation service is "greatly reducing" fire hazards in northern Minnesota's vast "big bog" country, Col. L. E. Fiero, manager of the 1,500,000-acre Beltrami and Pine Island submarginal land projects south of Baudette, said today.

Of the 173 dams, four are on streams, while 169 are located on drainage ditches.

By blocking drainage ditches and restoring former water levels and flowages in the vast area, fire danger is greatly reduced, Fiero said.

Practically all of the large wilderness area was drained, and nearly every quarter-section was settled in the second decade of the century, Fiero said.

Since the area is "definitely submarginal" for agriculture, settlers were soon in distress, and counties gradually approached bankruptcy. By 1933, an acute "resettlement" problem had developed, the project head claimed.

Most of the settlers in the area have been bought out and many of them have been helped to "relocate" on land better suited to agriculture in Roseau county and Lake of the Woods county along the Rainy river, Fiero said.

The project areas are being developed for forestry and wildlife—uses to which the land is "naturally fitted," he added.

Children With Sleds Given Annual Warning

With several thousand Minnesota boys and girls having received new sleds and skis for Christmas gifts, W. F. Rosenwald, safety engineer of the Minnesota Highway department, today warned parents to prevent these gifts from becoming instruments of death. "Parents should warn their children to refrain from coasting or skiing on hills that are on or end in a lane of traffic," he said. "Numerous instances already have been reported where accidents were narrowly averted when children, trying out their new sleds, were almost crushed by passing automobiles. The lateness of our first snowfall and its coming just before Christmas have combined to make the children even more eager than in other years to get out and make the most of the snow. But, don't let your children's eagerness overcome caution and safety."

University Finances Shown in Fine Shape in the Annual Report

Including the maintenance appropriation of $3,500,000, the state of Minnesota provided $4,264,123.79 toward the support of the University of Minnesota in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939; the federal government, counting PWA building grants, furnished the sum of $1,178,277.80 and the University itself, through all sources, including endowments, permanent funds, student fees and receipts from services, produced $6,553,826.12, or more than half of the total income, which was $11,996,277.71.

Of the state money appropriated by the legislature, $305,361.86 was for the support of the many special projects, mostly in agricultural research and including the state's share of county agents' salaries, which are paid for thru University of Minnesota channels.

Nearly half of the money received from the federal government, or $440,668, was sent to Minnesota as PWA's 45 per cent aid on new buildings under construction.

The report, prepared by William T. Middlebrook, comptroller, who is in charge of the entire business program of the University of Minnesota, shows that university administration cost of $197,415.60 came to less than two per cent of the total income.

52 MILLION SPENT BY WPA IN STATE DURING PAST YEAR

Work Is Supplied to Monthly Average of 51,788, Says Administrator

More than $52,000,000 was expended in 1939 in Minnesota for the work program of the Work Projects Administration, giving work to a monthly average of 51,788 persons who otherwise would have been unemployed, S. L. Stolte, state administrator, announced today. Of that total, $39,823,890 was provided by the federal government and $12,277,248 by sponsoring agencies.

During the year, WPA workers were engaged on some 755 projects, ranging from construction jobs, such as the building of schools and community buildings, to the serving of school lunches to undernourished children in practically every county.

Employment ranged from a high of 64,826 to a low of 33,809 Mr. Stolte said. At the year's end, 45,727 were on the rolls.

State Department of Conservation Sees Big Tourist Influx in '40

Regarding prospects for a greater influx of summer vacation visitors during 1940 better than at any time in Minnesota's history, Victor A. Johnson, director of the state tourist bureau in the department of conservation, announced early this week that more efforts are being made to attract tourists this year than ever before.

Mr. Johnson bases his expectations of Minnesota setting a new high record in tourist allure on several factors, the principal ones being:

The wars abroad, making foreign travel almost unthinkable.

The impressive showing made last season in face of stiff competition from two world's fairs.

Unusually bright prospects of even better fishing than last year in Minnesota's more than 11,000 lakes.

The fact that Minnesota is becoming increasingly known as affording marked relief to hay fever sufferers.

A steadily growing number of inquiries from all sections of the country for information about Minnesota's facilities for an interesting and enjoyable summer vacation.

The fact that the people of Minnesota are becoming more and more tourist business conscious an' are cooperating better than ever with the tourist bureau in promoting the interests of the summer vacationists.

What might be called the vanguard of Minnesota's 1940 tourist army will arrive with the opening of the Northwest Sportsmen's show which will be held in Minneapolis March 23 to 31, inclusive. This will be followed by the Anoka Sportsmen's show the first three days in May.

Previous to that prospective tourists will have investigated what Minnesota has to offer at the following shows: Southwest Sports show, Jan. 27 to Feb. 4, inc., in the Municipal auditorium, St. Louis, Mo.; The National Boat show, Feb. 3-11, Navy Pier, Chicago; International sport show, Feb. 17-25, Chicago; Northwestern Sport show, March 23-31, City Auditorium, Minneapolis; The Enquirer's Travel Show, March 3-6, Netherland Plaza Hotel, Cincinnati, Ohio; The Daily News Travel Show, April 15-20 Stevens Hotel, Chicago.

At all of these the Minnesota tourist bureau of the state department of conservation will have elaborate exhibits of Minnesota wild game life, including both live and mounted specimens of fish, fur and feathered animals. With these exhibits will be available descriptive literature, transparencies and motion pictures depicting Minnesota's scenic beauties and other points of interest.

SMILEY

The Christmas program at the Smiley Hall Friday evening went over in a grand way. A dandy crowd attended and a good time was enjoyed. All school districts were represented except the Washington school Dist. 221. A lot of illnesses kept several of the youngsters from taking part. Nevertheless the program was fine. The program opened with a community "sing" ably led by Mrs. Frank Hardisty. An address of welcome was recited by little Irene Helgeland followed by a lovely vocal lullaby by Delores Roese. A one-act play by the pupils in Dist. 21, "Uncle Caleb's Quiet Christmas" was very good; a song by Duane Hanson, "Away in a Manger"; recitation by three little girls, Marlys Hanson, Dianne Lendobeja and Loretta Bolstad. Arlene Thune gave a spirited recitation "I Wish You a Merry Christmas". Elaine Nelson sang, "O Little Town of Bethlehem", accompanied by Mrs. Frank Hardisty; Marian Wiener spoke a recitation, "Christmas Day"; "Tuning in on the Radio", a musical skit by Helen Hardisty, Mavis and Kenneth Brekke, Maurice Stenseth and Ronald Haynes; a recitation by Bruce McCrum. An added feature to the program which caused a lot of merriment were Mrs. Walter Lendobeja and Mrs. Mark Olson who dressed to suit their norwegian song "Kjore Vaten, of Kjore Ve". This went over in a big way. The program closed with all school children arranged on the stage who sang, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" under the direction of Mrs. Hardisty who also had the youngsters and audience sing "Silent Night". Following the program, the children received generous bags of candy and nuts and a free lunch was served by club members. The committee of ex-school ma'am's wish to extend, through this column, many sincere thanks to those children who, so willingly, helped make the program a success. New members were added to the growing list of memberships to the Smiley community club and they are Mr. and Mrs. Elias Angell and Julian Lendobeja. SPELLING CONTEST FEATURES WINTER SHOWS FEB. 5 TO 9

14 Co. Champions to Compete in Annual Event at Crookston

A feature of the celebration of the 30th anniversary of the Red River Valley Winter Shows and Northwest School Farmers' Week at Crookston, February 5-9, will be the annual rural school spelling contest. Fourteen county champions will compete for the Valley trophy, champion county banner, and cash prizes.

The Red River Valley Development association has sponsored the spelling contest through the years by furnishing prizes, banners and paying the expenses of the winners to the district contest. The association has sent out four thousand spelling lists of some five thousand words each as check lists for the rural schools and more than ten thousand boys and girls have been given an added incentive to learn spelling.

The officers and county directors of the association have continued their appropriation for this contest through the years, confident that assistance and incentive to boys and girls to get fundamental educational training will pay big dividends in citizenship.

A committee of the district County Superintendents' association sponsors the contest each year. The committee in charge of the 1940 spelling contest, which will be held at the Winter Shows on February 9, includes H. E. Sorvig, Crookston, chairman; Mrs. Esther Coleman, Hallock and Clarissa Bergquist, Detroit Lakes.

Land Bank Reports on Financing in Region in the Period Since 1935

Five hundred sixty-one farm families living within the 9th congressional district of Minnesota have used farm credit financing during the past 4 years for the purchase of farm homes, according to a brief statement from the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul.

Financing in Pennington county, $26,200, is in the lower brackets, funds for the purchase of farms ranging from $17,000 to $287,000 per county in the 9th district. Average financing in this district is over $2,300 per farm. The state average for Minnesota is $3,540.

The farm credit act of 1935 broadened the use of both first and second mortgage commissioner loans and made them available for the purchase of farms. Land bank loans had always been available for that purpose. In carrying out the provisions of the act, the Farm Credit Administration has provided in this area more than $1,331,000 for the purchase of farm homes since Oct. 1935.

FARMER MAKES WAGES TRAPPING FOXES

Elbow Lake — John Stennes trapped 82 red fox in the 35-day period from November 10 to December 15. The pelts brought him about $5 each and the Grant county bounty an additional $2.50 for each one. Mr. Stennes operates about 70 miles of trap line and visits his traps every day. In the last few years foxes have multiplied in number and a bounty has been placed on them because of their destruction of domestic foul and wild game particularly pheasants and partridges.

NO MORE CROCHET HOOKS

Young Elmer Carter, pictured above, has learned one lesson not to be forgotten soon. Carrying a crochet hook in one's pocket is dangerous business.

Fox Apparently Is No Great Foe of Pheasants, "U" Specialist Reports

For many years the wily fox has been accused of being one of our worst game predators. Game wardens have reported six pheasants per fox per night as the usual catch of an adult fox. There seemed to be some question about it, however, so the University of Minnesota set about to find out what our wild foxes used for food.

The stomachs of 92 red and gray foxes were examined by Donald M. Hatfield, game specialist, University Farm, St. Paul. They were caught and dissected during the period November, 1937 through April, 1938. Fifty eight gray foxes were taken in 9 counties, all south of a line extending east and west approximately 50 miles north of the Twin Cities. Thirty-four red foxes, on the other hand, include representatives from all parts of the state.

It was found that rabbits, mice, gophers, and other possibly undesirable types of animals comprised over half the diet of the gray foxes and 70 per cent of the food eaten by the red foxes. A large additional portion of their diet was secured from vegetable matter. Pheasants were found in the stomachs of only seven gray foxes and comprised 6.6 per cent of their food, was found in the stomachs of only four red foxes and comprised 4 per cent of the food of this species. No traces of other game birds were found.

Although Hatfield admitted that the results of this preliminary investigation could not be taken as conclusive, he summarized his findings by saying, "Reports of great numbers of pheasants killed by foxes in Minnesota are not substantiated by the evidence at hand. Foxes actually do us a great deal of good in killing rabbits and rodents, and there is no reason for promiscuous eradication of them."

DOUBLE TROUBLE PURSUES CAR OWNER

[illegible] the old adage says, "lightning never strikes twice in the same place." However, when one man has two storage batteries out of two cars in the same day, that comes close to breaking that tradition. At least L. T. Parsons, Little Rock butter maker thinks so. Mrs. Parsons driving the family car one morning recently was stalled on the road when the battery dropped out of it. She phoned her husband who borrowed another car to tow her to town. Shortly after they reached town the battery of the borrowed car dropped on the pavement and smashed to pieces.

FORMER SERVICE MAN DIES IN CAR MISHAP IN ROSEAU

Arthur Nelson of Badger Is Instantly Killed Last Wednesday

Arthur Nelson, Badger, former service man, was instantly killed when his car plunged into a ditch as he was leaving Roseau for his home Wednesday of last week.

He and his mother, Mrs. Arne Nelson had motored to Roseau to visit and Mrs. Nelson remained there. Alone in the machine, Nelson apparently mistook a Roseau street for the trunk highway, driving across the highway at the intersection where the Roseau street comes to a blind end.

THE FIRST STEP Towards TRUE TEMPERANCE MODERATION
BEER promotes Moderation
One sure and easy way for us to reach the goal of True Temperance is by learning to be temperate, step by step, with a beverage of Moderation!
All history proves that Beer has been the bulwark of Moderation and Sobriety. Not only is Beer a mildly stimulating and nourishing food beverage, but it is also definitely non-intoxicating when taken in quantities the average person consumes.
That is why world-renowned physicians, educators, and statesmen recommend a wider use of Beer as the most practical step toward temperance.
To reach this desirable goal of True Temperance in the shortest time possible, the brewers of Minnesota are co-operating fully with all enforcement authorities to make the retailing of Beer as wholesome as Beer itself.
Each day more Minnesotans are saying . . . "I'm on the 'Moderation Wagon' . . . make mine Beer!"

Dedication Speaker

DR. GEORGE A. SELKE

President of St. Cloud Teachers college and an orator of wide reputation, who will deliver the principal address this evening at the dedication of the Lincoln junior-senior high school building.

Dr. G. A. Selke of St. Cloud to Deliver Principal Address

PROGRAM GETS UNDER WAY AT 7:45 P. M.

Event Marks Important Milestone in History of Community

Today is a red-letter day for the Thief River Falls school district and for citizens of the community in general, for this evening will be dedicated the recently completed Lincoln junior-senior high school, representing by far the largest single investment in educational facilities ever made in the history of the city.

Elsewhere in this issue appear a complete description of the new structure prepared by Supt. Morris Bye; a history of the local school system from its earliest days; a statement by Dr. A. E. Jacobson, president of the board of education; and numerous photographs of the exterior and interior of the building, as well as of persons involved in its realization.

The dedication exercises in the school auditorium this evening will open at 7:45, and will be preceded by a half-hour concert by the Lincoln high school band directed by Glendon Ahre.

Supt. Morris Bye, who will preside as chairman, will introduce J. O. Gulseth of the Midwest Contracting company, which executed the general contract, and Mr. Gulseth will present the structure to W. F. King of Toltz, King & Day, St. Paul architects, who designed the structure. Mr. King in turn will turn the building over to Dr. A. E. Jacobson, president of the board of education.

The dedicatory address will be delivered by Dr. George A. Selke, president of St. Cloud teachers college and widely recognized for his ability as a speaker. Harry C. Knudsen of the Omaha office of the Public Works administration, which aided substantially in financing the local project, will speak in behalf of that agency. Musical selections by the high school chorus and by the boys octet will complete the program.

Mr. Bye stated that the public address system installed in the school will carry the program to other rooms in the building in the event the auditorium proves inadequate to accommodate all who attend. Following the formal exercises, open house will be held, giving local citizens an opportunity to inspect all details of the completed structure.

Many communities in this section of the state will be represented at the exercises, invitation having been extended to superintendents and presidents of the various boards of education to participate.

Twelve Men are Nominated for Six Places to be Filled

With the election of six directors of the Civic and Commerce association scheduled to be conducted next Thursday, January 18, the names of twelve nominees were read by Secretary L. W. Rulien at a meeting of the association last Thursday evening. Serving on the nominating committee were Robert J. Lund, Walter Jung Frank Rinkel and Paul Lundgren.

Directors whose terms expire shortly include William LaFave, E. M. Bennes, Alfred Skarstad, W. W. Prichard, H. A. Baumann and Roy Oen. Named as candidates to succeed them were Emmett Wright, Clarence Sande, Carl Kretzschmar, E. B. Benson, William Ferguson, Roy Oen, A. F. Berge, LaFave, Skarstad, Baumann, Anton Hall and Norbert Holzknecht. Additional nominations may be made from the floor at today's session.

In behalf of the local American Legion post, Tom Rowan, past commander, expressed appreciation of the financial support and cooperation given by the association to the Legion post in its sponsorship of the highly successful convention of the International War Veterans alliance in this city last September. Mr. Rowan expressed the hope that the convention would be held here again in 1942, when the community also will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the coming of the Great Northern railway to Thief River Falls.

T. M. McCall, superintendent of the Northwest School and Experiment Station at Crookston, was the speaker of the evening, discussing some of the problems confronting agriculture at this time. He praised the efforts of the federal department of agriculture in arriving at a solution of these problems, but cited the difficulty of regulating farm production from Washington.

He stressed the importance of farmers striving for a more balanced production and for quality products, and urged his hearers to be open-minded and progressive, but at the same time not to be stampeded into experimenting with untested ideas. Mr. McCall also briefly discussed the thirtieth annual Red River Valley Winter Shows to be held in Crookston early in February.

BUS LINE ASKS TO DISCONTINUE TWO ROUTES FROM CITY

Hearing Will be Conducted at Court House Friday, January 26

The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission late last week ordered a hearing to be held at the court house Friday, January 26, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning on the application of Edward Carlson of the Triangle Transportation company for permission to discontinue the bus line from Bemidji to Warren thru Thief River Falls, and also the line between Crookston and Thief River Falls for all days except Sunday. Lack of sufficient business to make operation profitable is given in the company's petition as the reason for the application. Lincoln High School Project as Viewed From Air

A highly effective idea of the layout of the new and old Lincoln school buildings is given in the enlarged photograph above, taken from an airplane by the Grand Forks Herald photographer, and supplied by that paper to the Times thru special arrangement.

The gymnasium is shown at the lower left, while other parts of the new structure skirt the old Lincoln building, which is bordered on the east by the new auditorium. At lower right is the mechanic arts addition to the high school built nearly twenty years ago, and above it is the Washington grade school, oldest building of the group.

Antelopes Are Speedy

Antelopes are reliably credited with speeds up to 32 miles an hour over distances of a mile or more. The swiftest race horse is only a bit faster. The alarm signal of the antelope is a whistling snort, but doubtless his scent glands play an important part in warning of danger, says the American Wildlife Institute.

Northern Woodwork Company Marks Twentieth Birthday

Coincident with the close of the busiest year in its history, the Northern Woodwork company of this city is noting this month the twentieth anniversary of its incorporation as a local business enterprise, after having started operating in December, 1919.

Playing an important role in virtually every major construction project in Thief River Falls during the past two decades, the company in 1939 supplied millwork and other material for the three big public building projects carried out locally—the Lincoln junior-senior high school, the Oakland Park sanatorium addition and the sewage disposal plant.

Among earlier local projects for which the company furnished millwork are the postoffice, Auditorium, Knox school, Oens store, St. Lukes hospital, Land O'Lakes plant, arena, Falls and Avalon theatres and the Lieberman building. During the past year millwork was also supplied for a school addition at Argyle and one at Baudette, in addition to numerous smaller projects.

To keep pace with its expanding business, three additions have been built during the past three years to the company's building on Knight av. S., giving the structure dimensions of 75 by 140 feet. Eight men are kept busy in the shop and two in the office. Organized with six owners at the beginning, the company now has three active proprietors including E. O. Iverson, president; H. M. Grendahl, vice president; and E. J. Rustad, secretary-treasurer.

Candidates for Office Can't File Until June 12; Primaries Sept. 10

Candidates for state and county offices cannot file until June 12 this year because of a change made in the law at the last session of the legislature.

Previous to this change, candidates could file immediately after the first of the year and in many cases the political pot would begin to simmer early.

Now, however, the law provides that filings cannot be made previous to 90 days before the primary election, which this year will be held September 10, the date of the election having likewise been changed. Filings, the law also provides, close not later than 40 days preceeding the primary election, in this case July 31.

Thus candidates cannot file before June 12 nor later than July 31 and the primary election will be held September 10. The general election as usual is held the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November, this year on November 5.

BOARD OF EDUCATION ALLOTS INSURANCE AT MEETING MONDAY

Minnesota School Board association to be conducted in the Nicollet Hotel, Minneapolis, February 7, 8 and 9.

Also accepted were the work of the Commonwealth Electric company, as well as of the Twin City Scenic company, which supplied equipment for the auditorium stage.

Angling for Crappies in Lighted Shelters Is Not Law Violation

Angling for crappies in lighted fish houses or shelters is permitted by law, according to a ruling handed down by the attorney general's office at the request of E. R. Starkweather, deputy director of the division of game and fish and in charge of law enforcement.

Several requests for an interpretation of the law in this particular have been received by Mr. Starkweather and since some difference of opinion had developed, he asked a ruling by the attorney general. Angling is the only method permitted by law of fishing crappies, but the angling may be done in shelters and fish houses not darkened, is the ruling. The fish house season is from Dec. 1 to Feb. 1.

Another hunting regulation about which there appears to be some confusion is that pertaining to licenses for hunting rabbits. The division's ruling is that it is necessary to have a hunting license to shoot rabbits—except that the owner of the land may hunt rabbits thereon without one.

You spot the fun possibilities in this brilliant and buoyant Buick just by watching it flash by, but have you been in to try it?

Do you know what it's like — first hand, we mean — to have a hundred-plus Dynaflash horsepower waiting your treadle-foot's nudge? Have you sampled the thrill in such an engine micro-poise-balanced to smoothness a wrist watch can't hope to equal?

Today's winter-roughened roads give you swell chance to try out BuiCoil Springing's gentle ride — raw weather emphasizes the stout snugness of Unisteel Bodies by Fisher and the convenience of the Flash-Way Direction Signal.

Then too, driving speeds are naturally lower now and driving distances shorter, making this the best time of all to get a car properly started in life.

So figure it out! It's a new year. You've turned a new leaf. Ask your Buick dealer what a new Buick will cost you now — and let every month of 1940 contribute to a happy new year!

CITES RULING ON BRINGING CATTLE INTO THIS COUNTY

County Agent Grow Tells of New Regulations by Livestock Board

An important ruling relating to the bringing of cattle into a modified Bang's Disease-free Accredited County was amended by the Minnesota State Livestock Sanitary Board on January 3, 1940. The amendment was approved by the attorney general on January 4, 1940, and now is effective in Pennington county, states Howard E. Grow county agent.

"The State law and the rules and regulations of the State Live Stock Sanitary Board provide that when the testing of cattle for Bang's disease is started the area shall be placed under quarantine and no cattle can be imported into such counties except in compliance with the following requirements."

(a) Steers may be imported without having passed a negative agglutination blood test for Bang's disease, under a special permit issued by the secretary and executive officer of the Minnesota State Live Stock Sanitary Board to be placed in official quarantine by said board and held separate and apart from any other cattle.

(b) Cattle for the purpose of immediate slaughter may be imported into said counties without an approved health certificate including the record of a negative blood test for Bang's disease on a special permit issued by the secretary and executive officer of the Minnesota State Live Stock Sanitary Board; such cattle must be slaughtered within 10 days and during this period be held separate and apart from all other cattle.

(c) Cattle identified as coming from negative herds in modified accredited Bang's disease-free areas or herds officially accredited Bang's disease-free, may be imported without being retested for Bang's disease, provided such cattle are apparently healthy and accompanied by a health certificate including the record of last official negative agglutination blood test.

(d) Cattle originating from negative herds in areas in the process of official accreditation as a Bang's disease-free accredited herd shall be required to pass a negative officially recognized agglutination blood test before importation into the county and be accompanied by an approved health certificate including the record of such test.

(e) All other cattle including calves except as provided in paragraphs a, b, c, and d shall be required to pass a negative officially recognized agglutination blood test for Bang's disease within 30 days prior to the date of entry and shall be maintained in quarantine separate from other cattle and be retested in not less than 30 or more than 60 days after the date of entry. If found free, they will then be released from quarantine.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

NOTHING UNFAIR ABOUT IT

Minnesota's lien law in connection with old age assistance went into effect the first of the year, a provision that was already in effect in most of the states. During the coming political campaign there will be much discussion of this law. Charges will be made that by this method the state is denying assistance to many deserving old people.

That is not the case however. The new law does not in any way affect the recipients of old age assistance. Only the heirs of those who receive old age assistance will be affected. In cases where the heirs are incapable of providing for themselves, the state will waive its rights to recover the money it has advanced.

We can see no injustice in the lien law. Old age assistance goes only to those old people who are incapable of supporting themselves and whose children are incapable or unwilling to support them. The assistance was not intended to be and is not in any sense a pension. It goes only to those who are in need.

There are many old people who have a little property but not enough income to provide for their needs. Such people will be permitted to enjoy the use of their property as long as they live. The lien law simply provides that when they no longer have use for the property the state may recover what it has advanced to them. If, at that time, local authorities decide the property should go to needy heirs then the state will relinquish its rights. There is nothing unfair about such an arrangement.

THE NEW SCHOOL

Thief River Falls will dedicate its new high school this evening. In referring to the new building it is difficult for us to restrain ourselves to a reasonable moderation. It would be easy to point with pride to the fact that it is the most costly structure ever erected here and that it is the most modern and best equipped school in quite a considerable area. We will not mention these things however. With becoming modesty we will state merely that the new school is another fine improvement to our good community and that it solves what for several years has been a disagreeable housing problem in our school district.

Those who attend the dedication exercises and inspect the building tonight will agree, we are sure, that in facilities provided the new school leaves little to be desired. There may possibly be some concern as to our ability to pay the bill. And that is a consideration that is always important.

The picture, financially, is not discouraging however. The school district's share of the cost was $185,000. We still owe $64,000 of old debt which makes our present total debt $249,000. The debt of the district has been higher. In the early twenties it was nearly $300,000. In the past fifteen years we have paid off more than $200,000 of that old debt. Under the schedule of future debt retirement our present total debt will be paid in nineteen years. Considering what we have done in the past, it seems reasonable that we will be able to meet this future obligation without too much difficulty. The fact that it calls for a low rate of interest will help materially. It should be possible to meet this obligation without increasing taxes.

The danger of increased costs is an indirect one. Operating costs may go up. People who have moved into finer homes discover that it was easier to hold general expenses down when they lived in more humble quarters. This is a problem we will have to face from year to year as we go along.

Right now we are well satisfied with the results and we believe the members of the school board and superintendent Morris Bye deserve a vote of thanks for their work in handling a difficult problem so satisfactorily.

To the average person power plant production figures do not mean much. The fact that the local plant turned out nearly four million kilowatts last year is about as important as the distance to the moon. No one knows what a kilowatt looks like and multiplying that by a few millions doesn't make the picture any more clear. Perhaps the comparative production figures over a period of years will be more impressive. Fifteen years ago, 1924, the plant production was less than one million kilowatts. Ten years ago, 1929, the total was slightly more than one and one-half millions. By 1934, five years ago, the total did not quite reach three millions and in 1939 it was nearly four millions. The increase during the past five years is greater than the entire production ten years ago. The production last year was four times as great as it was in 1924, just fifteen years ago. During the past ten years, with the exception of one year, the output has increased consistently each year at least ten per cent. That is an impressive record.

Maybe it is just as well that we have a little touch of winter now rather than in May. It is encouraging to know that the sun is already three weeks along on its northward journey.

Next week's skating show, the Olympic Ice Carnival, will be a different type of entertainment than that which has been presented in previous years by the Winnipeg skaters. The Olympic skaters, a professional troupe of entertainers, come well recommended and should present an interesting program with plenty of laughs in it. The performances are being sponsored by the Arena management and any profits will be credited to the rink. Which is important. The closer the rink can come to paying its own way the easier it will be to get it enlarged to the size it ought to be.

MAKING RELIEF HEREDITARY

(J. C. Morrison in The Morris Tribune)

It beats all how the opponents of Governor Stassen keep hammering away on the lien law for old age assistance passed by the last legislature. The law simply provides that after the death of a recipient of old age assistance and his spouse, the state shall, with certain exceptions, be reimbursed for the public assistance given out of such estate as the recipient leaves before the property descends to heirs. Certainly nothing could be more sensible and just. The property can escape a lien if children will undertake the old-fashioned and fundamental obligation of supporting their aged parents, and there is evidence that the lien law encourages the doing of that very thing.

Without such a restriction, public relief tends to become hereditary.

The right to public relief was made hereditary in ancient Rome in the year 274 A. D. under the Emperor Marcus Aurelius. It was just an illustration of the way in which public relief can get entirely out of hand. At the same time two pounds of bread were issued daily to all registered citizens who applied, and in addition pork, olive oil and salt were distributed at regular intervals. When Constantinople was founded, the right to relief was attached to the new houses in order to encourage building.

Human nature was not so different in those times from what it is today, and not so different today from what it was in those times. The Emperor Augustus introduced a means test for public relief in order to reduce the expense. He realized the pauperizing effects of the system, but he was up against it. His biographer, Suetonius, says that Augustus wrote "that he was inclined to abolish forever the public distribution of grain, for the people had come to rely upon it and had ceased to till the fields; but he had not proceeded further in the matter because he was sure that, from a desire to please the people, it would be revived at one time or another." Many persons did prefer relief to wages, and the system grew and grew until Rome finally arrived at the absurdity of making the right to relief hereditary.

It took Rome three hundred years to arrive at that point, but those who criticize the lien law here in Minnesota want to make the whole distance all in one jump.

It is smart to drive carefully. The dumbbell is the fellow who weaves in and out of traffic, drives into and across busy street intersections without slackening speed, backs out of parking without signalling, and ignores traffic signs.—Long Prairie Leader.

Favorite Beverage in Tibet

The principal beverage in Tibet is brick tea from China which is boiled in water flavored with soda. When thoroughly boiled, the mixture is taken out with a ladle and poured through a strainer into a churn. Butter and salt are added and the whole churned until it is well mixed after which it looks like cafe au lait. The consumption of this beverage among the Tibetans is enormous, most of them drinking from 30 to 50 cups a day. It is said to give a high power of resistance to both cold and hunger. Beer brewed from barley is another popular drink there.

PROWLERS DEFEAT EVELETH; TO PLAY CROOKSTON FRIDAY

Win Loosely Played Contest From Range Team by 36-23 Score

Playing a mixture of good and bad basketball, the fast-breaking Prowlers dedicated their new high school gymnasium last Friday night by defeating George Lee's Eveleth team by a comfortable 36 to 23 score, before a crowd of nearly 1300 fans. The Prowlers will open their district competition Friday evening when the Crookston Pirates will invade the local gym. The reserves will play Alvarado in a preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

Only in the opening minutes of play, when the golden-jerseyed Range team went into a two point lead, was the game in doubt, for from then on, with Wayne Bredeson sifting through the defense for 3 field goals, and 2 free throws; Ed Flasch looping in 5 free throws; Bob Kielty's field goal and 3 free throws; Loren Jung, who played a fine game, dropping in 2 field baskets; Si Kompelien's five points; Babe Peterson's field goal, scored on a set-up; Andy Anderson with a pair of free throws; and 2 field baskets and a free throw by Len Furuseth, the Prowlers pulled away from the scrappy Eveleth team, and kept the game pretty well in hand.

Fortunate it was for George Lee's boys that the Prowlers weren't 'on' in their basket shooting, for if they had been hitting the basket with their usual consistency, and playing ball up to their ability, the game could very well have turned into a rout.

Eveleth's two guards, Joe Rosi and captain Charley Mourin, were the most effective players for the Range team, with Rosi being high point man for the game with 9, while Mourin played a strong floor game.

In a preliminary game, the Newfolden high school team defeated a team of Prowler reserves, 28 to 21. Bob Althoff led the reserves in scoring with 10 points; and W. Anderson, with 13 points, was the high scorer for Newfolden.

Thieves Win Contest From Crookston 3-2

Losing to the Grafton Millionaires at Grafton Thursday night, 2 to 1, and winning a rough and tough game from the Crookston Pirates at Crookston Sunday afternoon, 3 to 2, the Thieves divided the two 'road' games played over the week-end.

With both teams playing fast and excellent hockey, the game at Grafton was exciting and in doubt until the final bell. After a scoreless first period, Lindsay, in the second period, sent the Grafton club into a one goal lead when his blazing shot from the blue line went into the net. The Millionaires increased this lead to two goals in the third period, when Brazier, on an assist from Beaulieau, scored. George Beverly and Alex Tickle collaborated to score the lone goal for the locals. Paul Kornek ran into a mess of penalties, getting three in the second period.

With the Pirates scoring goals in the first eight minutes of play Sunday, the Thieves were forced to make a stubborn fight to win. The game, which was rough, as is usually the case with Crookston and Thief River games, saw Walt Gerzen, the Pirate defense man who scored both of Crookston's goals, given a major penalty, for taking a punch at Paul Kornek, and throwing his stock at referee Bjork. Scoring for the Thieves were Kornek and Len Russell, with Russell getting two counters, the last, which won the game, being a snipe shot from a face-off in front of the Crookston net.

SPORTS Tid-Bits

By Huck Olson

Clayton Taylor, from Hibbing, and Snooks Julien, who is considered a 'home-towner', are the only "foreigners" on the hockey team. All the rest—Russell, Tickle, Beverley, Ewbank, Kornek, Popiel, Novak, Mitchell and Bronson—are Canadians, from Winnipeg.

Eveleth high school has 14 hundred dollars worth of hockey equipment, so you can understand why George Lee is having his troubles in getting the school basketball-minded. It's all hockey up there.

When Wayne Bredeson neatly flipped in a free throw in the opening minutes of the game last Friday night, he was given the honor of scoring the first official varsity point in the new gym. Actually the first recorded point was credited to left-handed Len Lorentson who, playing with the Prowler reserves against Newfolden, dropped in a free throw.

Ken Manahan's three basted-in upper teeth are still with him, and he doesn't know if they have been pulled out or not. He isn't chewing much beefsteak with them, and that's sure.

Here's what publicity will do to a guy: Wally DuChamp won't put on his baseball act unless there is cash on the barrel-head.

I've caught myself another touch of pleurisy, so I imagine that I'll have to spend a week or two in bed. I hate to miss the Pirate vs. Prowler basketball game tomorrow night, because the Prowlers are going to whip the Pirates by about 14 points, by a score of 42 to 28. It's easy for me to get a 42 point Prowler total, because Ed Flasch will score 10 points, Bob Kielty, 8, Wayne Bredeson, 8, Si Kompelien and Len Furuseth 6 each, and Loren Jung 4 points. Of course Andy and Babe and Bill may score some points too, but that will only be gravy.

TRUNK ROADS BEAR 71.3 PCT. OF RURAL TRAFFIC IN STATE

Minnesota Motorists Drove Nearly Six Billion Miles in 1938

Motorists travelled 3,732,528 motor vehicle miles on Minnesota rural highways in 1939, of which 2,672,505,000 motor vehicle miles were travelled on approximately 11,200 rural miles of the state trunk highway system, according to estimates of the state department of highways, based upon this year's gasoline consumption figures of the state oil inspector and previous travel studies of the state-wide planning survey.

This means that state trunk highways, comprising only 9.6% of Minnesota's total 118,000 miles of public roads, carry 71.3% of all rural traffic, while the 107,000 miles of county and township roads carry 28.7% of this traffic.

In addition to the 2,672,505,000 motor vehicle miles travelled on rural sections of the trunk highway system, 563,781,000 motor vehicle miles were travelled on urban extensions of trunk highways through municipalities of more than 1,000 population, making a total volume of 3,247,072,000 motor vehicle miles travelled on the trunk highway system, as compared to 1,060,023,000 motor vehicle miles travelled on all other rural roads and their municipal extensions. Of this latter figure, 868,129,000 motor vehicle miles were travelled on county roads and 201,898,000 on township roads, including in both instances extensions of these local roads in communities of less than 1,000 population.

Of the traffic utilizing rural state trunk highways, 1,142,233,000 motor vehicle miles were travelled by motor vehicles owned by persons residing in rural areas, including communities of less than 1,000 population, while 1,530,272,000 motor vehicle miles were travelled by automobiles and trucks originating in larger, incorporated municipalities, including the three large cities.

Of this rural trunk highway travel, Minneapolis motorists originated 357,140,000 miles, St. Paul, 178,210,000 and Duluth, 87,127,000, or a total of 622,478,000 miles. This means that more than 23% of the travel on Minnesota's rural trunk highways originates in the three large cities of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth.

New School Building Dedication Held Tonight

Supt. Bye Describes Features of Project

At the request of the Times, Supt. Morris Bye, who has more detailed information regarding the new Lincoln junior-senior high school than any other person, has prepared the following enlightening description of the structure, together with other relevant information:

The dedication of the new junior-senior high school this evening will mark the completion of a project that meets a long-felt need in Thief River Falls. The old Lincoln High School built in 1910 to seat 325 pupils, remodeled in 1930 to increase the seating capacity to 460, has been greatly overcrowded ever since 1932 when the enrollment reached 600. This new building will also house the pupils from the seventh and eighth grades who up until Christmas vacation of this year had been enrolled in the old Central, a building which was planned originally for a grade school and contained none of the facilities required for a modern junior high school course.

In the summer of 1937 the Board of Education reached the conclusion that the overcrowded condition of the Lincoln could not be tolerated any longer and something really should be done to provide more adequate and more modern facilities for the junior high school pupils. The Board started investigation of various firms of architects in the fall of 1937 and signed a contract with Toltz, King and Day, Inc., of St. Paul on Jan. 29, 1938, to draw the plans, write the specifications and supervise the construction of a new junior-senior high school.

Plans were prepared and approved by the Board in sufficient detail so that an application was made to the Public Works Administration on June 7, 1938 for a 45% grant to assist in the construction of a building to cost approximately $350,000. A 45% grant was made by the government of the United States on September 6, 1938 and on September 27, 1938, the voters of Independent School District No. 18 approved a bond issue of $185,000 by a vote of 976 to 39 to finance the school district's share of the cost.

Excavation in December, 1938

The project was actually started on December 6, 1938 when H. P. Lund and Sons began to excavate for the new building. The bids on construction were opened on January 26, 1939, and the contract for general construction was awarded to the Midwest Contracting Company of Minneapolis. The contract for mechanical work was awarded to the Carlson-Duluth Company of Duluth and the contract for electrical work was awarded to the Commonwealth Electric Company of St. Paul. Actual construction got under way on March 6, 1939, when the Midwest Contracting Company began work on the building. On January 4, 1940 the Board of Education accepted the building as substantially complete, and the building that the people will be invited to inspect tonight is finished with the exception of a few minor details.

As you enter the building you come into a brilliantly lighted front lobby with a ticket window and three trophy cases. The corridors in the building are all terrazzo, and along the walls are recessed lockers. All together there are 620 wardrobe lockers in the new building which together with 266 in the old building provides 886 lockers which is more than ample to provide an individual locker for every pupil in the junior-senior high school.

Auditorium Seats 1002

The auditorium seats 1002 and is so designed that all persons in the audience are fairly close to the stage and the pitch in the floor is sufficient to make it possible for everyone to see without difficulty. The lighting in the auditorium is all indirect and produces a very pleasing effect. The stage is 26 feet deep and has a proscenium opening of 50 feet. Curtains and scenery are provided to give three different sized stages. An outdoor scene and a cyclorama provide a large stage for concerts and plays. A rust colored olio curtain provides a shallower stage for speaking programs. The front curtain is gold and royal blue, the colors of the school.

The music room is located in the basement below the stage in the auditorium. This room is planned with particular attention to the acoustics, and you will find that there is acoustical tile on the ceiling and on the walls down to the wainscot trim. Four practice rooms are provided for individual and smaller group practice. These rooms are also acoustically treated. A large storage room with cabinets especially designed for the storage of all the instruments in a 75-piece band and their uniforms also forms part of the accommodations for music students.

Library on Second Floor

The library is located on the second floor in the south end of the east wing. This room is planned especially to be a beautiful room and a room conducive to studying. The ceiling has acoustical tile and the floor is covered with linoleum to make the room as quiet as possible. The light green color on the walls produces a cool, quiet, soothing effect and harmonizes very well with the dark brown recessed shelves. A work room and a charging desk with special builtin facilities are provided for the use of the librarian. The artificial lighting is indirect so that there is no glare at all when it becomes necessary to turn the lights on. The same type of lighting is used also in all the classrooms. The light fixtures are a polished aluminum and add materially to the attractiveness of the rooms.

The classrooms are designed to suit the type of work that should be done in each one. The sewing room has large two-pupil tables all facing one way. There is a fitting room and a storage room with cabinets to adequately store all materials and students' work. The cooking room has electric and gas ranges and stainless steel top sinks, and chromium trim tables and chairs arranged for nine unit kitchens.

Home Economics Features

In the home economics department is included a living room-dining room suite for demonstrating and for teaching homemaking practices. The biology and chemistry laboratory and the physics and general science laboratory have special equipment of the latest design and most approved type for the teaching of these subjects. Built-in cabinets provide storage for laboratory equipment and supplies needed in teaching the sciences. The art room has special desks that will facilitate the teaching of this subject and make it possible to include new courses in art in the high school curriculum.

The public speaking room has a stage with two small dressing rooms so that the seniors in their public speaking classes will have an excellent setting for practice. All the regular classrooms are of sufficient size to adequately seat the number of pupils that are to be accommodated in the various classes. The ceilings are all acoustically treated, the walls are harmoniously decorated, and the floors are sealed and waxed to produce a polished appearance.

Gym Widely Praised

Spectators who had an opportunity to see the basketball game between Thief River Falls and Eveleth on January 5 were loud in their praises of this part of the new structure. Folding bleachers and a permanent balcony provide seating capacity for 1686. A special balcony in the west end with an acoustically treated ceiling provides a place for the band from which they may be easily heard and readily seen. The playing floor is 84 feet by 50 feet, the maximum size for high schools. Every part of the playing floor is visible to every spectator in the room.

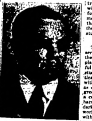
For physical education classes the folding bleachers are shoved up to the wall and a canvas curtain divides the gymnasium into two smaller gymnasiums. The east one will be used for girls physical education classes and the west one for boys physical education classes. A dressing room and shower rooms for the girls are provided under the balcony on the north side. Similar facilities are provided for the boys under the balcony on the south side. Dressing room arrangements for the boys also includes in addition to the physical education dressing room a team room and an equipment room.

Old Building Remodeled

Considerable remodeling has been done in the old building. In the south end two classrooms have been converted into metal and electrical shops with special equipment and furniture for teaching metal and electrical work. The old assembly room has been divided into four classrooms, two of which are a large size especially adapted for commercial work and the commercial department is located here. Many partitions have been moved so that all of the rooms that are used for classrooms are of adequate size for the classes that they house. Three classrooms in the basement have been converted into lunchrooms and the installation of a lunchroom counter and a small kitchen makes possible the serving of hot lunches at noon in a convenient manner. Tables and chairs to seat 150 students during the lunch hour are provided.

The total cost of the building is $315,733. The furniture and equipment purchased total $32,532, and interest of $5,500 on bond issue during the course of construction brings the total cost of the project to $353,767. A grant from the federal government takes care of $158,578 of this cost and the remaining $195,180 has been financed by the school district. $186,025 was received from a $185,000 bond issue and the sum of $9,155 has been paid from funds on hand.

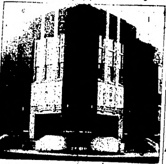
Architect on Program



W. E. KING

Of the firm of Toltz, King & Day, St. Paul architects who designed the Lincoln junior-senior high school. Mr. King will appear on the dedication program this evening, accepting the structure from the contractors and presenting it to Dr. A. E. Jacobson, president of the board of education.

Imposing Entrance to New Lincoln Building



A pleasing combination of tapestry brick and whitestone trim gives a highly attractive and impressive appearance to the main entrance of the new school structure. The steps and doorways are amply wide to avoid congestion at any time.

ICC DENIES PLEA OF G. N. TO STOP SERVICE TO WYLIE

As Result, Occasional Service From St. Hilaire Will Continue

Announcement was received locally this week that the Interstate Commerce commission had denied the petition of the Great Northern railway for permission to abandon service on the stub line extending from St. Hilaire to Wylie. A hearing on the matter was conducted at the court house in this city last September. As a result of the decision, occasional service to Wylie will continue as in the past. Mainly affected is the Wylie Farmers cooperative elevator and its farmer patrons.

Atty. General Murphy Named to Supreme Court

President Roosevelt last Thursday nominated Attorney General Frank Murphy as his fifth appointee to the supreme court. Senate confirmation of the lean Michigan new dealer as an associate justice will put a solid majority of Roosevelt appointees on the court. The president also nominated Solicitor General Robert J. Jackson to succeed Murphy as attorney general, and Judge Francis J. Biddle of the third U. S. Circuit court of appeals to be solicitor general.

An enlightening talk on deer and their habits was given by Game Warden William Borchert at the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday noon in the Evelyn hotel. President A. J. Rau announced that the next meeting of the club will be held Thursday evening, January 18, at 6:30, at which time District Governor Mandus R. Vevle of Owatonna will be the guest of honor.

FIRST ASSEMBLY HELD IN LINCOLN H. S. AUDITORIUM

Acoustics Held Excellent Following Program Monday

A total of 875 Lincoln junior-senior high school students, assembled in the new school auditorium Monday morning, found ample room in the spacious room, which has seating accommodations for 1002 persons. The Lincoln high school band, directed by Glendon Ahre, played a group of selections, and the acoustics of the auditorium were found to be excellent. Supt. Morris Bye, who presided, gave a brief history of the building project, and explained various features of the new structure, while W. G. Claffy, principal of the high school, discussed changes in the school program. Miss Ruth F. Nelson, music supervisor, supplied vocal selections.

ALBINO SQUIRREL OFTEN MISTAKEN FOR RAT

Hopkins.—Most people mistake Stanley Pivec's albino squirrel for a white rat. But the animal's bushy tail, kangaroo-like stance, and love for nuts of all kinds, identifies it as a squirrel. It's white fur, pink ears and eyes deceive the first observer. The rare specimen was caught four weeks ago by Mr. Pivec.

History of School Dates Back 57 Years

The history of educational facilities in the Thief River Falls community dates back 57 years, it is revealed in a review of the local school system prepared in 1908 by J. H. Hay, then superintendent of schools.

"The first school taught in this city, then District 107", Mr. Hay wrote, "was a three-months term in 1883, with Miss Helen Wallis as teacher. A building in the grove near the iron bridge was used, the furniture consisting of a drygoods box for a desk, and planks resting on powder kegs for the seats. The enrollment was ten children, eight of the LaBree family and two of Lyman Clark's children.

"Miss Wallis taught but one term here, and then continued in country districts until 1890, when she was again engaged for this district and taught in a building that had been erected on West Third st. The attendance was now so large that the first building used was bought and moved to the corner of First st. and Horace av., and Miss Helen Davies was engaged to teach a higher grade.

"The first school board elected in 1883 included John LaBree, director; Ed LaBree, clerk; and Dennis Connely, treasurer.

"The growth of the town was so rapid that in 1893 lots were purchased and the Central school building erected and more teachers employed. Expansion continued until in 1908 three buildings of eight to ten rooms each were in use, and 25 teachers employed with an attendance of 1100 pupils.

"The first school on the east side, District 58, was taught by O. T. Tandberg, commencing in 1894 in a dwelling house. The school board included W. I. McCrum, director; Oscar Anderson, clerk; and August Brown, director. The district erected the two west rooms of the Knox school building on lots donated by C. J. Knox the same year, with Mrs. William Proctor as teacher. Early in 1896 the building burned to the ground, and was rebuilt that summer, with a two-room addition constructed in 1900. In 1903 the district was united with District 107 to form Independent School District No. 18."

The subsequent history of the district is reviewed as follows by Supt. Morris Bye in an article prepared in the fall of 1938:

In 1901 the school property consisted of the Central school, the old Knox building, and six lots in Block 28 which is the block situated between Main and Knight avenues and between Third and Fourth streets. The total value of this school property was $12,000.00 and the bonded debt was $9,300.00. There was also some floating indebtedness, the amount of which is hard to determine at the present time.

Soon after the organization of the district as an independent school district the people started thinking of providing a high school. On the 20th day of February, 1902, bonds were sold to provide funds for building the Washington school which was to be used for high school purposes. The Washington building served as a high school for a number of years until it became apparent that a larger building would be required to house the high school. So in 1910 the Lincoln high school building was started and finished in 1911. This building was planned for approximately 325 students. It seemed at the time to be sufficiently large for all future needs.

After the erection of the Lincoln High School the Washington building was changed into a grade school. Grade school children were housed in the old Knox building, the Central school and the Washington School until 1917 when it became necessary to provide additional room. The Northrop elementary school was built during that year. The elementary enrollment continued to grow, however, and in 1921 it became necessary to replace the old Knox building and put up the present Knox school which is a modern type elementary school.

The Lincoln building, which had seemed so large in 1910 was soon filled to capacity and by 1922, when the enrollment passed the 400 mark, the building really became very crowded. In 1930, when the enrollment reached 475, the board of education realized that some additional space would have to be provided. So it was decided to remodel a one-story addition to the Lincoln known as the Industrial building so that part of it would be available for class room space. This increased the capacity of the building from 325 to about 460, which met the needs in a measure at the time. Within two years, however, the enrollment had further increased to 600 so that the building was just as crowded as it had been before. This crowded condition has prevailed during the last six years. The present enrolment is 606 which is the largest we have had at this time of the year."

Inspector for PWA

Who during the construction of the Lincoln junior-senior high school building served as inspector for the Public Works Administration, which aided in financing the work. Mr. Scherer displayed a notably cooperative spirit in serving as a connecting link between the project and the Omaha PWA office.

Motorists' Warned Not to Depend Too Heavily on Lines on Pavement

"Obey the white lines but do not rely upon them entirely for your safety." This is the warning issued to motorists this week by Elden Rowe, chief of the Minnesota Highway patrol.

The white line method of marking "no passing" zones, adopted early this year, has been so valuable an aid to safe driving conditions, and so well accepted by the public, Mr. Rowe said, that now many motorists have come to depend upon the white lines to indicate all danger spots and in numerous cases assume that they can pass other vehicles safely on any section of road not marked with the white line.

Mr. Rowe pointed out that the white line system of marking "no-passing" zones is not complete over the 11,000 miles of the trunk highway system and there are many sections of road which are not so marked. He urged all motorists, therefore, to exercise caution in overtaking and passing cars ahead and to refrain from passing unless they have ample safe site distance ahead.

HEAD OF BOARD COMMENTS ON NEW BUILDING

Dr. A. E. Jacobson Points Out Acute Need for New Structure

PRAISES SUPT. BYE FOR CONTRIBUTIONS

Invites Public to Attend Dedication Ceremony This Evening

"The completion of the new junior-senior high school building marks the fulfillment of a need that has long been felt in our school system", says Dr. A. E. Jacobson, president of the board of education, in a statement today. "The old Central building has served the community for a long period of time, and dates from a period when the requirements of the State Department of Education were not as exacting as they are today. The large increase in the number of students who seek high school training has taxed the old Lincoln high school building far beyond its capacity. With the pressure brought to bear upon the board of education, both by the local conditions and the state department of education, it was deemed necessary and vital to expand the school plant in order to meet the community needs.

"It is not a pleasant task to incur indebtedness, but the generous response of the school district in voting a bond issue to be used in conjunction with a grant from the federal government, was an indication that this school project was considered a vital necessity, and justified the expenditure involved. Your board has used its best judgments and spared no effort in order that the best possible physical plant could be secured. We realized that a building of this nature must serve the community for a long time. It is planned and constructed with that objective in mind. As the building stands today we feel satisfied that we have a structure that fills our need for the present, is well and substantially constructed, and will be adequate for a considerable period of time.

"We are happy that we can at this time join with you in formally opening the building for its intended use. The structure as we see it now is just preliminary to the actual building that will go on within these walls for years to come. That is the building that each boy and girl will erect as his or her personality and vision grows and expands. Our investment is measured in tangible dollars; the returns that accrue to us, as the boys and girls use this physical plant to build for themselves better opportunities in life, though intangible at first, will be multiplied year after year in a better trained and better equipped citizenry.

"We would like to acknowledge with thanks and appreciation the kindly interest that has been shown by the public in this project. Many helpful suggestions have been made by teachers, technicians, and interested individuals in the community. Some of these suggestions have been found of value and have been incorporated into the building; others have been found to be impractical. Much credit is due Mr. Bye for the numerous contributions he has made, and his deligence in carrying the work thru to completion.

"With a feeling of deep gratitude for the opportunity that has been given us to serve our community, and with the hope that we have justified the confidence and faith that you have placed in us, we would now, with you, look forward to years of practical benefits and profitable use of this enterprise that has occupied our interest these last ten months, and that is now your school, my school, our school.

New Structure Cost Total of $353,000

The new Lincoln junior-senior high school was completed at a cost of approximately $353,000, Supt. Morris Bye announced today. Of this amount, he explained, $316,000 represents the cost of the building itself, while furniture and equipment involved the expenditure of $32,500 with bond interest during the course of construction amounting to $5,500.

Of the total cost the Public Works Administration supplied grants aggregating approximately $158,000, leaving a net cost to the school district of $195,000. Of this amount $185,000 was supplied by a bond issue, while the remaining $10,000 was paid out of funds on hand.

Completion of the new addition to the local school system leaves School District 18 with a bonded indebtedness of $249,000. This compares with a funded debt of $295,000 in 1921 when the Knox school was completed, at which time taxable valuations in the school district were materially less than at the present time.

Superintendent Bye reports that as a result of taking the seventh and eighth grades into the high school it is expected that added state aids of $5,300 will be received, which sum will be adequate to defray the added cost of operation of the enlarged school plant, thus placing no added burden on the tax payers of the district.

Steps In Progress Of New High School

Steps toward the realization of the new Lincoln junior-senior high school date back two years to January, 1938, when the board of education selected the architectural firm of Toltz, King & Day of St. Paul to draw plans for the projected structure. The files of the Times reveal that the project proceeded as follows:

September, 1938—The Public Works administration approved a grant in the amount of $153,818.

September 27—Voters of the school district approved the issuance of $185,000 bonds by a margin of 674 to 39.

November 10—The bond issue was sold to a Minneapolis syndicate on the basis of a net interest rate of 2.92 per cent.

December 19—The board of education approved final detailed plans for the new building.

January 25, 1939—The general construction contract was awarded to the Midwest Contracting company of Minneapolis on its net bid of $234,122, the lowest of fourteen bids submitted.

March 7—Preliminary construction work got under way.

April 2—First cement was poured for the foundation.

July—The board purchased the major part of the equipment for the new building.

September 16—An additional PWA grant of $4,709 was made to aid in financing the purchase of equipment.

December 11—The building was reported as being 90 per cent completed.

BANDIT TALKS IN THE WRONG PLACE

Hutchinson.—Ed Michener, the fifth and last of the gang that robbed a hardware store here, talked too much and as a result is in the county jail at Glencoe. The bandit was sitting in a Minot, N. D., night club booth bragging to a companion about his past exploits. What he didn't know was that a deputy sheriff in the next booth was listening to his conversation. His arrest and return here followed.

Doctors Tell of 1940 Drive on Small Pox and Diphtheria Ailments

The New Year will see a statewide effort on the part of physicians of the state to see that Minnesota children are protected from small pox and diphtheria.

Preliminary announcements of this campaign were made by the Minnesota State Medical association's committee on public health education today.

"Diphtheria and small pox, terrors of the mothers and grandmothers of this generation, will never again occur in epidemic form in Minnesota if the simple preventives now available are used for every baby born in the state", according to this bulletin. "The fact that cases of both still appear, though in greatly diminished numbers, is sufficient evidence that many people still go unprotected and a new effort is needed".

Approximately 450 cases of small pox occurred in Minnesota in 1939, the bulletin announced, and there were 12 deaths, the year before, from diphtheria. None of these illnesses and deaths should have occurred, the doctors believe, and that is why, in cooperation with the State Board of Health they are planning to organize community campaigns for immunization and vaccination this year.

About the only place a sit-down strike would be worthwhile today is among the standing armies of Europe.

SMALL BOY, PLUS THIN ICE CAUSES REAL SCARE

Waconia.—When a small boy wandered out on the thin ice of Church Lake he innocently scared many people. Because of unseasonable weather the ice was still very thin. The boy's father and a group of spectators gathered on the shore. The father tried the ice, but it would not hold him. The rescuers were helpless and the only method of rescue to pursue was to plead with the lad to return. Finally, after long anxious moments he strolled nonchalantly back to shore. Sighs of relief were heaved by all.

Marketing Specialist Speaks

Quite a few people missed hearing Mr. Devoracek, marketing specialist from the Cities speak at the last Farmers Club meeting on Thursday, Jan. 4. Mr. Devoracek was formerly the County Agent from Beltrami County.

Mr. Devoracek showed on a chart, how after every spell of high prices there would follow a spell of low prices. He plainly showed that people benefited nothing from the high prices during the last war because all was evened up during the depression and recession during the last ten years. He asked, "Are we ready to react to war psychology?" He said that he was afraid we were. That it is proven during September when the price of sugar rose from $5 to $7.50 per hundred in one week, simply because everyone remembered the last war and demand of sugar was so acute. He stated positively that even though this war was to last, it will not have the effect on prices as the last war because steps are being taken to stop just that. As a result of the demand for sugar in September the tariff on sugar was reduced. Another factor that will help stabilize prices is that Great Britain and France have already agreed to buy together, thus eliminating competition there.

Mr. Devoracek said that there are plenty of wants, not luxuries, wants—that are not satisfied. The limiting factor is, money. Because of brisker demands from abroad industries have picked up and buying power for farm products has increased. Then Mr. Devoracek went into detail explaining the price situation in regard to each type of farm animal. He was indeed a very instructive speaker and we'd welcome a talk from him again sometime.

Mr. Dale Smith assistant county agent of Beltrami made two announcements, first that the compulsory test for Bang's Disease would begin now; that this locality was divided into five sections, with five local assistants for each section; second that Farm and Home Week is this month in the Cities and any persons wanting to go down should leave their name with Russell Theiling and then ways and means of a group going together could be worked out. Accommodations are very reasonable. Most anyone can go quite easily on $10 or $12, and it is fun as well as instructive.

President Russell Theiling announced that Mr. Vance, who writes for the Farmer will be here to speak on February 15. This will be a very unusual treat, so don't forget the date.

George Hanson ended the program with two songs, "Out On That Utah Trail" and "It Makes No Difference Now". No lunch was served, the Gatzke Ramblers furnished the music.

Baby Notes

We believe the first baby born in 1940 in or near Grygla to be Larry Gordon, born January 8 to Mr. and Mrs. E. "Bud" Holbrook. Larry Gordon is not only an eight pound baby, but he also timed his arrival to coincide with his father's birthday.

Janice Ray is the name chosen for the girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Worne at St. Lukes hospital on December 28.

Elaine Faye, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Portwine of Esplee was baptized by Rev. Baumann at services at the Bethel church a week ago Sunday. Her sponsors were Mrs. Tucker and Richard Kiso.

Eileen Harriet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Swen Englund, was baptised at the Christmas services at the Bethesda church by Rev. Oatby.

Last Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harold McMillan, Ray and Maxine of Gatzke visited at the A. J. Anderson home.

Forestry Division for 1939 Reports Only Few Fire Losses in State

The fire prevention forces of the Minnesota conservation department's forestry division are receiving high commendation for their 1939 record of a complete absence of serious forest blazes in 1939 in the face of an unusually hazardous season.

Contrasted with a normal fire fighting season of about seven and one half months out of the 12, the division last year was kept on the jump putting out fires from the last week in March until a few days before Christmas—or practically 10 months.

A. E. Pimley, veteran head of the division's fire fighters, avers the past season was one of the most unusual in several respects that he can recall. The almost complete lack of precipitation and abnormally high temperature throughout the fall and early winter, presented extraordinary fire hazards, and kept the field forces fighting incipient as well as threatening, blazes right up to Dec. 18.

Chinese as Fishermen

The Chinese use 120 different methods of fishing, the most ingenious being accomplished by the use of a boat with a white board hanging over one side and a net propped up on the other. For some unknown reason, says Collier's Weekly, the fish leap at this board gleaming in the moonlight, and land in the boat. Powerful leapers that would clear it are stopped by the net.

STATE HIGHWAYS TO GET $5,000,000 FEDERAL ROAD AID

Increased Assistance for Current Year Seen by Road Chief

Under its new policy of performing all possible trunk highway construction work by open, competitive contract instead of under the "maintenance betterment" system formerly widely used, the Minnesota Highway department will be able to take advantage of more than $5,000,000 additional federal money this year, M. J. Hoffman, state highway commissioner, disclosed today.

This will mean utilizing for 1940 trunk highway improvements approximately $1,279,000 more federal money than was included on 1939 contracts and $1,550,000 more than was used on 1938 contracts.

Despite the greater percentage of federal money made convertible into highways by a combination of new construction policies, rigid economies and drastic restraints on other expenditures effected during the past year, and despite the fact that the highway department this year will receive the last financial benefits from the full four-cent gas tax which expires September 1, the state will still lack sufficient revenues to match some $2,600,000 of the total federal highway funds now available for trunk highway improvements. Likewise, still another $1,400,000 of federal aid secondary road money, allotted for use of Minnesota counties in improving county roads, off the trunk highway system lies dormant for lack of local revenues with which the counties must match it.

Since $4,280,428 of 1941 fiscal allotments, recently apportioned by the Federal Works Administrator, are available July 1 of this year and can be contracted at once, Minnesota now has to its credit, if it could match them, approximately $7,648,000 of unobligated federal funds for actual state trunk highway construction. This total remains after costs of such items as the Statewide Highway Planning Survey have been deducted, and does not include the additional $1,400,000 awaiting matching by the counties.

University Farm, Home Week Opens January 15

Outstanding entertainment and practical instructive classwork will be the rule of the week when the University of Minnesota Department of Agriculture at University Farm in St. Paul throws open its doors January 15 to usher in the fortieth annual Farm and Home Week.

Expected to be "the" week of the year for more than 3,600 of the state's rural population, it will roll into one big 5-day program the greatest array of classes in agriculture and homemaking, speakers of national reputation, and entertainment ever scheduled at a Minnesota short course.

For Minnesota homemakers there is practical, up-to-the-minute information on all phases of homemaking. Many will find added interest in the extensive program offered by the horticulture, poultry, and other University Farm divisions.

Name Helena Means 'Light'

Helena, while essentially the same as the Greek Helen and meaning "light," is considered a different name because it has an added syllable, giving it more stateliness. St. Helena was the mother of Constantine the Great. Legend says that she dug on Calvary and found the true cross.

DOG AIDS RESCUE OF HIS MASTER

Eveleth.—A dog, a little Manchester terrier, helped save the life of his master, Sergeant Anthony Zakrajsek, who nearly succumbed to carbon monoxide while working in the garage at the rear of his residence. A neighbor, attracted to the garage by the dog's insistent barking, pulled the unconscious sergeant out of the garage. Artificial respiration was administered, and the victim was taken home to recover from the effects of his near-fatal accident.

Central Cooperative Livestock Co. Will Pay 30 Per Cent Dividend

A patronage refund of 30 per cent of commissions collected in 1939, amounting to $126,392.66 will be paid to members of the Central Cooperative Association, livestock sales agency of South St. Paul, Minn. and West Fargo, North Dakota, it was announced by the board of directors at a board meeting held in South St. Paul, Thursday, January 4. In addition to the 30 per cent refund, an 8 per cent stock dividend will be paid, this being the maximum permitted to be paid under the cooperative laws of Minnesota.

This makes the nineteenth annual refund and dividend to be paid by the Central and makes a total of over $1,900,000.00 actual cash to be paid to member patrons since the association was organized in 1921. As the year 1939 closed membership in the Central Cooperative Association included approximately 30,000 individual preferred stockholders and 600 cooperative shipping associations which own common stock.

The 1939 dividend and refund checks will be ready for mailing from the South St. Paul office within six to eight weeks.

MINNESOTA AUTO FATALITIES TOTAL 554 DURING 1939

3185 Lives Lost in State in Past Six Years, Report Indicates

A total of 554 deaths resulted from motor vehicle accidents in Minnesota during the year just closed, according to provisional figures released this week by W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the state highway department. This represents a saving of 55 human lives under the total of 609 deaths recorded during 1938 and is the lowest annual death loss since the highway department instituted its tabulations in 1934.

Encouraging as is the 1939 record, nevertheless the gruesome side of the picture is disclosed when it is revealed that a total of 3,185 lives have been wiped out in Minnesota during the past six years as a result of traffic accidents. This represents a number of men, women and children comparable to the entire population of a city such as Grand Rapids, Lake City, Marshall or Sauk Center or 750 more than the total population of Cook county. However, if the 1934 rate had continued during the past year the 1939 total would have been 290 higher than the 554 lives lost.

"Based upon the number of deaths occuring for each 100 million gallons of gas consumed on travel upon Minnesota highways," said Mr. Rosenwald, "the 1939 rate of 10.4 is the lowest recorded during the past six years. The lowest previous rate was in 1938, when a mark of 11.9 was set. The death rate in 1934 was 15.8 when 641 people were killed. Last year's mark is the result of six years of active work on the part of Minnesota motorists, safety groups and the highway department to reduce this unnecessary toll of human destruction."

The month of October led in the number of traffic fatalities, the report indicates, with a total of 68 deaths. Other high months were September with 67, July with 61, November with 60, and December with 55, the latter figure being provisional. January, March and April shared the honors for the fewest number of deaths, with 26 fatalities being recorded in each of the three months.

DOG READS AD— RETURNS HOME

Sleepy Eye.—Leo Fritz lost his pet Boston Bull Terrier "Stubby." Four days Leo lingered on the verge of a heartbreak. However one evening, a few hours after the local paper had hit the streets (Leo had inserted an ad for the pooch), a customer opened the door of Leo's cafe and in bounded Stubby. There is, of course, one strange aspect to the case. If Stubby read the ad, who taught him to read

2000 Bu. of Registered Seed to be Distributed by Crookston Station

Two thousand bushels of registered seed grain will be available for distribution from the Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston, for 1940 planting according to E. R. Clark, seed specialist at the Station.

The annual pure seed distribution announcement, released from the station January 6 lists seven recommended varieties, including Nakota, Gopher, Anthony, and Rusota oats; Mindum durum and Thatcher wheat; and Bison flax.

Nakota oats, a hull-less variety, was first distributed in Minnesota last year. It is especially desirable for feeding poultry and young pigs. Rusota and Anthony are rust-resistant midseason varieties, and Gopher is a stiff-strawed early-maturing variety— recommended for extremely rich soil. Pure seed of Thatcher wheat, handrogued to remove all admixtures of other types of wheat, will be offered to growers who wish to improve their stock of this standard rust-resistant variety. A pure stock of Bison, highest yielder among the flax varieties, will also be available.

Preference will be given to growers who will use the seed for foundation stock and who have adequate facilities for recleaning and storing the crop produced. The Experiment Station is cooperating with county agricultural extension offices and high school agricultural departments in pure seed production programs.

CHICKEN TAKES A RIDE NEAR CHASKA

Chaska. — A new experience came to one little hen from Chanhassen township recently when she chose to come to town to view the sights. Mrs. Hen was apparently perched on the rear bumper of the family car when the farmer's wife started for Chaska. The three mile trip at thirty-five to forty miles an hour didn't shake her off. It was not until the car had been parked in the business section for about thirty minutes that the presence of the chicken caused passersby to investigate. Either she was too scared to leave the bumper or she was just waiting for the ride home.

EMIL FISHES FOR PERCH PULLS OUT CAR

Elysian.—Emil Loose and brother-in-law John Wagner went fishing on Lake Elysian and Emil really had something to pull out before he came home. Emil parked his car at Kapaun's point, but while fishing glanced up to see the vehicle coming down the grade toward the water. The car plunged into the water and stopped when it struck the ice, thus evading a twelve-foot drop off in the lake nearby. With the aid of a team, the car was pulled out.

Participating in the discussion will be Victor Christgau, director of the division of employment and security; Fred M. Wilcox, regional director of the Federal Social Security Board and Walter W. WEDNESDAY JINX FOR AUTO DRIVERS HERE

Waseca.—It seems rather unusual to note that four serious accidents have occurred near Waseca on Wednesday afternoons or early evenings during the past two months. In one accident alone 11 people were hurt, some seriously. In others of these accidents, some of the occupants were victims of death. Accidents will happen, but the worst seem to happen around here on Wednesday.

Evidently, the bandit does not eat ham, for he left an eight pound smoked ham in the car. Bob is sorry that the ham did not prove satisfactory to the bandits.

Governor Stassen Will Deliver Address Evening of February 7

The Red River Valley Winter Shows to be held in connection with the Northwest School Farmers' Week at Crookston, February 5 to 9, will equal or exceed all previous records in the number of entries according to President T. M. McCall of the Winter Shows Board of Managers. Records of the 1939 show indicated that 745 head of livestock in the open and 4-H Club classes; 642 samples of grain and over 600 birds were on display to make the 1939 shows the best in the history of the Winter Shows.

The growth of the livestock show cannot continue until additional stall space is acquired. The poultry show filled the exhibit hall to capacity last year, additional tables and racks will be provided for new crop exhibits. More than $6000 in prizes will be paid exhibitors at the 1940 Shows.

The livestock sale will be held on Thursday, February 8, beginning at 1:30 p. m. Sixty head of purebred cattle, sheep and swine have already been listed for the sale, the listings for the sale will be closed on January 15, the final entry date for the livestock show.

The livestock breeders program will be held on Wednesday, February 7, with Dean W. C. Coffey of University Farm, St. Paul, heading the program. Representatives from the swine grading division of the department of agriculture in Manitoba and the meat packers of Minnesota will discuss the grading, slaughtering, and marketing of cattle and swine.

The Red River Valley Development Association banquet honoring Governor Harold E. Stassen will be a feature of the dinner program on Wednesday, February 7, followed in the evening by the anniversary pageant of the crops show and the main address of Governor Stassen.

A full program of 4-H Club activities has been arranged by Miss Ann Thorbeck, regional director of 4-H Club work.

MAIL SACKS ARE VICTIM TO TRAIN WHEELS

Lake City.— The early mail train sailed through while the railway mail clerks stood in the doors of the mail cars tossing out sacks of letters and cards addressed to Lake Citians. Two of the sacks failed to clear the train far enough and fell beneath the cars onto the tracks. The sacks and their contents were ripped to pieces by the train wheels. Attempts were made to piece together all the mail possible. The plan, however, was not too successful.

No Soda in Soda Water

Soda water is a misnomer. There is no soda in it. It is simply plain water that has been charged with gaseous carbon dioxide under high pressure. The bubbles that rise when it is poured into a glass are carbon dioxide gas.

F-L SPEAKERS IN CITY ASSAIL STASSEN RULE

Paul Rasmusson Principal Speaker at Conference Held Monday

PRAISES RECORDS OF GOV. OLSON, BENSON

Berve, Harold Peterson, Day and Melby Also Were on Program

Addressing a gathering of 150 men and women from five Northwest counties at a Farmer-Labor conference in the Sons of Norway hall Monday afternoon, Paul A. Rasmusson, former state budget commissioner and prospective candidate for the governorship this fall, delivered a blistering attack on the record of Governor Harold E. Stassen and some of his appointees.

The meeting was arranged under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Farmer-Labor club, and the presiding officer was Mrs. Laura Naplin, chairman of the club.

Mr. Rasmusson, a forceful speaker, praised the financial administration of the state under former Governors Floyd B. Olson and Elmer A. Benson, and declared that the credit for any improvement in the financial status since Stassen took over must be ascribed to the state income tax, four-cent gas tax and other Farmer-Labor legislation.

Assailing the homestead lien on recipients of old-age assistance which went into effect the first of the year, Rasmusson charged that the state is setting up one standard for the poor and another for the rich. In this connection he cited the legalizing last year of a 36 per cent interest rate on small loans.

Without alluding to court convictions of Farmer-Labor officials during the past year, the speaker declared that Stassen's hearings were conducted in a "warped, lopsided and unfair manner." At the same time he cited examples of alleged wrongdoing in the cases of certain Stassen appointees, including Alfred Luecke, Earl Haskins and Ralph Jerome.

Rasmusson repeated his statement, which has been denied by the governor, that the new home built by Stassen in South St. Paul cost $30,000.

Representative Harold L. Peterson of Willmar, secretary of the state Farmer-Labor association, spoke of alleged mistakes made by the Stassen administration, and of methods by which the Farmer-Labor party could capitalize on them during the coming campaign.

The program opened with a talk by H. O. Berve of this city, who declared the party is far from dead despite the setback it suffered in the 1938 election. Pointing out that in the last state election the Farmer-Labor party cast six times as many votes as the Democrats, he urged caution in proceeding with plans for fusing the two parties as has been suggested.

Representatives W. E. Day of Bagley and J. O. Melby of Oklee, also spoke briefly, pointing out the legislative achievements of the Farmer-Labor party and the sins of the Republicans.

Votes to Rent Old Central School from Board of Education

The city council, at an adjourned session Friday evening, approved a schedule of salaries for city employes, granting small increases in a few instances. The schedule is published in the council proceedings in this issue of the Times.

The council voted to arrange for the rental from the school district of the old Central school building, which will be devoted to the housing of various local agencies. By a vote of five to one the council voted to adhere to its former stand in opposition to bank nights in the local theatres.

Action was taken to deny the application of officers of the Community church for cancellation of part of the delinquent paving taxes on the church property.

EXPAND FACILITIES OF THE INSTITUTION

Continued Low Cost of Operating Sanatorium Is Revealed

Reviewing a year of substantial progress in the affairs of the Oakland Park sanatorium, the past year being featured by the completion of a substantial and much needed addition to the institution, the sanatorium commission at its annual meeting last Wednesday evening reelected Dr. O. F. Mellby to serve his 21st term as president of the group. Also named to succeed himself was Dr. H. M. Blegen of Warren, vice president.

STASSEN GIVES PEOPLE REPORT ON FIRST YEAR

Governor Cites Reduction in Strikes Under New Labor Act—

LISTS SAVINGS MADE IN STATE EXPENSES

Calls Attention to Numerous Deficits at Start of Past Year

Reviewing the first year of his administration, Governor Harold E. Stassen in a speech from St. Paul this past week listed among other achievements for the year the savings effected on state expenditures and the gains resulting from the reduction in strikes through conciliation under the new labor relations act.

Stassen quoted records of the U. S. Department of Labor to show that during 1936, 1937 and 1938 Minnesota had an average of more than 15,000 of its wage earners involved in strikes. During 1939, he reported, only 2,185 wage earners in Minnesota were involved in strikes. Loss of wages due to strikes in 1939, he added, was less than a seventh of the average in the three earlier years.

With the increase in peace in labor relations, the governor said, has come an increase in employment. He said his reports showed that there were 20,000 more employed on January 1, 1940 than on January 1, 1939.

Reporting the deficits existing in many state funds when the present administration began, Governor Stassen reviewed the steps that have been taken to put the state government on a sound, financial basis. Among the improvements he listed:

1. The state debt was reduced over $5,000,000 from January 1, 1939, to January 1, 1940. (The reduction from July 1, 1939, to July 1, 1940, will be $7,300,000.)

2. The 1939 legislature spending allowances for the present biennium were reduced $5,500,000 compared to the last biennium.

3. Finding that tax receipts will not be sufficient to meet ap-

The splendid new Lincoln junior-senior high school building was dedicated under auspicious circumstances last Thursday evening when 1500 persons assembled for the dedicatory exercises and remained to inspect the various features of the structure. Largest Carnivorous Animal

The Alaska brown bear, of the Alaska peninsula, is the world's largest carnivorous animal, says the American Wildlife Institute. Members of his species have been known to exceed 1,600 pounds in weight. The grizzly is perhaps better known than the big brown because of his wider native range. Next to the black bear, the grizzly was once more widely distributed than any other member of the family.

RED CROSS ISSUES BULLETIN CITING EUROPEAN STATUS

War Conditions in Finland and Poland Described by Relief Agency

Four months of war have laid a heavy hand of Europe, says a bulletin received from the American Red Cross by Mrs. Mary V. Shaw, local chairman. At this writing, it states, five nations are engaged in hostilities; one nation has fallen; at least six others are harboring refugees. As the war is prolonged, needs for relief from the outside world daily grow more acute.

"Europe's gravest relief problems today," says the bulletin, "center around the mass movement of populations and the confusion resulting from the disorganization of national life. To fulfill its international obligations, the American Red Cross has set up an emergency fund of $1,000,000 for impartial relief of the war-stricken. To date, $558,861 of this amount has been spent for war relief.

"From Helsinki comes word from Red Cross Representative Wayne Chatfield Taylor that hundreds of thousands of Finnish women, children and aged men, fleeing west from the danger zones, need immediate medical care and clothing. The threat of typhus and other oriental diseases has prompted Chairman Norman H. Davis to send two American physicians, stationed in Europe by the U. S. Public Health service, to Finland. Ten ambulances are being prepared in this country for immediate shipment to Helsinki.

"The problem confronting the Polish people is equally desperate. Approximately 150,000 non-combatants and refugee soldiers have fled to neighboring countries. Within German-occupied Poland, Red Cross representatives have found a scattered population gradually attempting to resume a normal mode of life."

Current Year Promises to be Healthful, Says Public Health Group

Barring unforseen and major catastrophes, 1940 promises to be a healthful year in Minnesota. This prophecy is made in an article in the February issue of Everybody's Health, the magazine published by the Minnesota Public Health Association as a part of the Christmas Seal educational campaign.

Pointing out that 1939 will go down in history as the most healthful year in our history, the article states that in this year deaths from tuberculosis and all communicable disease except infantile paralysis took a decided drop. The number of pneumonia deaths struck an all-time low, and the article gives much credit for this to the use of the new drug, sulfapyridine. Increased gains against cancer associated with childbirth are also reported.

In contrast with these gains against communicable diseases in youth, more deaths were reported from heart and kidney disease, cancer and stroke which affect older people.

Rites Today for Mrs. Francis Zavoral, 76, Who Died January 14

Funeral rites will be held this afternoon for Mrs. Francis Zavoral who died in a local hospital Sunday at the age of 76 years. Rites will be held at 1 p. m. from the chapel of the Eriksson and Lund funeral home, Rev. E. A. Cooke officiating, and interment will be in the Bohemian cemetery.

Mrs. Zavoral was born in Bohemia January 24, 1864. She came to the United States in 1877, coming to Hutchinson, where she was married in 1880 to Frank Zavoral. In the following year she and her husband moved to Tabor and in 1883 they came to Thief River Falls, where they resided until 1904. At that time they moved to Erie, where they resided for 28 years. Mrs. Zavoral moved to Hickory township in 1932, and has made her home there since.

Growing With Your Child

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

The Enjoyment of Reading

The time when a child is ready to learn to read depends upon many things. First of all, a child should be interested in reading; he should have a wide enough experience and enough of a vocabulary so that the ideas he meets in his first reading encounters will have meaning to him. He should have good eyesight and good hearing. Good habits of enunciation will help him to recognize more easily the words that he already knows. A child whose family habitually carry on much conversation with him, and whose questions are taken seriously will have a greater breadth of information than one whose parents haven't wanted to "bother" with talking to him.

Much study has gone into the question of the age at which children should begin to read. While at present a mental age of about 6½ is accepted as the best time to begin reading, children learn to read much more easily than dull children of the same mental age. Thus, a bright child of four will do about as well as the average child at six.

When a child begins to read to himself, it is highly important that the books provided for him shall be easy enough for him so that reading is a pleasure. Often enough, once a child is supposed to know how to read, his parents buy books with little consideration as to the level of their difficulty and of the child's reading ability. A book that is too long, or that has too many words that are unfamiliar to a child, may discourage him to such an extent that he begins to think he doesn't care much for reading, after all. There is now on the market a fine supply of easy books for beginners, most of them adapted to the average child. Here are a few that are well-liked:

Baruch, D.—I know a surprise. Lothrop.

Dalgliesh, A.—The little wooden farmer. Macmillan.

Gates, A.—The story of live dolls. Bobbs.

Kuh, C.—Happy hour series (Policeman, fireman, postman, etc.). Macmillan.

Orton, H. F.—Bobby of Cloverdale Farm. Stokes.

Read, H. S.—Grandfather's farm. Scribner.

Zirbes, L. and A. V. Keliher—Books of pets. Keystone View.

HOME, SWEET, HOME

Roseau.—"There's no place like home", says a certain sparrow, who spends his night inside the office of the Peterson Motor Co. In the evenings he flies against the window until one of the crew opens the door and then flies right in. In the morning he flies against the window until the door is opened and then is on his way.

Interesting Program Given at Lodge Hall Here Tuesday Night

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and their friends met at the local Odd Fellows hall Tuesday evening to hear Dr. Crawford Grays of Bemidji, former local pastor discuss the life and aims of Thos. Wildey, the founder of Oddfellowship in America.

Ole O. Knutson, 73 Passes; Services are Conducted Tuesday

Ole O. Knutson passed away Saturday in a local hospital at the age of 73 years. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning from Carmel Lutheran church, and interment was made in Carmel Lutheran cemetery.

Mr. Knutson was born June 24, 1866, at Glencoe, where he grew to manhood and was married in 1892 to Carrie Wold. He and his family moved from Glencoe to Morris in 1896, and to Beltrami county in 1901. There Mr. Knutson resided for 30 years, moving in 1931 to Billings, Mont., where he lived with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Dolven. In 1931 he returned to Thief River Falls, where he had spent the past six years at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Engelstad.

TAKES HIS "FIRE" TO STATION TO EXTINGUISH

Ortonville.—The local fire department, or rather its chief, Harlan Parker, tried out a novel way of putting out a fire early one Sunday morning recently. It was an easy way on the firemen too. The idea is to have the fire in question brought to the fire station rather than chase all over the country with the fire engine. Joe Noll called Parker and told him a big truck from the city which was carrying eggs back to town was on fire. Parker found the fire located in the insulation between the engine and cab and inasmuch as the truck had already been driven twenty miles with the fire burning, he decided to take it back to town where the fire was extinguished with ease.

Otto C. Schroeder of Wyandotte Township Dies in Local Hospital

Otto C. Schroeder of Wyandotte township died in a local hospital Monday. Funeral services were held here Wednesday morning from the Larson chapel, Rev. Paul Burgdorf of Red Lake Falls officiating, and the body was taken to Fairfax, where final rites will be held at 2 p. m. today from St. John's church of Fairfax, and burial will be made. Rev. I. M. Falbrock of Fairfax will officiate.

Mr. Schroeder was born Oct. 1, 1890, in Holstein, Germany. He came to America with his parents at the age of 3 years, and lived at New Ulm for three years. In 1895 he moved to Fairfax and lived there until 1919. In the fall of that year he moved to Wyandotte township, where the family has since lived.

He was married at Fairfax in 1916 to Hannah Gerardy, who survives his death together with two daughters, Dorothy and Verna; one sister, Maria S. Liffman of St. Paul; and six brothers Charles of Plummer, Paul of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Max, Harold and Arthur at Fairfax, and Fred at Sleepy Eye.

Living Costs Rise but Slightly During 1939

Living costs in Minneapolis and St. Paul, reflecting approximately the conditions for the entire state, rose only one cent in the dollar between last May and November 1939, despite the intervention of three months of war in Europe, it is shown by a study in the School of Business Administration, University of Minnesota. The figures were compiled by Professor Richard L. Kozelka. Food prices rose most, clothing prices little, although Dr. Kozelka pointed out that clothing retailers have been selling goods bought at favorable wholesale prices and may be forced to follow rising wholesale prices in the spring.

AAA PROGRAM WILL AUGMENT SEEDING OF FLAX IN STATE

Listed as "Non-Depleting" When Used as Nurse Crop for Legumes

Under the 1940 AAA program, flax is again listed as a "non-depleting crop" when planted as a nurse crop for biennial legumes or perennial grasses, says Carl R. Anderson, chairman of the Pennington County agricultural conservation committee.

This provision may bring about a further increase in the acreage of flax raised in Minnesota in 1940, even in view of the fact that the state last year increased its acreage until it grew 61 per cent of all the flax grown in the United States, according to information received in the county office from the state AAA committee this week.

The committee, Anderson said, is very much concerned over the possibility that flax may be seeded as a nurse crop this year on land that is not adapted to it. The presence of weeds is one of the biggest causes of losses in flax production and it was not at all uncommon for farmers to report dockage of from 10 to 20 per cent on flax marketed this past fall.

Agronomists at University Farm, St. Paul, urge that farmers who intend to take advantage of the flax provision in the AAA program this year plant the crop as early as spring wheat, since it thrives best in a comparatively cool temperature.

Mrs. Gordon Johnson's Father Dies at Staples

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Johnson returned Sunday from Staples where they were summoned last week by the death of Mrs. Johnson's father, Louis Guth, pioneer resident of Staples, who died at his home there Monday noon, Jan. 8, following a long illness. He was 67 years of age.

Mr. Guth had resided in Staples for 45 years and had been employed in the yard service of the Northern Pacific railroad there for 41 years, until ill health necessitated his retirement in June, 1939. In addition to his daughter, Mrs. Johnson, of this city, he is survived by three other daughters and two sons, and his wife, the former Kathryn Kinsella, whom he married Nov. 30, 1909. Mr. Guth was a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen.

Funeral services were held last Thursday morning at Staples. Mrs. Carlie Johnson of this city also attended the rites.

HUNTER ACCIDENTALLY SHOT NEAR WARRAOD

Warroad.—Torsten Nelson had been hunting rabbits, and when it began to get dusk he started for home carrying two rabbits which he had shot. Another hunter who was some distance off saw the white rabbits he was carrying, and it appeared to him that these were live rabbits running through the woods. He fired, and the bullet passed through Mr. Nelson's right foot. Doctors found it necessary to amputate part of the foot.

A PLACE TO GET WELL

From Dr. Baldwin Borreson, superintendent of the Oakland Park Sanitorium, we received some encouraging information on the progress that is being made in the fight on tuberculosis. While the disease is still the greatest killer between the ages of 14 and 40, the death rate from this cause is steadily decreasing. This is especially true in Minnesota and other states where the proper organization and facilities to combat the disease are being provided.

Before 1910 tuberculosis caused more than 100 deaths each year per 100,000 population. At that time Minnesota's sanitorium system started showing results and since then there has been a steady decline in the death rate until now the annual death rate is only about 30 per 100,000. That the sanitorium system is justifying itself is proven by the continued high mortality in states, and even in counties, where tuberculosis control service is not available.

Progress in this territory is well up to the state average. Enlarged facilities at the sanitorium were not made necessary by an increase in the disease but rather because more patients are now being brought to the sanitorium when the disease is in a minimum or only moderate state of advancement. The result is that in a steadily increasing number of patients the disease is arrested. The field service provided by the sanitorium organization is almost as important in combating the disease as the sanitorium itself. It is by field work that the best results in disease prevention are accomplished.

Considering what has been accomplished, it is reasonable to hope that the White Plague will eventually be no more serious a threat to human life than typhoid, diphtheria and some of the other diseases that at one time were uncontrolled. The encouraging thing about the fight on tuberculosis is that the public is cooperating nicely with those who are carrying on the work. A sanitorium, like a hospital, is no longer a place to go to die but rather a place to get well.

PROBLEMS OF LIQUIDATION

In his year-end report to the Governor, George Jones, conservator of the department of rural credit, estimates the state's loss in its farm loan venture at forty million dollars. He reported the sale during the year of 1,025 farms and acquirement of 517, reducing by some over 500 the number of farms owned by the state. Of the 517 farms acquired, 279 represented foreclosures of original loans and 238 were by defaulted contracts.

The estimate of an ultimate forty million dollar loss does not come as a surprise. The loss is not caused by the markdown of values alone. A large portion of it is due to annual operating deficits. The income from interest and other sources has never been sufficient to meet the interest charged on the money borrowed and other operating expenses. It is because of this huge annual operating deficit that the administration has adopted its quick liquidation policy. Advocates of quick liquidation have argued that if the state didn't dispose of its holdings in a short time the operating deficits would eat up whatever equities there still remained and the state would recover nothing. And there no doubt is justification for such a conclusion.

Because of the large number of rural credit farms in this section of the state, our territory is particularly interested in department policies. We have the same interest as other sections of the state in the salvaging of the state's assets. We have a particular interest in the effect department policies may have upon our local problems. Certainly it is to our advantage to have the rural credit lands returned to private ownership, to contribute their proportionate share of the cost of local government.

The quick liquidation policy of the department will eventually bring another problem to many of our present tenant farmers. Up to the present time the selling efforts have been directed chiefly to local residents, former owners or their children, tenants and neighbors. Mr. Jones' report points out that most of the sales have been made within these classifications. His report, however, also indicates that when the local sales possibilities have been exhausted, an effort will be made to interest southern Minnesota renters in becoming northern Minnesota land owners.

As this selling effort succeeds, the difficulties of our renters to find improved farms to rent will increase. In recent years land owners have operated at a disadvantage. We probably are now approaching the time when renters will be at a disadvantage and land ownership will become more desirable. That condition will result eventually in the building of more farm homes just as here in the city it has already forced the construction of many new dwellings. The process may prove to be disadvantageous to a few but it no doubt is a necessary thing in the development of the community.

Not many sounds in life, and I include all urban and all rural sounds, exceeds in interest a knock at the door.—Charles Lamb.

According to James V. Bennett, director of the federal bureau of prisons, there has been a steady increase in the number of prisoners in this country since 1924. The prison population in 1939 was more than half again as large as it was in 1930. The increase probably is due to a combination of causes, one of which no doubt would be the increase in the number of laws a citizen is expected not to break. There was a time when ten short commandments served pretty well as a guide to human conduct. Nowadays, however, the authorities have decreed so many rules and regulations that most of us are breaking the law in one form or another several times a day without knowing it—or if we do know it, without being greatly concerned about it.

It is not surprising that leaders of the Farmer-Labor party are dissatisfied with the record of the present state administration. But those leaders, remembering their own party record, should be very charitable in their criticism of the mistakes of others.

Yesterday was Ben Franklin's birthday. Franklin is rapidly gaining the recognition he deserves. Soon even the country's educators will notice him.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS—

(Anoka Herald)

To emphasize the difference between old and new methods of department store merchandising.

This interesting document was brought to light during the recent celebration of the 80th anniversary of Carson, Pirie Scott & Co.'s store in Chicago. The requirement for the employes, as posted in their first store some (80) years ago, were:

1) Store must be open from 6 A. M. until 9 P. M. the year around.

2) Store must be swept; windows, base shelves and all cases dusted; lamps trimmed, filled and chimneys cleaned; pens made, doors and windows open; a pail of water and a bucket of coal brought in before breakfast; and attend to the customers who call.

3) Store must not be open on the Sabbath unless necessary; and then only for a few minutes.

4) The employe who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, being shaved by barbers, going to dances and places of amusement, will surely give his employer a reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty.

5) Each employe must not pay less than $5 per year to the church, and must attend Sunday school regularly.

6) Men employees are given one evening a week for courting, and two if they go to prayer meeting.

7) After fourteen hours of work in the store, the leisure time should be spent mostly in reading.

SOCIAL SECURITY MAZE

(Eveleth Clarion)

There is a great deal of wonderment about this country's social security plan and all its ramifications. In sum and substance it looks very much to the Chicago Herald-American as if the millions of workers who are being taxed on their pay envelopes are buying a great deal more "social security" for federal employes than for anybody else. To substantiate this statement, it is pointed out that complicated and costly political machinery is beyond comprehension of any intelligent individual. There are so many bureaus, administrations, federal corporations, bodies, and commissions established that the government itself had to print a 300-page manual to list its own activities. Taxpayers and citizens have a perfect right to know how this great scheme is working, how much it costs and how much service is given for the money.

The Associated Press, in an article dealing with social security, gives at least one portion of the picture. It cites immeasurable red tape among the newest of the federal agencies.

For instance, when a written inquiry reaches the main office at Washington, as many as 10 persons may have to examine and initial it before it reaches the "correspondence department" for a reply.

WHAT IS A DECADE?

(Duluth Herald)

A neat little controversy is developing. Several people have spoken of this year as beginning a new decade. Of course any year begins a decade, but it is evident from the way these persons speak that they mean another 10-year section of a century, the 1940s.

This will recall the endless debates which raged in the last years of the Nineteenth century. Like children watching for the family automobile to turn another 1,000 miles the civilized world waited for the Twentieth century. A good many people thought it began Jan. 1, 1900, when the big change in the figures came. They were forgetting that the year 100 was a part of the First century, not the beginning of the Second. In the same way 1910 was the last year of this century's first decade, and 1940 is the last year of the fourth decade.

It is a little late in the day to do anything about it, but the Arabic system of numbering seems to have something wrong with it, something that native sense rejects. It is like trying to understand that a man who had a birthday yesterday and now thinks of himself as 21 is really in his 22nd year.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, evidently has a sense of humor. He received an invitation to attend the Jackson Day dinner in Washington. This is the big day each year when democrats honor the memory of Andrew Jackson and renew their allegiance to his leadership. Vandenberg sent back word that he would be glad to attend provided the occasion were historically faithful to the first observance of the feast on January 8, 1835. On that day, the democrats gathered in Washington to honor Jackson because as president he had paid off the last of the national debt. The federal government did not owe a dollar, and Jackson by hard boiled economy, had paid off the last government bond. The Michigan senator thought it hardly proper for those who have put the country into billions of debt to meet in the name of the man who had put the country out of debt. The chances are that if Andrew Jackson could have come back to earth and sat in at the dinner Monday night, his address to the gathering, had he been called upon, would have been a scathing denunciation of the management of the government by those there assembled.—Long Prairie Leader.

It should never be forgotten that financial bankruptcy is the first and most direct step to political bankruptcy—to dictatorship. A dictator is but the receiver of a bankrupt nation.—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D.), Mont., N. Y. Times, Dec. 9, 1939.

Human liberty flourishes as the activities of government are curtailed, and constitutional democracy dies in every nation where planned economy takes root and grows.—Sen. Millard E. Tydings (D.), Md., Chicago Tribune, Dec. 7, 1939.

The American people believe in a competitive system based on maximum opportunity for free enterprise.—Asst. Atty.-Gen. Thurman Arnold, Baltimore Sun, Dec. 10, 1939.

Religion is what the individual does with his own solitude . . . if you are never solitary you are never religious.—Dean Inge.

WINTER SHOWS TO OPEN 5-DAY RUN AT CROOKSTON FEB. 5

Big Program Scheduled for The Thirtieth Annual Farmers' Week

The 30th annual Red River Valley Winter Shows and Northwest School Farmers' Week will be held at Crookston February 5 to 9, this year. According to T. M. McCall, president of the Winter Shows and superintendent of the Northwest School of Agriculture, the shows have grown from a modest beginning in 1911 to a scale where now three large buildings are inadequate to house all entries. The attendance at the educational meetings each year for men, women and 4-H club meetings requires the use of the high school auditorium and armory with a combined seating capacity of three thousand.

The Farmers' Week and Winter Shows, as an institution, is unique in that it is governed by representatives from each of several cooperating organizations. Officials of the Northwest School of Agriculture and the Red River Valley Development Association perfected the organization of the Winter Shows in 1914. Other organizations now represented on the Board of Managers include the Red River Valley Livestock, Poultry, Crops, Dairymen's association and the Crookston Association of Public Affairs.

The three exhibit buildings, located in the center of Crookston, are owned by the Red River Valley Livestock Association which has more than two thousand share holders in its non-profit organization. More than 2,000 exhibits of livestock, crops and poultry were entered in competition last year. More than $6,000 in cash is paid out as premiums each year. Premium money is received from state and county appropriations. More than one-fourth of the total premiums paid are for boys' and girls' 4-H Club exhibits.

A four-day schedule of educational meetings for men and women with specialists of state and national reputation is conducted free to the public. A total of from 4,000 to 7,000 people attended the educational meetings annually. An average of 2500 people annually pay twenty-five cents each to see the livestock, crops and poultry shows, with a similar number attending the night programs.

ST. OLAF COLLEGE MAN IS APPOINTED TO STATE OFFICE

Named as Conservation Commissioner by Governor H. E. Stassen

Dr. William L. Strunk, head of the St. Olaf college health department Saturday approached with enthusiasm his new job as Minnesota's commissioner of conservation, declaring:

"From what I know of our state, and I have been over most of it, I believe we can establish in Minnesota the most ideal conservation program of any state in the union. Minnesota has everything it takes for a real program in tremendous quantity."

To set up such a program, Dr. Strunk was to begin immediate work on the details of a long range conservation plan which will be completed and put into operation after he takes office Feb. 1. He has been active in conservation work for many years.

He was appointed Friday by Gov. Harold Stassen, ending months of uncertainty which began shortly after Stassen took office, when a shakeup in the department was rumored, and climaxed with the suspension and subsequent discharge of Commissioner Herman C. Wenzel.

When Dr. Strunk takes over, Lewis H. Merrill, acting commissioner, will go back to his desk as director of the game and fish division.

Stassen said any other changes in personnel would be left up to Dr. Strunk, but reports were that Ralph Jerome, deputy commissioner, would resign shortly.

Keystone of the commission's policy under Dr. Strunk will be the long range conservation program, with a variety of objectives to be scheduled for attainment within definite periods. Preparation of such a plan, Dr. Strunk estimated might take two years.

A number of off-the-campus speakers, well-known in the fields they represent, as well as members of the University Farm faculty will highlight the 3-day program.

BOMBING PLANES MOVE INTO CANADA AT PEMBINA, N. D.

Two Huge Ships are Hauled Across Border by Team of Horses

Two twin-motored American-made bombing airplanes were delivered Monday to the Canadian government, first of a contingent to be hauled across the international boundary at Pembina, N. D., in compliance with the United States neutrality law.

The huge black camouflaged bombers landed after a run of a few hours from Omaha. They had been constructed in the Lockheed plant in California, flown to Omaha Saturday and piloted along the radio beam course from the latter city to Pembina.

Their motors running continually because of the 12 degrees below zero weather, they landed at the Pembina municipal airport first and waited there while two of the four pilots cleared the customs.

An hour later they took to the air again and were brought down on the new border airport, a mile northwest of the Pembina port. There they were taxied to the international border line and were hauled across into Canada by a team of horses.

The United States neutrality law requires that planes for delivery to Canada must be paid for before they leave United States and must be delivered on the ground, rather than flown over the border.

STATE FINANCIAL OFFICER REPORTS TO GOV. STASSEN

Says Minnesota Will Finish Fiscal Year With Balanced Budget

Leslie Gravlin, state commissioner of finance, told Governor Harold E. Stassen late last week in St. Paul that Minnesota would finish the fiscal year with a balanced budget.

Gravlin presented the governor with a comprehensive financial statement and a forecast of condition of the state's various functional activities that showed the state was "paying its way" and, in addition, reducing its indebtedness. The fiscal year ends June 30.

A comparative statement of resources and appropriations placed the estimated income at $30,698,000 and legislative appropriations at $31,804,309.83.

In the forecast of condition of state functional activities, Gravlin reported $133,668,341.27 available to budget to general government, education, institutions, public relief and assistance, highways and rural credit. The total included appropriations from the revenue fund and other funds, receipts from dedicated income and federal grants, available transfers. The total appropriations were reduced in each case by application of the 10 per cent "hold-back" for revenue fund balancing.

Gravlin reported that estimated indebtedness would be $123,114,112.79 at the close of the fiscal year. It would be a reduction of $7,353,070 over the outstanding indebtedness figure of July 1, 1939. He estimated additions to the debt would be $14,590,000 and that estimated retirements would be $22,212,076.99.

4-H Litter Yields 3500 Pounds of Low-Cost Pork

Producing 3,505 pounds of pork from a single litter of pigs in 180 days and at a cost of only 3.8 cents per pound of gain is a real accomplishment.

That is the record of Irene Podratz of Hoffman in Grant county, says T. A. Erickson, state 4-H club leader, University Farm, St. Paul, in announcing that Irene won the state championship 4-H ton litter contest for 1939.

Forty-three 4-H club members out of 200 enrolled from 52 counties were successful in producing a ton or more of pork from a single litter in 180 days, says H. G. Zavoral, extension animal husbandman, University Farm, who supervised this seventeenth annual contest.

Foundation Stones

Every snowflake, every raindrop, has to start with a foundation stone. This may be literally a microscopic piece of stone, a dust particle. More frequently it is a minute salt crystal, left in the air by the evaporation of a drop of sea spray. But some kind of particle carrying an electric charge, is necessary as a nucleus on which atmospheric water vapor can start its condensation.

OVER A THOUSAND OF RURAL CREDIT FARMS SOLD IN '39

Conservator Gives Results of Year's Concerted Sales Effort

Progress in liquidation of the state's rural credit venture during the past year has exceeded every quota set for it, George C. Jones, conservator of the rural credit department, reported to Governor Stassen this week, summarizing the year's activities of this department.

The department undertook to sell 777 farms in 1939, or 20 per cent of the 3,886 which the state owned on January 1st, but succeeded in selling 1,025 farms before the year end, or 25 per cent of the total.

Farms were sold in 62 counties of the state, Mr. Jones reported, indicating a widespread interest in the acquisition of farms. In fifteen southern Minnesota counties, all land owned by the state on the first of January had been disposed of before the year ended. The progress made, Mr. Jones said, permitted the closing of seven of the fifteen district offices of the department.

The 1,025 sales brought $3,165,416, the conservator reported. Of this amount, he said, fully 50 per cent, or $1,589,284 was paid or will be paid to the state in cash at the time of possession. Many were purchased outright for cash.

The farms were sold at current market values after careful appraisal by qualified and experienced men, Jones said, and all sales were approved by the courts. Care was taken, he pointed out, to make sales only on terms which the buyer might expect to meet, without risking loss of his investment.

Sale of the 1,025 farms will restore to the taxrolls property which will bring in $100,000 a year in taxes, Jones reported. Jones has contended that every effort should be made to get back into the hands of farmer owners as soon as possible all the farms held by the state. Restoration of all the farms to the taxrolls would bring in $500,000 a year more in taxes, he said, and communities everywhere would benefit from the creation of new farm owners.

Efforts have been made to improve management of the farms held, Jones said. Collections have been improved, and disbursements from the expense fund were decreased through various economies $301,187.13 as compared with 1938.

The conservator warned, however, that losses which the state will suffer in liquidation of the rural credit venture must not be minimized. While selling 1,025 farms, he said, it had to take back 517 others from foreclosures. Reporting the result of a systematic appraisal made during the year of all assets and liabilities, he said "we are convinced that the ultimate loss to the state will exceed $40,000,000."

Jobless Compensation Benefits in Minnesota Decline in Past Year

Unemployment compensation benefits in Minnesota during 1939 declined almost seven per cent from the 1938 level and during the same period, job placements increased 22 per cent, according to a year-end summary of the operations of the division of employment and security, issued this week in St. Paul by Victor Christgau, director.

Benefit payments in 1939 totaled $7,597,000, which is a decrease of $564,000, or 6.90 per cent, below the $8,161,000 paid in 1938.

Applications for employment in 1939 totaled 84,000, which is a decrease of 54,000 or 39.75 per cent, from the 138,000 persons who filed applications in 1938.

The number of persons having application for employment on file with the Division at the close of 1939 was 124,000, which represents [illegible], or 38.78 per cent, fewer than the 20[illegible] such applicants at the close of 1938.

The reduced number of names in the division's "active file" is partly due to the generally improved conditions with respect to employment but it also reflects the division's efforts to maintain this file on a 30-day "live" basis, instead of a 60 and 90-day basis as in 1938.

Thieves Win 2; Play Twice This Week-end

Trouncing Emerson, 7 to 1 on Sunday, and chipping two goals worth of gilt off the gold-plated Millionaires Tuesday night, shutting them out, 2 to 0, the Thieves climbed into undisputed possession of second place in the States-Dominion Hockey League.

Two games are to be played here over the week-end, the Winnipeg Lombards on Saturday night, and Hallock on Sunday afternoon. Tonight the Thieves go to Roseau for a game with the Cloverleafs.

Mark McCaffrey, who last year played a stellar brand of hockey on the Thief River Falls team, will join the Thieves sextet this week-end and is expected to be in the lineup for the contest with the Lombards of Winnipeg Saturday night, A. M. Senstad, team manager, said today.

With George Beverly and Clayton Taylor scoring two goals each, and with singles from Paul Kornek, Joe Novak, and Snooks Julien, the Thieves Sunday easily routed the Emerson team. The game, in spite of the top-heavy score, was very fast and exciting, and that's always the case when the fast-skating Emerson club is the opposition. Getting assists on scores in this 7 goal spree were Joe Popiel and coach Alex Tickle, with 2 assists each, and Joe Novak, Len Russell, and Ken Manahan, with one assist apiece.

Tuesday night, in the fastest game of the season and with Jimmy Bronson playing a spectacular game in the nets, the Thieves shut out the well-balanced Grafton club, 2 to 0.

The hammer-and-tongs game was won in less than two minutes of the second period, when the Thieves slammed home two goals. George Beverly, whose solo rushes always gets a rise from the crowd, set up the play for the first goal, and Joe Popiel, the little right winger, poked the puck into the net past Jiggs Sinclair, Grafton's Indian goalie. And barely a minute later, Joe Novak, on the left wing, ragged the puck off the Grafton end-boards, pivoted, and came in on Sinclair and beat the goalie, to count the second score.

The summary of Tuesday Night's game:

Thief River Falls (2) vs Grafton (0)
Bronson ....goal.... Sinclair
Beverly ....defense.... Lindsey
Ewbank ....defense.... McVicar
Novak ....wing.... Charles
Popiel ....wing.... Foy
Kornek ....center.... Gray

The summary of Sunday's game:

By Hach Olson

Pleurisy or no pleurisy, I had to see the Prowlers hand that pasting to the Crookston Pirates last Friday. The Prowlers have been dishing out a fine grade of paste the last few weeks; and tomorrow night they'll plaster a 39 to 26 pasting on East Grand Forks, the team that is reputed to be the toughest competition in the district. Andy says that the Prowlers will win by about 30 points; but you all know how extravagant Andy can be.

Lowell Happy Erickson is considering giving up his bowling: His reason, it interferes with romance.

In the preliminary game last Friday night, the Prowler reserves defeated Alvarado, 27 to 14.

Lincoln Carlson, the undivided atom on the reserve squad, has been grumbling into his short beard all week because he played only a couple of minutes against Alvarado. But in those two minutes Link scored a field goal; and continuing that rate, and he can, he would have scored 32 points during the entire game. Would that have been fair to Alvarado? Think of having the score-board read: Link Carlson, 32; Alvarado, 17.

Len Russell and Ken Manahan are the only members of the hockey team who grab their hockey sticks with a right-handed grip. George Beverley, who isn't right-handed, furnished the information that all the greatest hockey players are left-handed.

Wish Robson, the Crookston goalie, is the only Pirate that is a Canadian. All the others are from the Iron Range, and you can easily tell that they are Range players because of the chop-chop style of hockey that they play.

Report, at once, anyone seen sun-bathing in a Prowler basketball suit, suit No. 20. Somebody with a stunted sense of humor, or lack of any sense, perhaps, made a 'loan' of that suit from the Prowler locker-room. The suit had been assigned to Andy Anderson, and Andy would like to have it returned, as it makes him nervous to be running around in the hand-me-down outfit that he has to wear now.

You shouldn't miss the two hockey games that are on tap for the week-end. The Winnipeg Lombards on Saturday night, and the league champions, Hallock, on Sunday afternoon. We have a fine team here, and they're a fine bunch of fellows, so let's give them all the support we can.

PROWLERS SCORE 42-25 WIN OVER CROOKSTON QUINT

Win First Game in District Race; Play at East Grand Forks Friday

The Prowlers opened their district basketball competition last Friday night by trouncing the Crookston Pirates, 42 to 25, in a game played in the new high school gym.

The opening minutes of the game saw the Pirates gain a slim lead, and behave as if they were going to become troublesome; but after the first period the game was all to the Prowlers, and it was merely a question of how large the margin of victory was to be. Time and again the Prowler fire-engine attack would drive through the Crookston defense, setting the ball in position for a pop-in shot, and while they scored enough of these push-shots to total 42 points, the score would nearly have been doubled had they scored the shots they muffed.

Coach John Lindenmeyer followed his usual custom of alternating two teams during the first half. The starting five, composed of Bredeson, Flasch, Jung, Anderson, and Connor, seemed to be the more potent scoring outfit; while the five that worked the second period, Kielty, Furuseth, Kompelien, Peterson, and Claffy, appeared to be the stronger defensive unit, in fact, so strong and stubborn were they on defense that they held the Pirates scoreless throughout the entire quarter.

While none of the Prowlers were on a hot-shooting streak, Wayne Bredeson, Ed Flasch, Allen Connor, Si Kompelien, and Bill Claffy, were the high point men, with Wayne getting 8 points, and Eddie totaling 13 points. Bob Kielty, though he scored only on a free throw, played a fine defensive game, being particularly effective in ham-stringing Crookston's Owen Albertson.

Crookston's offensive threats were, their captain, Albertson; a fast-breaking forward, Bill Baken, and the long-shooting center, Jim Rude; with Baken being their high point man with 8 markers.

East Grand Forks, to be played there tomorrow night, is the next game on the Prowler schedule.

Clearwater Co. Votes to Continue Dry Status by Small Margin Jan. 8

Voters of Clearwater county by the narrow margin of 107 ballots voted January 8 to continue the status quo in regard to the liquor problem, and the vote was considerably heavier than that of three years ago when the county voted on the same question.

The vote last week was 1,429 in favor of continued "dry" conditions, and 1,321 in favor of changing to municipal control. The total vote in the county was thus 2,749.

In the villages Bagley voted wet 373 to 114, and Gonvick by 65 to 53. The dry villages were Clearbrook 131 to 56, Leonard 39 to 13, and Shevlin 52 to 35.

MANY REQUESTS ARE RECEIVED FOR CROP INSURANCE

1940 Plan Simplified, Says Carl R. Anderson, Chairman

Applications for 1940 "all risk" wheat crop insurance are running far ahead of last year, says Carl R. Anderson, chairman of the Pennington County AAA Committee.

One reason for this is the fact that most farmers who applied for insurance last year were well satisfied with the way the program was administered, believes Anderson. Simplification of the 1940 insurance plan coupled with the fact that growers were notified early of insurable yields and premium rates, and the possibility of taking care of all the arrangements for a crop insurance application at one time are probably also responsible for the insurance, says Anderson.

In Minnesota more than 11,000 crop insurance premiums had been collected by January first, compared with a total sign-up of a little more than 10,000 policies last year, reports Anderson. About 225 applications for "all risk" insurance have been made by Pennington county farmers so far. Growers have only until February twenty-ninth to make application. Applications received to date cover over 150,000 acres in the state and 2,832 acres in this county.

In speaking of the advantages to growers who insure their crop against losses, the chairman explained that the premium rate each applicant pays is figured from actual losses that he has experienced during a 13 year base period. In other words, he said, premium payments represent his average annual cost of crop failures. Insurance will not reduce the amount of loss a grower may expect over a similar period of years, but it makes it possible for him to pay his crop losses in annual installments. The main advantage to the insured farmer is that he gets his wheat back when he needs it most—when his crop fails to yield 75% of the average.

Open Bids on Road Work Provide Jobs for 1100 Spread Thruout State

Wide distribution of approximately one-half million dollars of the state Highway department's 1939 maintenance gravelling and oil contracts, through its policy of open, competitive bidding on maintenance work as well as construction projects, provided private employment for approximately 1,100 men in communities scattered throughout all sections of the state.

An analysis of maintenance expenditures for contract work which has just been completed shows that that portion of maintenance gravelling which last summer was performed by private operators was accomplished under 53 separate contracts, totalling $334,410, let to 34 contractors, living in 30 different towns. No one contractor was low bidder on more than 5 contracts. Their work provided employment averaging from two to four weeks for somewhat more than 1,000 men from the local communities in which the contractors operated.

Maintenance contract oiling by the Highway department last summer was performed on 18 contracts, totalling $157,563, let to 8 contractors in 7 different towns, the smallest of which was the community of Prinsburg in Kandiyohi County, with a population of 60. This distribution of road oil provided employment for an average of approximately 70 men throughout the summer.

'39 Trunk Improvements Compare Well with 1938 Despite Financing Load

Improvement operations performed by the state highway department on Minnesota's trunk highway system during 1939, ranging from ordinary re-gravelling up to paving and shouldering of a completed road, involved operations totalling 4,661 cummulative lineal miles, in addition to 27 bridges and 70 monolithic culverts built during the year. Repair operations covered 736 miles. These totals are based on a preliminary report of physical accomplishments for the twelve-month period, just completed by departmental statisticians and submitted to Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann, pending a complete recheck and official tabulation of final field reports for December.

Consider carefully the kinds of insulation handled locally and their advantages in year around comfort to you
Years of experience and observation enable us to advise you intelligently as to the kind of material that will assure you the most permanent satisfaction. As dealers over a long period of years we have perhaps handled every known type of insulation, some of which are not in use today.
We have known "self styled specialists" to visit our city, selling insulations on commission. Their excessive expenses in selling and delivery must necessarily be added to their costs, therefore the greater the cost.
As a leading insulation today, recognized by dealers and contractors alike, we advise that you use
ZONOLITE
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
Your carpenter or you yourself can install this dependable fool-proof insulation in a few hours. It is easily handled because it pours into every nook and corner itself. "Zonolite" safeguards the home-owner. It cannot be fluffed or stretched nor will it be blocked by wires, nails or other obstructions in the walls or ceiling. It comes nearer being the perfect insulation.
We would welcome an opportunity to point out the superiority of this advanced type of insulation, and to prove our point that the cost is surprisingly low. It can be bought at home.

2944 MOTORISTS LOSE LICENSES TO DRIVE LAST YEAR

Three Revocations in Pennington Co. and 14 Suspensions

Two thousand nine hundred forty-four motorists lost their driver's licenses for violating Minnesota traffic laws during 1939, the safety division's annual report made today to M. J. Hoffmann, state highway commissioner, disclosed. The combined total of revocations and suspensions was 787 higher than any other year since the first driver's license law became effective in 1934, and a 37 per cent increase over 1938.

Outright revocation of the licenses was imposed upon 1,558 motorists, and suspensions for various periods of time upon 1,386. Pennington County had three revocations and 14 suspensions. In all, since the passage of the driver's license law, 6,801 motor vehicle operators have had their driving permits revoked, and 4,802 have suffered suspensions. Of the total revocations and suspensions during the past year, 2,895 were men drivers and only 49 women.

One of the most significant factors indicated in the report, was the fact that 425 of the 1,386 drivers whose licenses were suspended were youths under 21 years of age, while 98 others suffered outright revocation.

Driving while intoxicated accounted for 1,463 revocations. The remaining few divided among those convicted of failure to stop and disclose identity, operating a stolen car, criminal negligence or other felonies.

Of the suspensions during the year, 393 were for reckless driving, 321 for speeding, 167 for intoxication, and 113 for incompetency. Defective brakes caused the suspension of 7 licenses and disregarding signs and signals another 45.

The largest previous number of revocations and suspensions was in 1937, when 1,425 driving permits were revoked and 732 suspended.

A Clever Discovery

Pineapples are said to ripen four times as fast as nature ripens them when a Hawaiian pineapple producer treats the plants with acetylene before their normal flowering period. The plant is either gassed in a sealed chamber or sprayed with acetylene-saturated water. After five treatments of 12 to 18 hours the pineapples are ripe enough for use.

Juneau, Alaska

Here are some excerpts from a very interesting letter received by Clara Olson from Anna Austad, a former teacher in the Hiawatha school, Dist. 26. Miss Austad has a wonderful position as a maid in the mansion of Governor Greenings, the governor of Alaska. Her duty consists mainly of serving, announcing guests, and answering door bells and telephones. She states, "Alaska is a grand country, the weather is perfect with no trace of snow as yet. I wear my toeless shoes down town as well as go hatless and gloveless. Who said Alaska was the cold frozen Northland"? Juneau has a population of some seven thousand people, has paved streets and every modern convenience of a modern city. Five to eight hundred guests were at the Governor's mansion in open house New Year's Day. They served tea and punch. Miss Austad's friend, Ragna Asbjornson of Highlanding community is employed as a telephone girl in Juneau. The two of them were Christmas Day guests at the home of the former Eva Harder and her husband who also reside in Juneau. Eva is a former resident in the St. Hilaire community.

These three men are the "higher ups" in the soil conservation program for Pennington county. Their talks dealt with the main features of the 1940 set-up, and they gave other valuable information on different phases of the future program. The farmers present gleaned a great deal from this meeting.

They left Thief River Falls a few days before Thanksgiving. They saw the Canadian Rockies, the Great Divide and the Three Sister mountain peaks in the daytime. The boat trip from Vancouver, B. C. to Seattle was glorious. They are now making their home in Astoria, Oregon which is a town of 13,000 people 10,000 of these people are Finns. Schools in Astoria close in early May in order that every one may go Salmon fishing. Sawmills are dotted everywhere over the town as lumbering is one of the main occupations also. SMOKING IN BED FATAL TO SMOKER

Willmar.—It is thought that smoking in bed set the fire which caused the death of John Bribbon of Redwood Falls. Flames destroyed the two room house in which he and his brother Arthur resided. Arthur managed to escape, but his brother apparently made his way around the end of the bed and reached the door connecting the two rooms, when he collapsed. Unfortunately he could not escape the flames.

SEN. W. E. BORAH, IDAHO STATESMAN, DIED LAST FRIDAY

Services Held Monday for Oldest Member of U. S. Senate

Senator William E. Borah—the man who rode alone—died Friday night in Washington.

The 74-year-old Idaho statesman, known in the senate as an isolationist in personal as well as international affairs, slipped away in sleep.

Nearby was his wife, Mary, who was known as "Little Borah". She had kept a constant vigil over her husband since last Tuesday. It was then that the Idahoan fell in his apartment bathroom and a cerebral hemorrhage blotted out his consciousness.

Borah, dean of the senate, was able to speak only rarely, after that. When he did, it was to call his wife.

Leader of historic battles against American participation in the League of Nations and the world court, Borah, "the great oppositionist," was mourned by high officialdom and many a common man.

President Roosevelt, whose foreign policies often brought Borah's ringing denunciation in the senate, declared that "we shall miss him and mourn him and long remember the superb courage which was his."

Borah's colleagues sadly spoke their words of praise, and there was none who did not refer to him as a friend.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday in the U. S. Senate.

Arena Skaters Glide on Ice Made From Hot Water

Ice is made from hot water in the Thief River Falls sports arena. That's because it is only with hot water that they can get smooth ice. Cold water would freeze too quickly and might leave rough spots on the rink.

This water can't be flooded onto the rink and just be left to freeze, either. It must be spread at close range and only a fraction of an inch at a time to give the best ice sheet possible. Sometimes as many as 10 floods a day are necessary to satisfy the management that the ice is ready for skating. Usually there are four or five floods put on the rink at night after skating is over though sometimes the evening's wear requires that seven coats be spread.

That flooding is an everyday occurance at the rink. What comes before the ice can be used at all is much more work. First there must be a good base of shavings which, among other things, keeps the ice from cracking. After this foundation has been thoroughly soaked and frozen in place more coats of ice are spread until the sheet is at least four inches thick and ready for use. To develop the rink to this stage requires over 80 floods of water. In all there are over 1600 floods spread on the rink during the skating season. When the 80x174 foot rink is in perfect shape it is six inches thick and is made up of 6960 cubic feet of ice.

With ice worth $10 a ton you are skating on $1990 worth of it when the arena rink is six inches thick. That is, at a time like that there are 199 tons or nearly half a million pounds of ice in the rink and a sheet like that requires 49,680 gallons of water to make.

That, however, is not all the water used during the season. Since the rink has to be rebuilt constantly, a figure of about 500,000 gallons would probably come closer to the season's consumption.

A fast hockey game leaves the ice in better condition than ordinary skating because the players make use of the whole rink and wear it down more evenly. In other kinds of skating the wear is around the edges of the rink, leaving the surface uneven. During a hockey game about half an inch is shaved from the rink's surface and the ice must be swept clean of all this before being flooded.

It requires two men to make ice, one to spread the water and another to take care of the hot-water hose in back of him. Doing this work now are James Zavoral and Kenneth Bakke. T. M. Thronson is chairman of the Arena management committee, Charles Dostal is in charge of ticket sales and Alvin LaSalle operates the refreshments concession and sharpens skates. Besides these there are two WPA men, Bernard Langevin and Harvey Egenes, at the rink and three NYA instructors—Marvin Lindberg, Ruth Knauf and Bessie Syverson.

Library Circulates 65,067 Books in 1939

With 3964 borrowers on the rolls, a total of 65,067 books were circulated in 1939 by the Carnegie public library, it is revealed in the annual report of Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, librarian. Of the aggregate number, 39,750 books were borrowed in Thief River Falls and 25,317 outside the city.

Mrs. Halgrim, in submitting the report to Lee F. Zimmerman, state director of public libraries, commented, "I think on the whole the general reading trend is improved. There is more demand than heretofore for books of permanent worth, both fiction and non-fiction. Current history and social problems are being considered more seriously than they have been at any time since I became connected with the library."

Borrowers included 1863 adults and 2101 juvenile, the report reveals. Of the books borrowed 8406 were adult non-fiction, 17,581 adult fiction and 13,763 children's books. On the library shelves at the end of the year were 12,089 volumes, compared to 11,493 at the beginning of 1939.

The report lists receipts for the year of $5,796.40, the major items including city appropriation, $4,300.29; county, $750; and school districts, $450. Disbursements aggregated $5,637.70, the principal items being salaries of the staff, $2,280; building custodian, $600; books, $1,330.65; periodicals, $192.49; and heat, light, power and water, $761.70.

Serving on the library board are Mrs. L. G. Larsen, Mrs. P. W. Maley, Mrs. Mary V. Shaw, C. W. Pope, Harley Swenson, Otis Wold, Mrs. Gaston Ward, Mrs. J. O. Yotter and Anton Hall.

PRESIDENT'S BALL SCHEDULED HERE SATURDAY, JAN. 27

Charles J. Warner, Chairman, Urges Public Support for Event

An appeal to the public to attend the President's Birthday Ball in the Auditorium Saturday evening and to share in the "March of Dimes" was issued today by Charles J. Warner, local chairman. Proceeds will be used to finance the campaign against infantile paralysis.

Need for greater effort than ever before in combatting the disease in Minnesota was cited by Arthur D. Reynolds, St. Paul, state chairman of the President's Birthday Ball.

"Infantile paralysis is our common enemy," he said, "it strikes rich and poor, farmer or city dweller alike. In the first 11 months of 1939 in Minnesota 538 cases were recorded as compared with 619 for the entire previous five years. These figures should convince us of the need to contribute generously to Birthday Ball celebrations and to the March of Dimes campaign."

Nationally more than four times as many cases were recorded in 1939 than for the previous year, according to Reynolds. More than 7,000 cases were reported last year as compared with 1,700 in 1938, he said.

MANTOUX TESTING IN PENNINGTON CO. TO START FEB. 19

County-wide Program to be Financed by Sale of Christmas Seals

Plans for a county wide tuberculin testing program were recently completed, it was announced today by Dr. Borreson superintendent of Oakland Park sanatorium.

The survey which is being made possible by the Pennington County Public Health Association with the money collected by the sale of Christmas Seals, will get under way in Thief River Falls, February 19.

The test will be available to all who wish to take it, but the main purpose is to check on possible tubercular infections, in all school teachers, bus drivers, janitors, as well as students in the county.

The Mantoux tuberculin test is a simple harmless skin test by which we can tell whether or not any person, child or adult, has ever received the germ of tuberculosis into his body, said Miss Margaret Hesburg, field nurse for the sanatorium, who will assist Doctor Borreson with the testing. If the test is positive the person should have an X-ray examination immediately, to find out if any damage has been done to the lungs. Tuberculosis is often found in people who least suspect it.

Bus transportation will be provided to take the positive reactors to the sanatorium for their X-rays. This service is entirely free to school children, but any adults showing a positive reaction to the test and wish an X-ray at the sanatorium will have to pay the usual fee of $2.00 for their X-ray. There is no charge for the Mantoux Test.

NO HOPE SEEN FOR R. L. RIVER PROJECT IN '40

Report Submitted at Meeting of Farmers in This City Tuesday

SEN. TUNGSETH HEADS NEW PROMOTING UNIT

Tri-State Waters Commission Chairman Principal Speaker

No hope that the Red Lake river flood control and water conservation project will be disposed of by the corps of army engineers in Washington in time to be brought up for consideration at the current session of congress was held out by Henry Holt of Grand Forks, chairman of the Tri-State Waters commission, project sponsor, who Tuesday afternoon in this city addressed a gathering of 100 farmers from the affected area.

As an outgrowth of the session, Senator E. L. Tungseth, who presided, was named chairman of a newly formed Red Lake River Flood Control association to promote the work, while Ole Melby of Oklee was named secretary. An executive committee of five members will be appointed later by Senator Tungseth.

Explaining that progress in getting the final survey of the undertaking into the hands of Washington authorities had been delayed by developments in the army since the outbreak of the European war, leaving the St. Paul engineer's office shorthanded, Mr. Holt stated that Captain Morian, in charge, had informed him that his report would be completed and submitted to the St. Louis office of the army engineers about October 1 of this year.

The next step, he stated, will be to have the report passed on by the corps of engineers in Washington, and, if approved by that group, will go to congress for the necessary appropriation. Mr. Holt added that approval by the engineers appeared to be a foregone conclusion.

Others who spoke briefly at the meeting were Dean Holm of St. Paul, executive secretary of the Tri-State Waters commission; Representative J. O. Melby of Oklee; E. D. Rydeen and Albert Anderson of Clearbrook; H. Bjornaraa and County Attorney Paul Lundgren, who has been active over a period of years in promoting the project.

THRIFTY WITH MEAT

THERE are lots of different ways to be thrifty. One of these, of course, is to market cannily. Buy staple food in as large quantities as possible—and watch for food sales and special prices. Another way is to be clever with left-overs. Either don't have them—or use them. Then there's a third way—and that is to be thrifty with our meat. For meat is the backbone of our meals.

We build our menus around the meat we have chosen. And unless we have chosen well—it will be the item that sends our food budget sky-rocketing away out of bounds. Our alternative is to buy cheaper cuts of meat and study out ways to make them attractive and appetizing. And we can make this meat go further by combining it with macaroni, rice or potatoes. Fortunately there are legions of such combination dishes that are truly delicious. Furthermore, most of them call for the less expensive meat cuts. Here are a few that I think are especially good:

Noodle Goulash

- 1 cup uncooked noodles (about ½ of a 5 oz. package)
- 1 large onion, finely chopped
- 2 tbsp. butter or drippings
- 1 lb. ground round steak
- 2 tbsp. all-purpose flour
- 2 cups vegetable soup (1 can diluted with equal amount of water)
- 1 cup canned tomatoes
- 1 tsp. salt
- Pepper

Cook noodles until tender (15 minutes) in 1½ quarts boiling, salted water. Lightly brown onion in butter. Add meat and cook slowly until brown (about 10 minutes). Blend in flour. Then add cooked noodles, soup, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Let simmer 15 to 30 minutes or pour into greased baking dish and bake for the same length of time in a moderate oven, 350° F. Serve steaming hot. This makes 6 servings.

Savory Noodles and Pork

- ¼ lb. uncooked egg noodles (1 cup)
- *¾ lb. pork butts, ground
- 2 small onions, chopped
- 2 cups chopped celery (1 bunch)
- 1 can well seasoned tomato soup (1⅓ cups)
- ½ cup water
- ⅓ cup grated cheese (⅛ lb.)
- 1 tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. pepper

*Other meat (beef, veal, etc.) may be used.

Cook noodles until tender (15 minutes) in 1¼ qt. boiling water to which 1½ tsp. salt have been added. Drain. Brown meat in 1 tbsp. drippings. Add onions and celery, and cook 10 minutes. Mix meat, onions, celery and cooked noodles together. Add tomato soup, water, grated cheese, salt and pepper. Place in buttered 8-inch casserole (3 inches deep). Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F., or let simmer in saucepan on top of stove 30 minutes. Amount: 6 servings.

American Chop Suey

- ¾ lb. lean pork
- 1 onion, sliced
- 2 cups celery, cut not too finely
- 1 green pepper, cut not too finely
- ⅔ cup uncooked rice
- 5 cups meat stock
- 1 tbsp. sugar
- 3 tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 2 tbsp. chop suey sauce (if desired)

Cut small amount of fat from pork. Place in pan and "try out". Cook pork (cut in small pieces) and onion in this hot fat. When partially cooked, add celery, pepper, uncooked rice, stock, sugar, salt, pepper and chop suey sauce. Cover and let cook slowly for 40 minutes. This makes 6 servings.

Mrs. E. H. Benson was hostess to the ladies of the J. C. Penney store staff and Mrs. Jack Van Pelt at a surprise supper party for Mrs. Glessner at the Benson home last Thursday evening. Needlework and guessing games provided diversion, prizes going to Mrs. Bertha Gibson, Miss Mucarl Sommers, and Mrs. Van Pelt. An unusually attractive table setting in pink and blue was carried out with paper white narcissus in a pink vase and pale blue tapers in pink holders. While the guests were seated at the table following the supper, Mrs. Glessner opened the attractive shower gifts which were presented to her, and candy was passed in a miniature doll carriage in light blue.

Mrs. Glessner was also honored and presented with a personal gift at a 1:30 o'clock bridge-luncheon in the dining room of the new Rex cafe Monday afternoon. Covers were laid for 18 guests. Bridge was played at four tables, prizes for high scores being awarded to Mrs. J. F. Malloy and Mrs. Kern Olson. Feting Mrs. Glessner were the Mmes. Malloy, Olson, E. V. Tellefsen, B. Climate of Perpetual Spring

Guatemala lies in the tropics—between the Tropic of Cancer and the Equator, but except for her tropical coastal plain, she enjoys a climate of perpetual spring. Around the 5,000 foot high plateau on which is gay Guatemala City, lie the great cone-shaped mountains which have given Guatemala the nickname of "Switzerland of the West."

Highest Railway

The highest railway line in the world is to be found in South America, on the Central Peruvian railway. This track reaches a height of 15,865 feet at Morococha. South America seems to specialize in lofty lines, while the railway mentioned above even has a tunnel which is situated 15,694 feet above sea-level. Outside South America, the height record goes to the Pike's Peak railroad in the United States, which climbs 14,110 feet up.

FIREMEN FROM SIX TOWNS FIGHT AMBOY FIRE

This aerial view of the town of Amboy, midway between Mankato and Fairmont shows firemen struggling under the handicap of an under supply of water to get control of the blaze that struck the town's business district at noon one day recently.

GROWING CHILD

A Letter from "Perplexed"

"I'm at my wits ends! I've four splendid children, ages 2½ to 9, sturdy and intelligent. But somewhere I have apparently failed them. One likes to think of their children as growing up manly, self-reliant and helpful—but mine do not seem headed that way. If I ask them to do anything they usually fuss and argue and pout. They are more or less destructive of their playthings. Then I nag and scold, and sometimes spank; I declare I'm getting to be an old shrew—and I don't want to be. I vow I'll be more diplomatic and tactful but even then they still do the most provoking things and away goes my temper and tongue."

It is not at all necessary to feel that you have failed to handle your children well where there are four children as near together as yours. It would be very strange indeed if there were no problems. After all, children have to learn to live with other people and their behavior is, of course, very experimental. They are trying out their own powers and are a good deal healthier mentally, as you describe them, than if they were submitting meekly to everything that came along.

One possibility strikes me, and that is that their objections to helping you may be based on an attempt to get more of your attention. None of these children, except the last, can have been the baby very long and it is possible that there is some slight jealousy between them. Try to see to it that each of them has a feeling that he means something very special to you; try to give each one of them a little piece of the day that is his alone—that is, when you read to him, talk to him, or work with him when none of the others is around.

Another thing to keep in mind is to be sure that you do not expect too much from them in the way of help. After all they are very young and you want to be careful that you do not make responsibility distasteful by giving too much of it too early. On the other hand, children love to do things within the level of their ability. Pick out fairly simple tasks that you are sure they can do well and be sure to praise them when they have accomplished what you wanted. If they whine and pout in connection with doing things for themselves let them suffer the consequences of not doing them, but remain out of the picture as much as possible yourself. That is, if one does not want to dress himself, don't talk about it but merely see that he misses out on something because he has not dressed in time.

As for your letting go with your temper, it is hardly to be expected that in the winter when young children must be in the house a great deal, that either mother or children are at their best. You will probably have much less temptation to scold and nag—when they can be out of doors more of the time."

Love

Love is a great thing, yea, a great and thorough good. By itself it makes everything that is heavy, light; and it bears evenly all that is uneven; for it carries a burden which is no burden, and makes everything that is bitter, sweet and tasteful.—Thomas a Kempis.

MARSHALL COUNTY TAXPAYERS TO DIG UP $508,000 IN '40

Total Tax Bill for Year Is Almost Exactly Same as in 1939

Marshall county taxpayers will contribute $508,637.42 towards the direct support of governmental units, including state, county, township, city and village and school district during 1940, or just $19.80 less than the total taxes levied for 1939 payment which totaled $508,657.22 according to official tax abstracts compiled this week in the office of Levi G. Johnson, county auditor, says the Warren Sheaf.

However, in spite of the small increase in the total taxes levied owners of real and personal property will be requested to contribute considerably more, as the increases on this classification totals $9,537.26. The 1939 levy totals $494,951.44 while the 1938 levy totaled only $485,413.18.

Special assessments on property dropped from $17,275.15 in 1938 to only $7,690.09 or a net decrease of $9,584.96. Grain taxes increased from $1,170.20 in 1938 to $1,193.61 in 1940 while taxes on moneys and credits decreased from $2,331.92 to $2,183.73. The tax on power companies increased from $2,376.77 last year to $2,618.53.

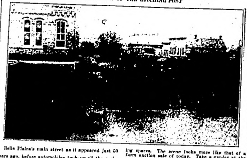
IN THE DAYS OF THE HITCHING POST



Belle Plaine's main street as it appeared just 50 years ago, before automobiles took up all the parking spaces. The scene looks more like that of a farm auction sale of today. Take a gander at the women's styles of that era, also, as shown above.

LOGIC

An ancient Hindu fable relates that a woman, going to the village fountain in the evening, noticed a man following her and asked him the reason.

"Because I'm deeply in love with you," he answered.

"You are mistaken," said the woman. "Go back and make love to my sister, who is coming after me. She is much more beautiful than I."

The man did so—only to find the sister very ugly. Hastening forward he overtook the woman and said:

"Why have you lied to me?"

"Because you were not truthful to me," said the woman. "Had you really loved me, as you said, you would not have gone back to see the other woman."

How Cork Stoppers Are Made

Cork is stripped from the cork-oak trees and after seasoning for a few days, the sheets are boiled in vats to remove the tannic acid and to soften them so that the hard outer covering can be removed. At the seaport the bark is pressed into bales and loaded on vessels, and at the factory the slabs are softened by steaming, sliced into strips by circular steel knives, and from these strips the corks for bottles are cut by other machines.

Lyddia Darrah

Lyddia Darrah, Revolutionary war heroine, lived in Philadelphia in 1777. While some British officers were lodged in her home, she overheard their plans to surprise Washington's army. Under pretense of leaving her home to purchase flour, she walked three miles through the snow and informed one of Washington's officers of the plan. Washington prepared for the attack and the British expedition proved a failure.

Double Meaning

Though we usually think of the word davenport meaning a type of sofa, it really means a small writing desk. The connotation of the word davenport, to mean a sofa or couch with back and arms, comes from the name of the maker of a couch of this type whose name was Davenport.

Radium Man's Turkey Wins at G. Forks Show

John O. Allen, well known Radium turkey grower, won additional honors at the All-American turkey show held last week in Grand Forks. A dressed Bronze heavy young hen exhibited by him was awarded the championship of the show.

Pipestone.—Spring is here, and Al Meyer and Charles Fields of the county highway office can prove it. They sighted a meadow lark a short distance north of Egerton while doing field work near that place. The bird apparently had not yet left for its winter home in a southern climate.

"Oh Dear, There's a Bomb Coming. Shall We Dress?"

The English are a funny race. With imminent danger of shot and shell raining down on them at any minute in London the ladies are worrying about what to slip on in an emergency. So they've designed a one-piece number with zip fastener and patch pockets that can be stepped into in a minute; something neat and proper for receiving bombs.

Heff (Himself)

Only the veriest boor would think of being bombed in, let us say, an afternoon frock, or a polka-dot house dress.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, I AM ENABLED IN THE ASPECT OF...

They report a voice that can be heard 10 miles which is used by the Japs in their war in China.

That wouldn't scare us—it's the master-of-ceremonies that introduces the voice that would come under the head of the real horrors of war.

We heard a couple of boys shaping up to fight in the street as we came to work this morning. One of them, apparently a reader of the war news, said:

"Take off your coat, you mug. I'm going to drop some leaflets behind your lines."

You get $500 if you capture a spy in the United States. But it's much easier to answer the telephone on that radio program and get twice that much.

Cops recently arrested a man because he was tearing up $5 bills and throwing them away.

Winter Carnival Opens in St. Paul This Week

Modeled after the medieval castles of the fairytale books, with towers, turrets and battlements, a gigantic glittering ice palace has been erected as a center of activities for the nationally famous St. Paul Winter Carnival, January 26 through February 4. Premiere of the carnival will be Friday night, January 26, when the spectacular Winter Carnival horse show will be presented at the St. Paul Auditorium featuring the famous Shriners White Horse Troop. Official opening of the carnival will take place on Saturday afternoon, January 27, when King Boreas' Grande Parade, with 30,000 uniformed marchers, 60 crack drum corps and 60 dazzling floats will pass in review through the loop. The parade will be broadcast over three coast-to-coast hookups and will be filmed by every major newsreel company in the nation.

Natural Insulation Discovery Accidental

Often nature's products which are of great value to man are found only by accident. So it was with Zonolite. Several years ago mining engineers prospecting in Montana found what at first appeared to be ordinary mica but which, when heated, changed color and greatly expanded. This expansion, it was found, was caused by heated dead air cells and showed the material to be a natural insulation such as men have tried many years to invent. It was called Zonolite and is marketed in granular form, making it easy to use in many types of dwellings.

SPEARS 17-POUND GREAT NORTHERN

Fergus Falls.—Honors for spearing the first "whopper" of the winter season go to Anton E. Nelson. Anton came home with a 17 pound great northern pike, speared in Stalker Lake. This wasn't enough however, as soon Anton was out trying to get the "big brother" of the one he landed.

Magnus Johnson Honored

The contract has been let for the erection of a memorial on the grave of the late Minnesota farmer statesman, Magnus Johnson, in the cemetery at Dassel. It will stand eight feet high, and be cut from enduring dark and white granite. Six lots have been acquired to provide for landscaping and proper setting. The dedication will take place in the early summer.

The Magnus Johnson Memorial Association is a perpetual incorporation of which the present officials are: President, Victor E. Lawson of Willmar; Vice President, Gus. Carlson of Dassel; Secretary, Phil Palm of Litchfield; Treasurer, A. E. Pfiffner of Litchfield. Donors of $1 or more become life members.

Traffic Safety Awards Will be Decided Feb. 1 at Meeting in St. Paul

Which Minnesota towns and counties have established the best traffic safety records for 1939 will be determined February 1 when the traffic safety award committee of the Minnesota Safety Council meets at the Saint Paul Hotel in St. Paul.

At the same time other committees of the council will meet to determine the boy scout troop which has contributed the most outstanding work in the field of public safety, and the department of state government which has shown the most notable safety accomplishments both among its employes and for the benefit of the general public.

Traffic safety awards will be made to the leading town and the leading county in each of four divisions, differentiated on a basis of population. Inasmuch as traffic deaths occurring in one month as a result of traffic accidents occurring during the previous month are charged against the month in which the accident occurred, the safety council has urged physicians, coroners, and custodians of county vital statistics to report any such deaths during January, at the earliest possible time in order to avert the possibility of the committee making an erroneous award which later might have to be recalled.

Many Duplicate Drivers Licenses Issued in 1939

The driver's license bureau of the state highway department issued 82,553 new driver's licenses and 201,813 duplicates during 1939, according to the annual report of W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer and head of the department's safety division. The duplicate licenses were issued to persons who had changed their residence addresses, lost their original licenses, or changed their names either thru marriage or court procedure, and who for these reasons were required by law to obtain new licenses. Recognizing the relationship between physical handicaps or impaired vision and motor vehicle accidents on the highways, the drivers license bureau gave physical tests to 488 applicants for driver's licenses during 1939 and required eye examination of 498 others.

Farmers' Clinic on Wheat Germ Oil May be Repeated

Response to the recent farmers' clinic sponsored by the Math Barzen company and the Archer Daniels Midland company of Minneapolis was so favorable that it has been indicated another similar program may be held soon.

The meeting, at which Dr. Albert Pacini, wheat-germ oil specialist, spoke, was attended by 650 farmers from this locality and marked the 100th anniversary in Minnesota of the Archer Daniel Midland company, for whom the Math Barzen company are local distributors.

At the recent meeting over $100 in prizes was given away and each farmer who attended is to receive by mail a four-ounce can of wheat germ oil. The product and its value to dairy herds made up the bulk of the talk. Dr. Pacini spends much of his time on experimental farms in Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin working with wheat-germ oil.

BEER...a beverage of moderation

Replacement of railroad ties is not the laborious task it used to be. With motor-driven tie-cutting machines, Great Northern track crews speedily remove old ties. The saw blade, under the operator's left hand, cuts through the tie on the inside of the rail, facilitating easy removal and replacement.

Billions for a Handicap!

Farmers especially will be interested in what Senator Clyde M. Reed of Kansas has to say about transportation, because for many years he has represented farm organizations in transportation matters. Recently, in Chicago, he spoke on the need for a sound national transportation policy.*

"What I am trying to do as a United States Senator," he said, "is to help the country straighten out its tangled transportation situation so that the most efficient and economical service may be given to the public at the lowest cost."

Characterizing most river improvement schemes as "rackets," Senator Reed asserted that "inland waterway transportation is not low cost transportation; it is the highest cost transportation as compared with the highways or the railroads. The only reason for lower charges is the subsidy paid by taxpayers out of the public treasury."

"The important thing in this connection," he said, "is whether we are going to continue to tax the whole people for the benefit of a comparatively small number of people. Are the cities and trade centers located off the rivers to be, not only taxed, but additionally penalized by lower freight charges given their competitors located on the rivers? My answer is, 'No!'"

"Farmers as a whole," the Kansas Senator declared, "have not profited a cent by the billions of dollars spent on 'river improvement.'" The promoters of river navigation, he added, "hold out to the public the idea that it is getting some benefit from raids upon the public treasury," but that "in most cases the commodities so moved are sold to the public, not on the basis of lower river rates, but on a basis of the higher railroad rate."

"I proclaim my belief here and now," said Senator Reed, "that a sound public policy would be one that imposed upon all traffic using facilities created out of the public treasury, tolls that would reasonably recompense the taxpayers for the money taken from them. If that were done, traffic would move by the cheapest and best route."

*If you would like to read Senator Reed's address on "A National Transportation Policy," ask or write your local Great Northern Station Agent or Traffic Representative for a copy, or write to the Great Northern Railway, St. Paul, Minn.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Gross billings for the city's light and power department last year totaled $159,-495.57. Going back ten years to 1929, the total billings for that year were only $60,-553.67. During that ten year period there have been two rate reductions which means that the demand has increased even more than the sales totals indicate. If we had known in 1929 what the production problem would be ten years later we probably would have approached the equipment buying problem from a different angle. Now we are confronted with another equipment buying problem. This problem would be materially simplified if we could foresee now what our production problem will be in 1949.

In 1930 Thief River Falls was a city of 4,268 population according to the official census taken that year. In his unofficial survey of population taken last year, city assessor Thronson counted some over 5,500 people living within the city limits and now of course there is much speculation on what the official figures will be when the government completes its census this summer. For the benefit of those who are trying to guess the present total, here are some figures that may help you. At the close of 1929 there were 980 telephones in service in the city. At the close of 1939 this number had increased to 1,544 or a gain of about 57½%. In October, 1929, the city had 1,-129 light and power customers. By October, 1939, this number had increased to 1,796 or a gain of about 59%. Has the city population increased proportionately with the number of telephone and light and power users? Probably not. But a 50% increase in population would bring the census figures up to 6,402 and a 40% gain would bring them to just about 6,000. From here on in you can guess your own answers.

A decrease in tax delinquency is the encouraging thing in county treasurer A. R. Johnarud's report of tax collections for 1939 in Pennington county. The decrease is slight to be sure but it at least indicates that in this respect we are moving in the right direction. The discouraging thing about the report was the increase shown in the amount levied for 1939 as compared to 1938 when the total asked was $33,000 less, indicating that in this respect we are moving in the wrong direction. Of the total of $303,-649.55 paid in current taxes in the county last year, taxpayers of Thief River Falls paid $182,021.11 or about 60%. While the city represents about 45% of the total valuation in the county, more than half the cost of operating the county government was paid by city taxpayers due to the fact that delinquency in the city was only 7% while in the rest of the county the delinquency was more than 21%.

It gets pretty cold hereabouts before we complain about it but not so in the south. When the thermometer dropped to 28 above zero in Florida this week the schools were closed and much of the regular business was suspended. A frost in that country is a catastrophe. Crops are ruined and people actually suffer. They suffer a great deal more from the cold in the south than we do up here because they are not prepared for it. And their's is a more penetrating cold. Until we can afford to spend our own winters down there we are going to feel sorry for those who do on every possible occasion.

There are ten gloves and mitts in our lost and found department—the front window—and nine of the ten are for the left hand. Six of the ten appear to be men's, the other four apparently having been lost by women or children. The collection of recent months also includes a few keys and purses. They will be returned to their owners upon identification without charge so come and get them folks. Incidentally will someone explain to us why more left handed than right handed gloves are lost?

In a couple of months it will be Spring again. Easter will have passed and the robins will be with us. We may have a little spell of cold weather between now and then but who cares. The days are getting longer and winter is on the way—out.

DON'T SEEM TO WORRY
(Morris Tribune)

Data so far available indicates that only about four per cent of 66,000 people receiving old age assistance are going to cancel their grants on account of the lien law which went into effect the first of the year. This indicates that the old folks have a better understanding of the law than some of the people who have been trying to make a political issue of it, and realize that it is better that they take the public assistance—lien or no lien—rather than that the unencumbered property should pass to non-dependent heirs. Just how many aged will be deterred from asking for assistance because of this law, and just how many heirs will conclude that it is better to look after the old folks themselves and leave the property unencumbered is difficult to say, but certainly it will have some effect, and will have the tendency to put old age assistance on a more self-respecting basis. The rush to receive "pensions" has put a serious drain on the public revenues because the number of persons who have applied for and receive this public assistance is about double the maximum estimate made at the time the law was passed.

THE STRUNK APPOINTMENT
(Duluth Herald)

W. L. Strunk, a professor at St. Olaf college, is Governor Stassen's choice for conservation commissioner.

It is no easy task that Dr. Strunk faces. Controversies of a dozen kinds, selfish influence and a strong departmental tradition of poor planning and politics are going to plague him, no matter what he does.

Dr. Strunk seems to have no political record. That speaks volumes in his favor. He has been chosen after an unhurried search by Governor Stassen. He and the governor are agreed on an impressive, long-time program. Civil service will free Dr. Strunk from all need of worrying about political factors in choosing his personnel. He will find the public in favor of honest conservation and thrifty development of the various resources which he controls.

Dr. Strunk is a young man, only 39. His success in this post will be a real help to everyone who lives in Northern Minnesota or who owns property here. Northern Minnesota should hope and pray that he proves the best conservation commissioner Minnesota ever had and that he fills the post in a satisfactory way for the next 25 or 30 years.

THE GHOST OF JACKSON
(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

How history changes and how the memories of great men in the past are perverted by partisan politics.

Andrew Jackson has been an idol of the democrats. When we hear them talk of this great man and see that they sit down to eat in great numbers at high cost, we wonder what Jackson would think and say if he knew of it.

The first great Jackson-Day dinner was held in January 8, 1835. It was in honor of a great achievement for which President Jackson had worked long and successfully—the payment of the national debt.

President Jackson did not attend the dinner. He scribbled a note. Here it is as it was read with acclaim that evening.

"The payment of the Public Debt. Let us commemorate it as an event which gives us increased power as a Nation, and reflects luster in our Union, of whose justice, fidelity and wisdom it is a glorious illustration."

We hope that the ghost of General Jackson did not sit at the head table of the democratic dinners last Monday evening.

HOW-NOT TO DO IT
(The Montevideo News)

In the Worthington Globe, edited by Paul Johnson to offer matter worth copying every week, is found a statement entitled "Decalogue for Legislators." It can be read a couple of times without wearing out. Not only legislators but those who make legislators will find these lines to be thought-makers:

1. You can not elevate humanity to a higher plane by making life easier instead of making men wiser and stronger.
2. You cannot help men by doing for them what they could do and should do for themselves.
3. You can not help small men upward by tearing big men down.

CHALLENGE TO THE AMERICAN WAY
(Business Week)

The next Congress is going to be confronted with a far more formidable international trade question than whether it should extend or discontinue Secretary Hull's reciprocal trade program.

Less than four months of war have changed the whole aspect of foreign trade.

We have Hull trade pacts with Britain, France, and Canada. The British deal took nearly a year to negotiate; it affected more business than any other of the 21 pacts except the Canadian. By this agreement, London acknowledged formally the breakdown of the Empire trade preference scheme created at Ottawa in 1932. Now, however, both Britain and France have felt justified by the pressure of war to refuse licenses for the importation of American apples. This was one of the important items on which the British made duty concessions in return for tariff cuts by the United States. Is Washington going to concede that the loss to the apple exporters is more than made up by the war orders which have come to the aviation industry? Or are we going to chalk up the infringement on our trade bargain with the British as one of the sacrifices demanded by the war?

Our negotiators in Washington shrewdly wrote into the British pact that if the pound slumped so seriously at any time that it gave the British an advantage over us in export markets, we could terminate the entire agreement on 30 days' notice. The pound was worth $4.68 when the agreement was signed; today it is officially pegged at about $4, and, since August, has dropped as low as $3.77 in the free market. This means the British have at times had at least a 20% trade advantage in export markets and that the differential is likely to increase if the war is intensified or prolonged. Can Washington indefinitely ignore this trade weapon which must ultimately work to our disadvantage, particularly if British factories continue to be free from air attack and so able to maintain production for export?

One of the avowed aims of the Hull program was to counter the monopolistic trade schemes of the totalitarian states. When it started, the Soviet Union, Germany, and—to a lesser extent—Italy and Japan were operating in world markets as national buying and selling units. Russia bought for the biggest public (170,000,000), and had the greatest supply of raw materials to bargain. Germany, with only 66,000,000 people at that time, was a bigger operator, for the Reich's vast industrial plants were turning out machinery and consumer goods for the whole world, and the Nazis were buying for a huge armament industry as well.

The really startling threat to our established way of carrying on foreign trade came a few weeks ago when Britain and France announced that they had merged all business operations for the duration of the war. Already one Ministry of Supply totals up the needs of the two vast empires, and parcels out the orders to centralized buying offices in every great country in the world.

When one of these branch offices for the biggest buying organization in the world was established in New York, the American manufacturers who went there to do business began to realize what had happened. The pressure of the war has forced Britain and France to adopt totalitarian methods that they have fought in Germany and Russia.

Though millions of men are under arms, submarines snipe at ships in the North Sea, and planes reconnoiter over enemy territory, Europe knows that, to the end, this is going to be an economic war.

Germany taught the world how to wage war through trade, but the Allies have suddenly become apt pupils. Already they are pooling their vast supplies of raw materials, creating huge monopolies which can sell at high prices where there is no competition, at low prices where they are trying to drive out enemy trade.

The foreign problem which faces the next Congress is thus far broader than the mere issue of extending or modifying the reciprocal trade program. In fact, the issue goes far beyond foreign trade. We face the challenging problem of adjusting our whole way of doing business to the demands of the new economic warfare.

Topics of the Times

The U. S. A. is the only nation in the world where three leading automobile manufacturers could produce to date a total of 60,000,000 cars.

No wonder Dr. George Selke, who spoke here recently at the Lincoln school dedication exercises, did a good job of it. He admitted having delivered more than 400 similar addresses thruout the state during the past few years.

Sign of the times—A substantial number of Minnesota recipients of unemployment compensation are having their checks forwarded to California this winter.

It is now proposed that the New Dealers throw one of those $100-a-plate dinners for the benefit of the national debt.

Who, asks the Ada Herald, remembers when the garage man gave you a ruler to measure the gas in the tank of your car.

Local fuel dealers accepted the recent subzero weather in a philosophical manner.

We notice a Minneapolis columnist operates a give-away department, but it must be his sense of loyalty that keeps him from giving away the men folks.

Mystery—A neighbor paper tells us that the sentence, "Quiz, Jack; thy frowns vex", with a total of twenty letters, contains all the letters in the alphabet. Maybe you can figure it out.

If your name appears in the Times today, it may cost you money. This issue contains the personal property tax list.

Speaking of liquid assets, consider the Red Lake Falls liquor store. From its profits during the past six years a total of $112,000 in city debts has been paid off.

And now they tell about the hardhearted father who refuses to buy a new car until he gets a ride in the old one.

World leaders today, we read, are assuming a give-and-take attitude, with the accent on the take.

People, says the Minneota Mascot, are like steel in one respect—they aren't much good when they lose their temper.

A national poll selects Governor Harold E. Stassen as one of the ten outstanding young men in the United States. Farmer-Labor papers please copy.

Gov. Stassen Honored by U. S. Junior Chamber

Governor Stassen, presented with the 1939 distinguished service award by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night urged the young men of the nation to take hold of the country's problems and think them through "on the broad foundation of the welfare of our people."

The award, given to the one man between 21 and 35 in the United States regarded by the chamber as having done the most in behalf of "civic good and common welfare", made its appearance in Minnesota with this presentation for the first time. It was bestowed upon the governor by Perry Pipkin of Memphis, Tenn., at the organization's annual dinner in the Lowry hotel, St. Paul.

Looking Backward

1930—TEN YEARS AGO

The Great Northern "Better Farming" train visited this city.—Ole Hallin, city editor of the Times, accepted a position with the Milwaukee Journal.—Martin V. Evenson filed for the office of state senator from this district.—Judge Grindeland of Warren will preside over the winter term of district court in this city next week.—Robert J. Lund was named a director of the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs.—The Commercial club, by a margin of four to one, voted in opposition to a suggestion that the name of this city be changed.—Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stenberg returned from a visit in Minneapolis.

1920—TWENTY YEARS AGO

The council granted a small general salary increase to city employes.—L. H. Lawrence was chosen president of the Pennington County Poultry association.—Flour in the local market dropped slightly, making the price $14.25 a barrel.— The Peoples Cooperative company purchased the O. L. Cronstrom grocery business.—Hjalmar and Matt Rafteseth left for Palm Beach, Florida, to spend the remainder of the winter.

No Cure Yet for Bangs Disease, States Expert From University Farm

Recently a national farmer's magazine contained an article quoting a chemist who had just returned from Switzerland, and who told about a powder used in that country to "cure" cattle infested with Bang's disease.

Dr. C. P. Fitch, veterinary division, University Farm, St. Paul, says that "miraculous new medicines to cure and prevent Bang's disease" have been bobbing up frequently for many years. But it is very unfortunate, Fitch said, that so much attention should be paid to a remedy that is not known and has not been proved effective by reliable experiments.

"I am not familiar with the particular compound referred to in that article. I am, however, familiar with the veterinary literature from Switzerland. I know that there has been no mention made of any discovery of a cure for Bang's disease. To the best of our knowledge at the present time there isn't any cure for this disease."

Paul Bunyan Carnival Is Slated at Bemidji from February 8 to 11

The Bemidji community is pushing plans for the day, soon to come when the regular officials will abdicate for a four-day rule of the Spirit of Paul Bunyan, the occasion being the third annual Winter Carnival dedicated to the mythical god of the lumberjacks.

The carnival will be held February 8 to 11, inclusive, and the committees making the arrangements promise a winter festival that will make the previous festivals shrink in comparison.

A sports program embracing the entire list of winter outdoor activities, is being arranged, as well as parades, music, dancing and a general gala celebration with fun the keynote throughout.

Ruling as Queen of the festival will be Miss Ruth Woods. Attendants to the queen are Misses Pearl Berg, Ann McKay, Dorothy Liser and Alice Sexton. Earl Grinols, leading civic worker and a Bemidji businessman, will hold the scepter of King of the Carnival.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK
By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture

South St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23 1940: Local cattle receipts increased when weather turned more favorable for truck movement and prices for most slaughter cattle followed a declining trend, according to the Federal-State Market News Service. Steers scaling under 1000 pounds sold weak to 25c lower, with weightier steers 25c to 50c or more down. Bulls were weak to 25c off. Stocker and feeder cattle weakened in sympathy with the break in fed steer values. Vealers dropped fully $1.00 from last week's extremely high levels. Good to choice light weight fed steers made $8.75-10.00, little getting above $9.50, while bulk of fed steers turned at $7.00-8.75. Medium to good fed heifers earned $7.25-8.50, most beef cows $5.00-6.00, good cows up to $6.50 mainly, canners and cutters $3.75-4.75, [illegible] Sausage bulls topped at $6.75. Good and choice vealers dropped at a $10.00-11.00 bulk basis, choice making $11.50-12.00. Most stocker and feeder steers were taken at $6.75-7.85.

Tuesday's hog top at $5.50 established a new low for the year. All factors seemed to combine to depress the market, offerings being fairly liberal, although not as heavy as earlier this month. Demand, especially from shipping interests, contracted sharply and local demand was not sufficient to absorb supplies except at reduced costs. Barrows and gilts lost 20-40c as compared to the close of last week, largely 30-35c off. Sows were 25c lower. Bulk sales good and choice 180-240 lb. barrows and gilts were made at $4.85-5.25, with the top of $5.30 paid for choice 170-190 lb. lights. Butchers scaling 240-270 lb. brought $4.70-4.85, with 270-300 lb. at $4.45-4.70. Sows earned $4.10-4.20. Pigs were dull, but little changed from late last week.

Slaughter lambs secured fully steady prices and some top sales were 10c higher. Feeding lambs also showed strength, but slaughter ewes developed weakness. Good and choice lambs cashed at $9.00-9.25, common throwouts at $6.50-8.00. Good and choice slaughter ewes earned $4.25-4.75.

GOPHER LIKES TO BE DIFFERENT

Clinton.—While coming to town one day recently Charles de Neui was surprised to see a gopher hunched up in the middle of the road east of Clinton. While the animal decided to come out of his hole in this weather is hard to guess, especially since the day was a cold and threatening one.—probably got tired of its bed, for its hole was in the middle of the road.

Sentimental Significance of Roses

The usual conception is that the rose signifies love; the damask rose signifies "beauty ever new"; the yellow rose, jealousy. A yellow rose, a broken straw and ivy combined signify "your jealousy has broken our friendship." The prim rose is said to stand for inconstancy.

HUGE CROWD SEES ST. PAUL WHIP THE THIEVES 12 TO 5

Big League Team Stages an Excellent Exhibition of Hockey

Playing before a crowd of 1100 fans, the St. Paul hockey team of the American Association defeated the Thieves in an exhibition game played in the arena Wednesday night by a 12 to 5 score.

With a smooth-passing attack, the Saints knifed thru the Thieves' defense to score five goals in the first period, in spite of some spectacular work by Jimmy Bronson, local goalie. The first score for the Thieves was registered in the second period when Clayton Taylor took a pass from McCaffrey and beat Lo Presti.

The locals, who were outplayed by the burlier and better-conditioned Saints, played their best hockey in the third period, when Len Russell, McCaffrey and Taylor scored, with Russell getting two tallies.

While the Thieves threatened at no time to take the game from the fast-skating visitors, it was an entertaining and exciting exhibition of hockey. For the Thieves, Goalie Bronson and Clayton Taylor on the wing played fine games. Connolly, Bretto, Johnson and Lo Presti were particularly impressive for the Saints.

Tom Jessen Cage Star at Northwest School

Tommy Jessen, former Crookston high school star, holds a commanding lead over his mates at the Northwest School of Agriculture in the current basketball campaign. Figures show that Jessen has averaged 16 of his team's 30 points per game, has scored 62 field goals in nine games, almost half of his team's 169, and has rung the bell 29 times from the free throw line compared to his mates' 57. He has scored a total of 147 points out of Northwest School's 275 points, far better than half.

LOCAL QUINT WINS HARD FOUGHT TILT FROM E. G. FORKS

Prowlers Rally in Last Period Friday to Win 35 to 28

Playing a nervous and spotty kind of basketball, the Prowlers were forced to rally in the fourth period in order to hang a defeat on East Grand Forks, 35 to 28, in a game played there last Friday night.

The Prowlers, playing their usual fast-breaking game, built up a nine point lead at the first half, with the starting line-up of Bill Claffy and Len Furuseth at the forward, Andy Anderson at center, and Bob Kielty and Babe Peterson at the guards, playing through the first period, and leaving the game with a 11 to 7 score, in favor of the Prowlers. The alternate team, with Flasch and Bredeson at forwards, Kompelien at center, Jung and Connor at the guards, played the second period, and brought the game up to 20 to 11 score at halftime, with a nine point Prowler lead.

But the third period saw the Prowler defense collapse, and the offense become ragged, and the East Siders, with the crowd in near hysterics at the prospect of Prowler defeat, broke through for 14 points while holding the locals to a lone point, a free throw by Don Berg. The East Siders decidedly out-played the Prowlers and well-deserved the 25 to 21 lead with which they ended the quarter. The fact the Bob Kielty was forced from the game in the early minutes of the third period, because of four personal fouls, may have had something to do with the Prowlers' panicky basketball play.

Opening the fourth period, Coach Lindemeyer sent in Ed Flasch, Wayne Bredeson, Si Kompelien, and Loren Jung, with Furuseth holding over from the third period, and with Eddie getting five points, Wayne three points, Len four points, and Si two points, while holding East Grand to three markers, the Prowlers pulled out the victory by a 35 to 28 score.

The Prowlers continue their district competition this week when they go to Warren for a game with the Ponies Friday night.

Thieves win Pair of Speedy League Tilts

Continuing their winning and crowd-pleasing style of hockey, the Thieves won the two games played here over the week-end, defeating the Lombards of Winnipeg, 4 to 3, on Saturday night, and then trouncing the league champion Hallock team on Sunday afternoon, 5 to 2. The two wins kept the locals in a first place tie for the league lead with the Crookston Pirates.

Next Sunday afternoon the Crookston Pirates will play here, and the game will, in all probability, decide the league lead.

After Jimmy Reid had given the Lombards a two goal lead in the first period of Saturday night's game, the Thieves, in four minutes of the second period, on goals by Joe Poplel, Joe Novak, Paul Kornek, and Clayton Taylor, roared into a lead that the hard-skating and stubborn Winnipegs couldn't overcome. The Lombards did get another goal in the closing minutes of the game, when Reid, who scored all the goals for Winnipeg, counted on a double assist from Tom Rathwell and Allen Middleton.

On Sunday afternoon, with Professor George Beverly showing the Hallocks how the game of hockey should be played, the Thieves defeated the league champions 5 to 2. At the 11:31 mark of the first period, Joe Novak on an assist from Kornek, gave the locals a one goal lead; but Tommy Love gave Hallock the tying score a minute later when his sharp-angle shot hit Alex Tickle's skate and ricocheted into the net past Bronson. But it was in the second period that Beverly took control of the game, scoring three goals, two on assists, from Novak and Kornek, and the other unassisted, and to put the game beyond the reach of Walt DePaul's Hallock team, Beverly added to his total by scoring another unassisted goal in the last period. With the Thieves being short-handed, Beverly took the puck behind his goal, stick-handled his way through the Hallock defense, and then flipped the puck past the befuddled Swanson, the Hallock goalie.

Mark McCaffery made his first appearance with the local team on Sunday, playing at center, with Len Russell and Clayton Taylor on the wings. Taylor, by the way, got into a scrap with George Rogers the Hallock left wing. The two players taking punches at each other, and then going into the clinch that sent them both to the ice. For their fisticuffs they were given major penalties.

Thief River, with George Beverly scoring all the goals, defeated the [illegible] in a game played there last Thursday night.

By Huck Olson

Chet LeDoux, the Crookston center-ice man, but who learned much of his hockey while he played with the Thieves several years ago, is leading the States-Dominion league in scoring-points. In the 10 games that he has played he has collected 12 goals and 4 assists, for 16 points. Joe Poplel, our right-winger, and Charles Whittle, the Hallock left wing, are tied for second place with 13 points each. Joe having 5 goals and 8 assists in 9 games, and Whittle having 8 goals and 5 assists in the same number of games. Sammy Love, the Hallock center, has played in only 5 games, but in those games he has counted 8 goals and 4 assists, for 12 points. George Beverly and Paul Kornek, of the Thieves, are tied with 11 points apiece, Bev having scored 7 goals and assisted on 4, while Paul has shoveled home 6 goals and assisted on 5.

The Thieves pony line of Poplel, Novak, and Kornek, has scored 19 goals and has had 15 assists. That line is like putting skates on three barrels of T N T, so dangerous and explosive it is.

The 'bad' man of the league is Paul Kornek; he's been in the 'cooler' 10 times.

Coach Lindenmeyer, of the Prowlers, has been working Flasch, Bredeson, Anderson, Kielty and Furuseth, as a unit this week. And the boys have looked pretty good too. Eddie and Wayne have been at the forwards, Andy at center, and Bob and Len at the guards.

And the Prowlers basketball sessions have been filled with hard practice. It's been just as Billy Claffy said: it isn't so bad when you practice until you get your second wind; but it gets kind of touchy when you practice until you get down to your fifth or sixth wind.

Thief River Falls to defeat Warren by a 37 to 26 score tomorrow night. That should be a conservative prediction.

The hockey season will close on Feb. 18th, with the play-offs to begin on about the 20th. The play-offs will have the first and fourth place teams against each other, and the second and third place teams in a series, the winners to be decided on a three out of five game basis; and then the two finalists will play a two out of three game series for the league championship.

Paul Kornek bowled a 217 score the other day. It was only the fifth or sixth game that he had bowled, so he's plenty proud of it. Paul's around tossing challenges now, and the guy he's anxious to get on the alleys is Alex Tickle.

Due to the change in the pay roll period, the individuals working under the N. Y. A. program will not work during the period from Jan. 19 through the 24. Due to this change in the schedule the area supervisor has closed all project work during that period. Projects will be resumed again on regular schedule January 25.

The blank pages for the annual have been received and the various groups under the direction of Mr. Adrian are continuing with the preparation of material. A large number of the students have already made the preliminary payments for their copy of the annual.

A new magazine "World Horizons" has been ordered for the pupils of the lower grades. This is a children's magazine covering a variety of subjects written in a style that appeals to children of the grades.

Basket Ball

During the past week the Plummer high school dropped two more heart breaking-closely contested basketball games. The visiting Oklee quintet pulled an upset by nosing out the losers with a 26-24 count in a fast and rough contest. The Goodridge game on their floor was lost by 29-28 score. The last three games lost by Plummer were decided by a total of five points.

The only redeeming feature of these last two contests was the improved free shot scoring. The boys are shooting at a .500 per cent dip.

In each of the above games the losers would jump to a short early lead that was literarily and physically dissipated as the game progressed. At times the losers would look like a group of champions, only to slip back later into a lackadaisical performance at some other time.

In the Goodridge game Captain Maurice Page hit the hoop for a 17 point tally, but his opposing center, Hosem was high point man with a total of twenty points. It was a battle of centers. First-year man Cliff Thyren played the entire game at Goodridge and did a fairly good job. Johnny Christenson entered the game during the first quarter and showed more fight than ever before. Lester Norby repeated his fine game performances of the past.

The Oklee height and weight proved too much in a bruising contest. However, where the losers were physically handicapped, they displayed a bulldog tenacity which fell just short of victory in the waning moments of play. Plummer scored seven rapid fire points in the last minute of play, failing to overcome a supposed comfortable Oklee lead. As the final whistle sounded, M. Page, driving in for what seemed a tying tally, was seemingly bumped by an opposing player but unseen by the official, with that last unsuccessful effort, the game ended.

The Plummer II. team drubbed a green Goodridge team by a 25-6 tally. Plummer hard count neophites displayed their future wares in a rather satisfactory manner. Those doing yeomen duty for the winners being: C. LaVoie, R. Thyren, G. Gerardy, D. Page, and a cool headed seventh grader named Charles Richards. Charley shall bear future watching.

Farm and Home Week

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Weckwerth returned Friday evening to their home after spending the week attending Farm and Home Week at the University Farm in the Cities. They had an exceptionally wonderful time at this session as it proved to be, in every respect, an unusually educative and interesting week for the thousands of farmers and wives who gathered there. Some of the high lights of the week's events was the talk given by Tom Collins who is the assistant editor of the Kansas City newspaper, his talk was entitled "Successful Worry" and he practically had the vast audience rolling in the aisles with laughter. The television demonstration presented by the K. S. T. P. radio station proved to be truly remarkable. A broadcaster was hidden behind heavy curtains on the stage but through the television lenses the audience could see him plainly. The curtains were then opened and every phase of the television idea was described and demonstrated to the audience and the broadcaster himself was shown. It took 2200 kilowatts with reflectors and other material to work the idea out. The very largest crowd in years packed the University Farm Auditorium on the evening of the Farm Bureau day. Governor Stassen spoke that evening. The Weckwerths were among those who saw the model farm kitchen presented by the Farmer's Wife. It was perfect in every detail. Mr. Weckwerth attended the Shorthorn Breeders meeting also. During their absence, Miss Elfreda Walters stayed at the Weckwerth home.

Hazel Hegrenes of Thief River Falls spent the week end with her friend, Delores Lendobeja. Miss Delores, her brother Julian, Arnold and Esther Hammer and Doris Zymanski are all staying in town at the Ralph Simonson home while attending high school.

HIGHWAY PATROL JAILS 13,242 IN 1939 RECORD YEAR

Patrolmen Give Assistance to 59,752 Motorists During Year

Minnesota's state highway patrolmen, in line with a more rigid enforcement policy adopted last year to protect the motoring and pedestrian public from the comparatively few drivers who are the major cause of traffic accidents and deaths, arrested 13,242 traffic law violators during 1939 as against 8,189 arrests during the previous year. This represents an increase of 61.7 per cent.

Violators arrested paid a total of compared to $94,865 during the compared to $94,865during the previous year. Drunken drivers contributed $52,473 of this total; careless drivers, $25,184; and speeders $19,660. During the same year traffic fatalities decreased from 809 in 1938 to 554 in 1939, despite an increase in the volume of traffic.

Proving the value of the patrol policy of aiding motorists as well as protecting them, highway patrolmen gave assistance during the last 18-months period to 59,752 motorists, of which 21,972 required the making of minor adjustments or repairs to their motor vehicles, and 1,858 had to be pulled out of ditches. The patrolmen attended 1,725 accidents during the year. They also stopped 248,00 vehicles to check 124,806 driver's licenses, examine 63,215 sets of lights, test brakes on 49,272 vehicles, and other equipment on an additional 6,795, besides weighing 4,355 trucks for possible over-loads.

Rural Credit Division Reports on Sale of 48 Farms in County in '39

The progress being made in getting the state rural credit farms back into the hands of farmer owners and on the tax rolls again is shown in a detailed report just compiled by the Minnesota rural credit department listing sales during the past year in this county and in the other counties where state farms are held. George C. Jones, conservator of the rural credit department, reports that the department sold 48 farms in Pennington county during the year. It disposed of 7,558 acres of land in this county for a total of $90,560 making an average price of $11.98 an acre. The department owned 155 farms in this county at the beginning of 1939, and now holds, including those acquired during 1939, a total of 119 farms available for sale this year.

DOBBIN GETS A LIFT FROM CAR

Gilbert— When Frank Zganjar got a hurry call at his garage for a tow, he asked the whereabouts of the stalled vehicle. When told that it was a horse disabled by the cold, he rose to the situation with a wrecker and pulled the horse upright. Now Dobbin is satisfied that progress in transportation is the thing these days.

FRANK W. WHITE IS REELECTED HEAD OF FARM BUREAU

Governor Stassen Addresses State-wide Meeting in St. Paul

Re-election of President Frank W. White and other officers and directors whose terms expired concluded the 21st annual convention of the Minnesota Farm Bureau held in St. Paul Jan. 16-17. The meeting, attended by thousands of Minnesota farmers, was featured by the participation of two governors, Minnesota's republican Governor, Harold E. Stassen, and Indiana's Democratic Governor, M. Clifford Townsend. There was no wide divergence in the views expressed by these standard bearers of opposing parties, so far as farm legislation is concerned.

Gov. Stassen, at the general assembly at University Farm on Jan. 16, indorsed the surplus control program and stressed the necessity for going further into soil conservation. Gov. Townsend, banquet speaker on Wednesday evening, likewise indorsed these programs and, like Gov. Stassen, stressed the necessity for greater harmony between all groups, so that all may enjoy increased prosperity. Each told how Labor Relations acts in their respective states had practically wiped out strikes as a means of settling labor and industry disputes. Gov. Stassen was more critical of reciprocal trade treaties as they effect agriculture than was the speaker from Indiana. Each governor paid warm tribute to the Farm Bureau, of which each has been a member for years.

The 80 voting delegates from County Farm Bureaus adopted a 25-point program, by resolution, dealing with all phases of agriculture. The Minnesota Farm Bureau continues its support of the AAA program, and again called attention to the fact that if changes are made, they should be made on recommendations of organized agriculture, rather than by groups opposed to farm recovery.

The Farm Bureau met the problem of reciprocal trade agreements by demanding (1) that no tariff try which would tend to keep farm prices below parity; (2) that spokesmen for farmers be given full hearing before any treaty concessions are made, and that no treaty be made until a complete record of hearings be made available; (3) that the United States senate must approve each proposed treaty or agreement to make its effective.

In addition to Mr. White's re-election, Ole A. Fleat, Fisher, was re-elected first vice-president; H. M. Sword, Deer River, second vice-president; L. O. Jacob, Anoka and Harry Bureau, Fergus Falls, re-elected directors.

COUNCIL ACTS ON LICENSES FRIDAY NIGHT

Approves Beer and Refreshment Licenses Netting over $2,400

ROAD ACROSS MILL YARD IS DISCUSSED

Leases Old Central School Which Will Serve as NYA Center

At an adjourned session of the city council Friday evening, nineteen on and off-sale beer licenses were approved subject to the applicants meeting necessary qualifications, and issuance of a half-dozen off-sale licenses was approved. As a result the city treasury was enriched to the extent of approximately $2,400, the on and off-sale licenses costing $125 each and the off-sale $5. A total of 25 applications for refreshment licenses also was approved.

Reviving a project that has been under consideration for a number of years, and a petition for which was filed several years ago, the council discussed the possibility of constructing a road across the millyard from East First st. to the road extending past the cemetery. It was decided to confer on the matter with the county board, and to secure cost estimates and other details.

The council took definite action in renting the old Central school from the school district, the building to be used as an NYA center for young men of this locality under the sponsorship of the National Youth administration, which will pay for fuel and janitor service. The cost to the city will be limited to the payment of $15 a month rent and supplying light and water.

Roy and John Barzen of the Math Barzen company were present at the session to discuss the matter of renewing the lease on city-owned property occupied by the Barzen plant at the south end of LaBree av. Final action on the matter was deferred.

Two Plummer Couples Mark Golden Wedding

One hundred relatives and friends assembled Sunday afternoon in the Plummer auditorium for a joint golden wedding anniversary celebration, paying tribute to two highly respected couples of the Plummer community. Those honored were Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lanager, who will attain their golden milestone February 16, and Mr. and Mrs. Eyvind Scheldrup, who were married December 6, 1889.

A varied program of songs, talks and recitations was presented during the afternoon, and lunch was served by the ladies aid, the table having for its centerpiece two wedding cakes decorated in white and gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanager were both born in Norway, coming to this country in early childhood to settle respectively in Spring Grove and Albert Lea. They were married in Alexandria February 16, 1890. Setting first on a farm near Gary, they lived later at Climax and Neilsville until in 1904 they came to the young village of Plummer, where Mr. Lanager established a hardware store which he still operates. During his years of residence he served as mayor of Plummer for twelve terms.

Three daughters were born to the couple, including Irene (Mrs. Lars Haga), Ida (Mrs. Floyd Darling) of Oklee, and Laura (Mrs. H. J. Enderle), who died in 1934. There are also four grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Scheldrup also were born in Norway, the former emigrating to Northfield, Minnesota, at the age of 17. Later he moved to the Erskine community to remain eleven years, during which the couple were married in Crookston December 6, 1889. In March, 1894, they moved onto a homestead near Plummer where they still live.

Of the Scheldrup family of eleven children, nine survive, including Mrs. E. H. Jacobson, Henry, Andrew, Elmer and Bennie Scheldrup of the Plummer community; Carl of Edwardsville, Illinois; Mrs. Odin Berg, Hibbing; Miss Louise Scheldrup, Inglewood, California; and Mrs. Martin Martin of McIntosh. FARMERS AND BUSINESSMEN ENJOY DINNER

Extension Worker Upholds Reciprocal Trade Agreements

R. J. LUND PRESENTS STATE FAIR MOVIES

Meeting Was Sponsored by County Conservation Association

Forty farmers and their business men guests were told to study the results of reciprocal trade agreements before condemning them by Skuli Rutford, extension specialist in agricultural conservation from University Farm, at the Farmers-Businessmen's dinner in the Civic and Commerce association rooms last Thursday.

County Agent Howard Grow presided as toastmaster at the dinner. Carl R. Anderson, chairman of the county agricultural conservation association, also spoke briefly, and musical selections were supplied by the high school boys' octet.

An enjoyable feature of the program was the presentation by Robert J. Lund, member of the state fair board, of motion picture films depicting in interesting fashion various details of the huge Minnesota exposition.

Mr. Rutford discussed situations that led up to the enactment of the Smoot-Hawley tariff in 1930. He stated that 1000 economists in the United States signed a petition opposing the enactment of the Smoot-Hawley tariff and predicted what would result. Their predictions proved to be true, as was shown by the stifling of world trade following 1930, he said.

Since the trade agreement program has been put into effect, international trade has increased for the United States, he stated. Whether this increase is due to the program, or whether the increase came in spite of the program is debatable. However, trade with trade agreement countries increased more than trade with non-agreement countries.

BOY SCOUT DRIVE FOR CITY PLANNED FOR COMING MONTH

National Boy Scout Week, Feb. 8-14, to be Observed Here

Discussing plans to make Thief River Falls Scouting-conscious, a local group met Friday evening and went over plans for expanding the Boy Scout movement in this city.

Glenn Prather, Grand Forks Boy Scout executive and counselor, advised local scout workers on methods of increasing troop activity and getting cooperation from the community in their work.

"Scouting" explained Mr. Prather, "isn't just working with the boys. To get the most out of a program parents, teachers and social agencies must help to make the boys conscious of the good that can come from their belonging to such an organization. Too often parents know little of what scouting means and because of that do little to encourage their sons in the work. Should mothers and fathers get behind the movement here, one of the biggest factors in its promotion would be taken care of."

With national Boy Scout week being observed from February 8th to 14th local scout masters Don Mattson and Howard Balderstone are making plans for a parents' night program February 13. Demonstrations of scout work are planned for the evening.

Attending Friday evening's meeting besides Mr. Prather were scoutmasters Mattson and Balderstone, O. H. Mayer-Oakes and Dr. W. E. Anderson.

Proper Feeding to be Discussed in Spring

What Pennington county homemakers want to know more about is "Feeding the Family". This is the subject rural women have chosen for the home demonstration project to be conducted during the spring months. It is a project in which the entire county may well be interested since it means not only better health, but better times.

Minnesota's bounteous crops mean that there did not need to be a shortage of food this winter. However, the kind of food each person gets is as important to his health as the amount, so selection is a very important matter, says Miss Inez M. Hobart, extension nutrition specialist of the University Farm staff, who will train the local leaders during the coming project.

"Few families in Minnesota will suffer from malnutrition through lack of food, but many do not understand how to select food which will give real health protection," says Miss Hobart. "Not only the health, but also the wealth of a community depends largely on the food used. Experience of the past few years has shown how a meager consumption of food can help create burdensome surpluses, while a fully adequate diet would stimulate demand."

The project on feeding the family is being organized through Howard E. Grow, county agent, and the county home chairman, Mrs. A. T. Dahlstrom. Anyone interested is asked to notify the chairman in her particular township, whose name appears in the following list:

Black River, Mrs. Gunnard Lindquist; Bray & Polk Centre, Mrs. Emil Larson; Cloverleaf, Mrs. A. W. Oski; Highlanding, Mrs. Wm. Vaughan; Kratka, Mrs. Alvin Hurstad; Norden, Mrs. Sadie Ayers; North, Mrs. Vivian Copp; Numedal, Mrs. A. B. Olson.
